BARE MILITARY PLOT TO CLINCH GERMAN RULE

Election Treaty with Hitler Revealed.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 24.—The German military caste has "framed" the reichstag elections to be held next Sunday so as to further tighten its grip on the power in Germany.

Details of a secret pact which the "men of iron" who are now pulling the strings in Germany have arranged with Adolf Hitler, National Socialist (Fascist) leader, were learned by this correspondent from well informed quarters today.

Hitler to Be Chancellor.

If the Hitlerites win by an overwhelming vote, Hitler, according to the agreement, is to be given the post of chancellor. In return he has promised to install a large number of his junker friends in the German cabinet. Chancellor Franz von Papen, now federal commissioner (dictator) of Prussia, is slated to become the premier of that state.

Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, now minister of defense and directing application of the martial rule in Berlin and Brandenburg under the dictatorship, is to be given control of Hitler's "storm troops."

On the other hand, should Hitler's men fail to receive a large majority the Fascist leader has promised to be satisfied with three cabinet posts, but at the same time hold to his agreement to turn the "storm troops" over to Gen. von Schleicher.

Von Schleicher to Wield Whip.

Gen. von Schleicher, reputed "power behind the throne" and easily the strongest man of the German cabinet, is reported to feel that the deal is safe. He controls the reichswehr (German army) and police. With the 400,000 men of Hitler's army he will wield such a tremendous power that the military caste will have attained its goal.

The present cocksure attitude of the militarists was well illustrated only today.

"We just laugh at the election farce which is being staged," said a prominent junker. "We men who have been trained to govern will continue to govern, regardless of the voting mob."

Baron Kurt von Lersner, an intimate of von Papen, stated today that "of the twenty-one parties in the election the only six which will play an important part are the Nationalists, Hitlerites, Centrists, Bavarian People's party, Socialists, and communists.

Predicts Von Papen Votes.

"I feel that the energy Von Papen has shown recently in handling German problems is greeted by vast crowds of Germans with a loud sigh of relief," he said. "They are glad to see a man who does not mince his words and who does not hesitate to take energetic steps. Therefore they will back the parties supporting him in the elections."

Baron von Lersner asserted that Von Papen is trying to evolve a new German political coalition, a party similar to that which swept England in the last election, by uniting the outstanding men of the Hitler party, the Centrists, and the Nationalists.

Heinrich Bruening, former chancellor, and other republican leaders realize that the mailed fist is back in power in Germany. They still hope, however, that a big republican vote will enable them to swing the country back to republican control.

Meanwhile, the election campaign the most frenzied and bitter in the history of the republic, has already caused in about a month more than 100 deaths and more than 1,000 injured, and a military dictatorship in Prussia, the reich's biggest and most powerful state.

Religious Struggle On.

So intense has the campaign become that it has taken on the proportions of a religious struggle. Adolf Hitler indeed, stands for many of his followers as a new messiah. The Catholic centrists see a challenge to the Christian religion in the fanatic adoration of Hitler.

Describing Hitler as a new messiah is not a rhetorical figure of speech. In Hamburg and in Mecklenburg Hitler's name actually is substituted for that of the deity in many printed death notices. Though the notices usually start, "In faith in God," in these districts Nazi death notices have been seen to read, "In faith in our leader Adolf Hitler."

They tell, too, of a Hamburg child

PRATE ECONOMY AT WASHINGTON, BUT DO NOTHING

Federal Spending Stays at Peak.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—When is the economizing going to begin—if ever?

Nobody knows. The answer of the Seventy-second congress to the question up to date has been to talk much of economy and to pretend to economize, but to go right on spending as much money as ever—if not more. Whether the Seventy-third congress will return a more satisfactory answer depends upon the membership elected next November.

Compared with possible retrenchment of federal expenditures to the extent of more than 1 billion 200 millions of dollars as set forth in the preceding article of this series, congress at the late session was able to agree on economies aggregating only 150 millions, the greater part of which applies to this fiscal year only and the realization of which even for one year is already being seriously questioned.

No Cuts for Bureaucracy.

Neither the executive nor the congress contemplates any radical curtailment of the paternalistic, subventionary and regulatory activities of the central government now costing more than 1,200 millions of dollars a year, or of the vast bureaucracy now numbering more than 600,000 persons. The aim is to weather the storm of popular protest against extravagance with moderate and illusive economies which do not impair the vast structure of the bureaucracy and then to take the lid off the treasury again when times improve.

Despite the cheese paring of some of the appropriation bills for the fiscal year 1933 and the 150 million dollar economy act the cost of government has not been reduced up to date. In fact, the initial appropriations for 1933 are ten millions greater than were the initial appropriations a year ago for the fiscal year 1932.

Congress began by appropriating about 4 billions for 1932, exclusive of postal expenditures payable from postal revenue, but by the end of that fiscal year on June 30 last deficiency and depression relief appropriations brought the total expenditures to $5,006,590,305.

New Appropriations Still Lavash.

For the fiscal year 1933 congress has begun by appropriating about 4 billions exclusive of reimbursable postal expenditures, and by June 30 next nobody knows how much higher the total will go. That additional appropriations for 1933 by congress next winter will take the total higher than the $4,219,950,338 expended in 1931 is a virtual certainty even if the five billion total of the last fiscal year

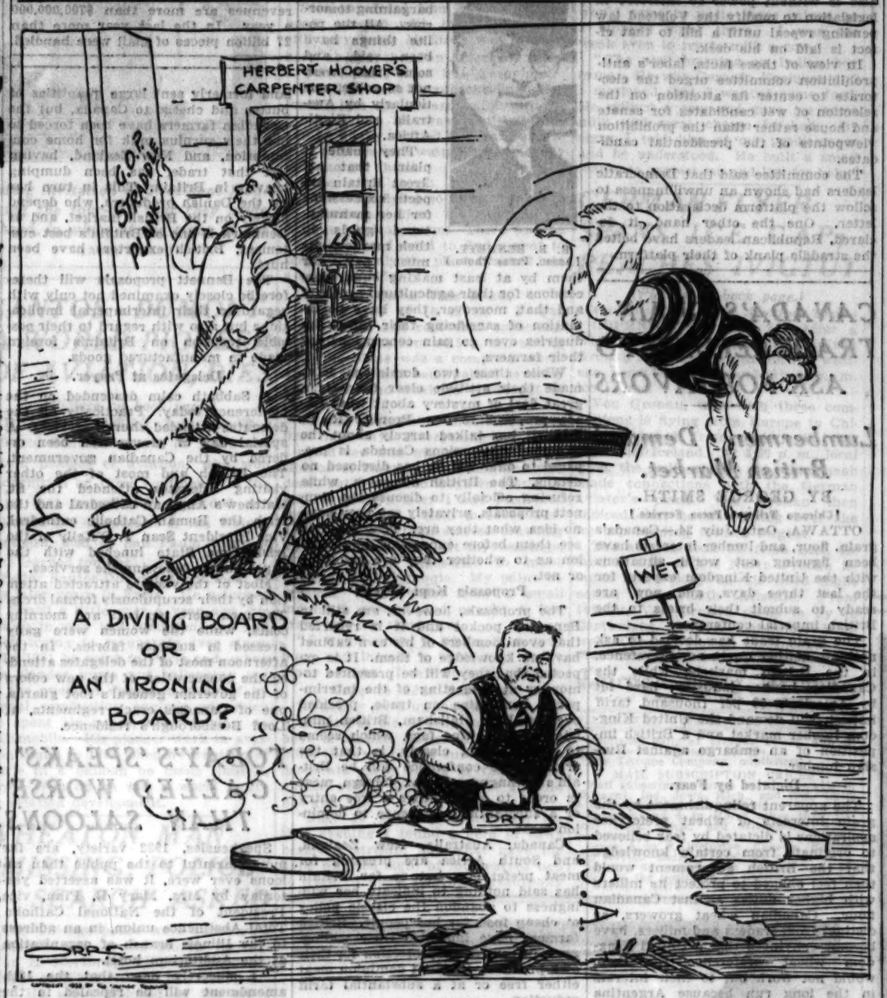
WHAT WILL HE MAKE OUT OF IT?



Cermak Sails Thursday for Carlsbad Rest

Physicians who examined Mayor Cermak yesterday said he had recovered sufficiently to permit him to start for Europe tomorrow. The mayor plans to sail Thursday on the Bremen. He said yesterday that upon landing at Bremerhaven, Germany, he would go to Carlsbad to take the baths and a rest. The mayor also plans to visit Berlin and Czechoslovakia, where he was born.

Dr. Clifford J. Barborka of the Mayo hospital, authority on internal medicine, was called into consultation yesterday by the mayor's son-in-law, Dr. Frank Jirka. Afterwards Dr. Jirka announced:

"We have advised the mayor to make the trip and he is going to take our advice."

A bulletin issued by the physicians read:

"After a careful and thorough examination of the mayor we find no evidence of any serious organic trouble. We believe that his chief need at this time is complete rest. After the benefit of this rest, he will be in better condition to return to the hospital for a final check-up."

The mayor plans to come to Chicago today and preside at a meeting of bankers and city officials at which he will make a plea for a $2,000,000 loan to give school teachers two weeks pay.

IRISHMAN FALLS TO DEATH KISSING BLARNEY STONE

LONDON, July 24.—The legendary efficacy of the Blarney stone, which is supposed to confer persuasive eloquence upon those who kiss it, was responsible today for the death of James Burke, a young Irishman, who, in attempting the rite unaided, fell fifty feet to the ground.

The stone forms the sill of one of the machicolations on the south side of Blarney castle, in Cork. Usually it is kissed with the assistance of a powerful guide, who grips the visitor's ankles as he hangs over the parapet. At the siege of 1646 the stone was damaged and irons have been inserted to secure the parapet.

MELLON COMING HOME TO RESIGN, LONDON REPORTS

LONDON, July 25.—(AP)—The Daily Herald said today Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon "is expected to resign" when he arrives in Washington on his present trip to the United States. "It is believed he will tell President Hoover the coming negotiations on war debts should be in the hands of a younger man than he," The Herald added.

SHORE BULLETS WOUND GIRL ON YACHTING TRIP

Stray bullets from the Camp Logan rifle range, just north of Zion City, imperiled 20 members of a yachting party in Lake Michigan yesterday. One of the bullets struck Miss Rose Peterson, 23 years old, of 704½ Hinman avenue, Evanston, in the left foot and two others grazed her legs. Several bullets hit the side of the 34 foot boat.

The yacht, owned by Wellington Quirk, 319 Dempster street, Evanston, wealthy amateur aviator, was about a mile off shore, headed for Winthrop harbor when it was sprinkled by the bullets. No shots were heard, and the first known of the danger was when Miss Peterson collapsed, screaming. Quirk speeded to Waukegan harbor and hurried her to the Victory Memorial hospital, where she was attended by Dr. F. A. Besley.

Members of the yachting party, many of whom belong to the Evanston Walking club, said that the shots were fired from rifles. Investigation by Capt. Thomas Booth of the Waukegan force, substantiated this. A detachment of the 132d Illinois infantry was on the range at the time of the shooting, police said.

Among others on the yacht were William Howell, 1010 Main street, Evanston; Miss Mary Heath, 643 Hinman avenue, Evanston; Miss Hazel Ward, 1312 Maple avenue, Evanston, and Paul Aldrich, 394 Chestnut street, Winnetka.

CHICAGOAN KILLS WIFE IN MOTHER'S WISCONSIN HOME

Enraged over his failure to effect a reconciliation with his wife, Hazel, Stanley Smoroski, 35 years old, 2441 West 50th street, early this morning shot and killed her at Elkhorn, Wis., and attempted to kill her mother and her brother. He was arrested and is in jail at Elkhorn.

Mrs. Smoroski left Chicago last Tuesday after a quarrel with her husband and went to the home of her widowed mother, Mrs. Josephine Hart, in Elkhorn. Yesterday Smoroski hired a Hertz Drivurself automobile and followed her. He went to the Hart home late last night and begged his wife to return to him. She refused and he shot her through the heart. Then he turned the gun on Mrs. Hart and fired two shots, but neither took effect.

George Hart, cashier of the First National bank of Elkhorn, a brother of Mrs. Smoroski, heard the shots and rushed into the room where his sister lay slain. Smorski fired two shots at Hart, but they also missed their mark.

Meantime some one had notified the sheriff's office and that official arrived just as Smoroski was leaving the Hart home. He surrendered without resistance. In his baggage was found a note indicating he intended to kill himself after slaying his mother-in-law.

The Hart family is well known in Elkhorn and is regarded as in comfortable circumstances.

Mrs. Smorski was 30 years old. The husband was a machinist. A child, Doris, 6 years old, survives her mother.

Nine Slain, 55 Hurt as Cuban Cops Raid Reds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, July 24.—Nine persons, including three police officers, were killed and 55 were wounded here in a clash between the police and communists this afternoon and a series of bomb explosions tonight.

Capt. Camilo Sierra of the national police force, Col. José Maria Guerra, chief of the public works special police force, and Police Lieut. Ceferino Rodriguez were killed in one blast. Ten policemen were seriously injured in the same blast, which demolished a residence used by the Reds as headquarters for a conspiracy to overthrow the government.

Six Slain in Clash.

Six persons were killed and 15 were wounded in the afternoon when police, reinforced by army sharpshooters clad as civilians, raided a Red hiding place. The police suffered two casualties in the clash.

Esteban Delgado, outlaw leader of the group accused of attempting the murder of Sergt. Francisco Planas and Col. José Guerra, Atares fortress officials, was one of the slain.

Police arrested scores of communists, seized arms, a printing press and seditious literature. They announced the discovery of a plot for a new city-wide communist uprising and attacks on officials.

Raid House on Tip.

Acting upon a confidential tip telephoned to police headquarters late tonight, the three police chiefs who were killed by the bomb, led a detective squad in a raid on a residence. They found the house empty. A telephone rang and Capt. Sierra answered. As he lifted the receiver the blast occurred.

No clews were discovered, although large quantities of arms, ammunition and seditious literature were confiscated. The explosion partly demolished the buildings surrounding the house.

Four more bomb explosions rocked the city several hours later. The blasts occurred as police were hunting for leaders of the anti-government conspiracy. Thirty policemen were injured. Many buildings were damaged. Martial law was established in the areas where the explosions occurred. Troops are patrolling the streets of the city.

Young Boy Is Baptized; Drowns in Few Minutes

Idabel, Okla., July 24.—(AP)—Garth Hufhen, 12, drowned in a river today a few minutes after he had been baptized.

Members of the baptismal party were wading following the ceremony when it was discovered the boy was missing.

Disclose Wine Deal by Farm Board's Co-op

Three barrels of wine were included in the compensation paid more than a year ago by the Farmers' National Grain corporation for the Updike Grain company, which then had clearing house privileges on the Chicago Board of Trade. This information was taken yesterday from records of a meeting of the Board of Trade's directors last spring.

It was the purchase of the Updike company by the grain corporation, a federally financed subsidiary of the farm board, which brought on a series of controversies that resulted Saturday in an order by a commission of three cabinet officers in Washington that the Board of Trade be closed as a contract market for two months beginning on Aug. 8.

Pit Defies Closing Order.

Peter B. Carey, president of the exchange, which has grown continuously for seventy years until it is the world's greatest grain market, declared yesterday that the Washington commission had "acted as Hooverites" in issuing the suspension order.

Mr. Carey emphasized that the Board of Trade would continue to do business as usual, despite the Washington order. The edict gives the Board of Trade 15 days to take court action, which will prevent the closing of the board's contract dealings.

It was pointed out that the court issue, which will be fought to a finish, will be whether or not the Board of Trade must admit the government corporation to its clearing house in order to prevent the imposition of the closing penalty.

History of the Dispute.

Briefly, the history of the troubles of the Board of Trade and the farm board subsidiary is as follows:

The Farmers National Grain corporation, which is a member of the Board of Trade, but not of its clearing house, purchased the Updike Grain company previous to June 1, 1931. The deal was not formally disclosed.

The directors of the exchange made an investigation, however, and last April 11 they barred the Updike company from trading in the pits and suspended two of its officials for violation of rules. One charge was that they had concealed the fact that the Farmers' National was the real owner.

Farmers' National Rejected.

The Farmers' National, then applying for a clearing house membership, was turned down. The next step was a demand by the president of the Farmers' National, C. E. Huff, a former preacher, that the Board of Trade be suspended for violation of the grain futures act. His request was granted in the order of Saturday.

Chief of the witnesses at the Board of Trade directors' meeting, when the wine transaction was revealed, were F. J. Thatcher, a large stockholder in the Updike company at the time of sale, and J. F. Florentine Jr., stockholder and floor trader.

Thatcher said that he sold his 249 shares to Huff and George S. Milnor, representing the Farmers' National, at $200 a share. Milnor is vice president and general manager of the Farmers' National.

What Florentine Got.

Thatcher also said that Florentine sold his one share. He was questioned by directors as to what Florentine got. Questions and answers follow:

THATCHER—I think it would be better to say he [Florentine] got $200 a share for the stock in money.

Q.—That does not sound like a very definite explanation. A.—Well, if you want me to explain the rest I will say he got about three barrels of wine.

Q.—Well, Mr. Thatcher, I do not consider that currency, although we will all admit it has considerable value. A.—That is what it was. If you want to look in my basement——

Q.—You just stated that Florentine received $200. That he might get considerably more. What does that depend upon; if he gets any more? A.—The quality of the wine.

$200 Paid for Each Share.

Further testimony was taken from Thatcher to show that although the par value of the Updike stock was $100 when the sale was made, $200 a share was paid. Par value for the entire 1,000 shares of company stock, "with $100,000 bonus and three barrels of wine," was the way he expressed the arithmetic.

It was not shown from whose cellar the wine came. Huff was not mentioned. Milnor, according to members of the directorate of the exchange, objected to the questioning of Thatcher about the money and the wine.

Glides 38 Miles an Hour to Set a World Record

Elmira, N. Y., July 24.—[Special.]—It was announced unofficially here today that Walter Snell, Providence, R. I., had established a new world's record for gliding of 38.7 miles an hour, the previous record being 33.3, held by Fred Shultz of Detroit.

'MA' FERGUSON LEADS FIELD IN GOVERNOR RACE

Incumbent Sterling Running Second.

James Roosevelt, son of Gov. Roosevelt, predicts revision of Volstead act at special session in 1933 if father is elected President. Details on page 2.

Dallas, Tex., July 24.—(AP)—The vote on proposed submission of the question of repeal or retention of the 18th amendment, made on separate ballots, in yesterday's Democratic primary, showed a heavy majority for resubmission. Returns tabulated today from 235 out of 254 counties, with 26 complete, gave 218,963 for submission and 88,518 against.

The referendum was held on instructions of the state Democratic executive committee in most counties, but party officials in some counties declined to submit it, for the most part on grounds of expense. Dallas county, one of the largest in the state, was one of those which did not submit the question.

Senator Sheppard Silent.

Dispatches from Texarkana said that Senator Morris Sheppard, co-author of the 18th amendment, reserved comment tonight on the primary vote.

"When the returns are completely tabulated," he added, "I will have something to say."

The senator, who stated in the senate that he would vote for resubmission if the Democrats of Texas approved it, said he wished to study the complete returns, especially with reference to the number of ballots on the plan as compared to the total vote cast.

Sees Propaganda Disproved.

Opposing interpretations of the vote for resubmission came from wet and dry leaders today. Mrs. Florence N. Rodgers, state chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, said:

"The vote showed that prohibitionists have vastly overestimated dry sentiment in the state and have put out a mass of erroneous information to the public. So far the vote indicates about 2½ times as many voters favor submission as oppose it. An outstanding feature was that women, thoroughly awakened to the need for constructive changes in the dry laws, went into action to bring such changes about."

Dry Still Unconvinced.

"Texas," said Thomas B. Love, "remains overwhelmingly dry."

Love, former state senator, was a prohibitionist leader of the Democratic bolt to Herbert Hoover in 1928.

"Out of the first 446,640 votes counted," he said, "145,000 voted for submission, or just 30 per cent of the total vote counted. More than 500,000 majority of the Democrats who voted in yesterday's primary election either voted against submission or refused to vote for it."

Ferguson Power Revealed.

Demonstration anew of the political power of James E., and Miriam A. Ferguson was revealed by the primary.

"Ma" Ferguson, 57 year old grandmother who was elected governor of the Lone Star state in 1924 as a result of popular upheaval against the Ku Klux Klan, assumed a commanding lead in the race for the gubernatorial nomination.

Denied a second term in 1926 and defeated again in 1930, she rolled up a steadily increasing plurality over Gov. Ross S. Sterling and six other candidates as returns from yesterday's primary were compiled.

Ferguson strength rests in the rural precincts. "Jim" Ferguson, who served from January, 1915, until he was impeached in 1917, was strongest in the country districts.

Vote May Be Increased.

Hence political observers said it was virtually certain the advantage his wife, who was elected in 1924 on a "vindication" platform over Felix D. Robertson of Dallas, klan candidate, would be increased by later compilations from the rural regions.

Mrs. Ferguson was bitterly opposed by the state's largest newspapers and scores of political leaders. Her record for pardoning of criminals—"Jim" Ferguson has estimated she issued 3,600 proclamations of clemency during her term—was recalled.

Although her place in the runoff primary Aug. 27 was assured, Mrs. Ferguson was by no means certain of election.

History May Be Repeated.

This primary seemed fair to be a repetition of the 1930 Democratic first primary, when Mrs. Ferguson led a field of 11 candidates.

She received almost 72,000 votes more than Sterling, her nearest opponent. There were 883,000 votes. In the run off Mrs. Ferguson lost to Sterling by 90,000 votes out of 857,000 votes counted.

The Fergusons have been candidates before the Texas electorate eight times since 1914, when Ferguson, then a small town banker and farmer unknown in politics, decided to seek the governorship.

Hunter in Third Place.

Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls oil man and attorney who fought both Mrs. Ferguson and Sterling, was running strongly in third place.

Returns from 235 counties, including 26 complete, gave Mrs. Ferguson 264,594; Sterling, 191,428, and Hunter 139,944. Five other candidates were out of the running.

In the race for three congress-at-large places, leaders were George B. Terrell, former state treasurer, Joseph Weldon Bailey, and Sterling P. Strong.

In the 17th district, Representative Thomas L. Blanton was leading Joe H. Jones of Eastland by a narrow margin, the tabulation from 17 counties, none complete, giving Blanton 16,583 and Jones 15,435.

Other district congressmen up for reëlection had more comfortable leads. In the 13th district, W. D. McFarlane maintained a big lead over George W. Backrus of Vernon for the seat of Representative Guinn Williams, who did not seek reëlection.

Negroes Ask Arrests.

Houston, Tex., July 24.—(AP)—Negro voters tonight sought the arrest of Harris county Democratic primary election judges for refusing them the right to vote Saturday.

A Negro lawyer presented U. S. Commissioner Winston McMahon the names of officials he said refused Negroes admittance to the polls and asked that they be charged with violation of the federal code governing suffrage rights.

"I told the Negro lawyer to take the matter up with the district attorney's office tomorrow," Commissioner McMahon said.

SEES RETURN OF BEER

Worcester, Mass., July 24.—[Special.]—A special session of congress to modify the Volstead act in order to furnish employment will be called by Franklin D. Roosevelt as one of his first official acts, if elected President, according to his son, James Roosevelt. The son was principal speaker at a clambake of the Worcester Democratic club today.

"There will be much suffering next winter," predicted young Roosevelt. "The Democratic President will call a session of congress, if necessary, after March 4 to modify the Volstead act to provide employment for many citizens."

Young Roosevelt also announced that he will "consider it my first duty as a member of the Massachusetts Democracy to make sure that Gov. Ely is reëlected to office."

Pleads for Harmony.

In making this announcement young Roosevelt said he hopes that the former adversaries in the Smith-Roosevelt contest in this state "will get up off the floor and forget their differences."

The clambake evolved into a love feast between former partisans of the Smith and Roosevelt camps in this vicinity. Other speakers echoed Roosevelt's bid for harmony in the party in order to present a solid front to the enemy next November.

James Roosevelt revealed in his speech that his father has been working for the last six months upon a program for the financial rehabilitation of the country—a program that he will put into effect if and when he takes office.

Roosevelt Faces Busy Week.

Albany, N. Y., July 24.—[Special.]—Gov. Roosevelt motored home in the twilight tonight with Mrs. Roosevelt ready for an active week, to be marked by two major events.

One of these will be the reception of Mayor James J. Walker's reply to the ouster charges against him. The other will be the visit of Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts on Wednesday.

In addition to these items in the program the Democratic candidate will continue to hold numerous conferences with leaders in various fields to gather material with which to complete the framework of the program of rehabilitation which he will offer to the nation.

German Citizens' League Backs Horner in Race

Judge Henry Horner, Democratic nominee for governor, was endorsed by the German American Citizens league yesterday at its convention at Joliet. For congressmen at large the convention endorsed Julius Klein, Republican, and Walter Nesbit, Democrat.

WET JUDGE GETS A HOT RECEPTION AT DRY DEBATE

David Meets Prof. Bruce on Liquor Question.

Superior Judge Joseph B. David, an aggressive wet, invaded the Chicagoland dry assembly at the Des Plaines camp ground yesterday to debate repeal of the 18th amendment. His opponent was Andrew A. Bruce, Northwestern university law professor, former justice of the North Dakota Supreme court and an outstanding dry.

Facing more than 1,000 militant prohibitionists in the camp tabernacle, Judge David said he was opening his speech with "considerable trepidation."

Heckled at intervals, criticized by Prof. Bruce for "failing to come to the point," and afterwards questioned by a federal officer, Capt. John C. Wallace of the bureau of industrial alcohol, Judge David was mopping perspiration from his brow when he finally quit the camp.

The drys had arranged the debate to show their willingness to hear both sides of the prohibition question. Former Appellate Judge Ben Smith acted as referee.

"I am perfectly indifferent how you feel about prohibition, as you may be indifferent how I feel," Judge David began. "I came here to give you light on the question as I gathered it in sixteen years on the bench and by study. I am not running for office."

Hush a Heckler.

"No?" queried a woman on the front bench. A few women tittered and still others tried to shush the heckler.

"I can tell you how to dry up the country in sixty days," the judge challenged. "Tell those wet drinking, dry voting hypocrites in Washington to pass a law punishing the buyer of liquor as well as the seller. Will they do it? You know they won't. They'd soon have half the population in jail."

Judge David said constitutional rights had been impaired by the 18th amendment. "I ask you whether telephone tapping does not destroy the principle that no man has to testify against himself," he continued. "I ask whether the transfer of a prohibition killer's trial from state into federal jurisdiction does not bring the administration of justice into disrepute?

"As for my proposal to punish the liquor buyer, I will ask Judge Smith whether, when he was on the criminal bench, was it the thief or the receiver of stolen goods who was prosecuted? It was the receiver, of course, for the law there recognizes that if you have no receivers you will have no thieves."

Heckled Again.

"How long have I been speaking?" he asked the referee.

"Too long! Too long!" cried the hecklers.

"I won't be much longer," he assured them, drawing a burst of applause. "Give the other speaker a chance—be fair," the hecklers yelled.

Prof. Bruce was on the platform twenty minutes. Judge David's speech, he said, reminded him of the admonition an old law professor used to give his students, saying: "Yes, yes, but what are you getting at?"

"Some time ago a heckling member of the Illinois legislature asked me if intoxicating liquor was a nuisance before the passage of the 18th amendment," Prof. Bruce recalled. "I replied by asking—does a putrid fish cease to stink in the absence of a statute or a constitutional provision.

Bill of Rights.

"The trouble with Judge David is that he has no idea what the fifth and fourteenth amendments and the bill of rights are, or what America stands for."

The federal agent, Capt. Wallace, stopped Judge David as he left the tabernacle and asked him whether he was aware that the Volstead act prohibited possession of liquor as well as sale and manufacture, thus bringing the buyer into its toils.

"Go over to the federal court," he advised Judge David. "You can see Judge Barnes and other federal judges sentencing buyers for illegal possession."

YOUTH LOSES LIFE IN LAKE.

LABOR FEDERATION LIQUOR REFORMERS DOUBT BOTH PARTIES

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—Labor's national committee for modification of the Volstead act, the unofficial wet organization of the American Federation of Labor, today called on the nation's voters to ignore party lines in November and ballot for congressional candidates solely on the basis of their individual stand for repeal of the 18th amendment. Both the Republican and Democratic leaders had demonstrated their own willingness to be bound by platform promises, the committee declared.

In a statement reviewing the platform declaration of both parties on the prohibition issue, the committee called attention to the fact that the task of passing a repeal resolution is solely one for congress, the President having no part in the consideration of that legislation.

The President, the statement added, also is without power to interfere in legislation to modify the Volstead law pending repeal until a bill to that effect is laid on his desk.

In view of these facts, labor's anti-prohibition committee urged the electorate to center its attention on the selection of wet candidates for senate and house rather than the prohibition viewpoints of the presidential candidates.

The committee said that Democratic leaders had shown an unwillingness to follow the platform declaration to the letter. One the other hand, it declared, Republican leaders have bolted the straddle plank of their platform.

CANADA'S GRAIN TRADE REFUSES TO ASK FOR FAVORS

Lumbermen Demand British Market.

BY GEORGE SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., July 24.—Canada's grain, flour, and lumber interests have been figuring out world situations with the United Kingdom experts for the last three days, and now are ready to submit their briefs to the British imperial conference.

The grain trade has decided to ask nothing, neither quota nor prerefence, in the British markets, while the Canadian lumber industry, hard hit by America's $3 per thousand tariff impost, will demand the United Kingdom lumber market and a British imposition of an embargo against Russian lumber.

Dictated by Fear.

The apparent relinquishment by the grain interests of wheat preference aspirations is dictated by fear believed to originate from certain knowledge that the British government would then feel obliged to protect its millers with higher duties against Canadian flour. Canadian wheat growers, as distinct from traders and millers, have become convinced that a United Kingdom wheat preference for them would not work out to their interets in the long run because Argentina would cut prices to meet the preference, and, faced with the necessity in an event of selling two-thirds of her wheat in non-British markets, Canada does not want world wheat prices further reduced.

I the privacy of secret conclaves Canada may repeat on behalf of lumber Australia's slap at the mother country for letting Russian wheat oust Australia's production. Britain accepted one and one-third billion board feet of Russian lumber last year, or an equivalent of nearly half Canada's lumber production.

Seaways Treaty Hailed.

The signing by Canada and America of the St. Lawrence seaways treaty has brought great hopes to the Canadian lumbermen. Lake Superior north shore lumbering interests will have seaports right at their back doors.

From these vantage points Canadian lumbermen hope to be able to develop European markets to replace the lost American market. In the meantime approaches are said to have been made to Canada by American lumbermen, asking her not to make a dicker with the United Kingdom, and assuring them that America's lumber tariff will come down after the presidential election.

CANADA'S STAND ON EMPIRE TRADE PUZZLES BRITAIN

Premier Expected to Bare His Hand Today.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 24.—After a week of preliminary sparring it is expected that the British imperial conference will get down to hard bargaining tomorrow. All the polite things have been said, and some that were not so polite, particularly by Australia and South Africa.

R. B. BENNETT. (Assoc. Press Photo.)

They made it plain that if Great Britain expects concessions for her manufactured goods in their markets she must pay for them by at least making equal concessions for their agricultural products and that, moreover, they have no intention of sacrificing their infant industries even to gain concessions for their farmers.

While these two dominions have made their attitude clear there is a great deal of mystery about what Canada proposes to do. Premier R. B. Bennett has talked largely about the generous concessions Canada is prepared to offer but he has disclosed no details. The British delegates, while refusing officially to discuss the Bennett proposals, privately say they have no idea what they are. They want to see them before expressing any opinion as to whether they are generous or not.

Proposals Kept Secret.

The proposals, however, are still in Bennett's pocket and it is reported that even members of his own cabinet have no knowledge of them. It is expected that they will be presented tomorrow at a meeting of the interimperial committee on trade, presided over by Lord Hailsham, British minister of war. One fact, which seems to be emerging clearly, is that the crux of the conference will be Britain's willingness to tax foreign meat in order to allow either a free entry or a substantial preference to dominion meat.

Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa are pressing for meat preference, but so far Britain has said nothing to indicate her willingness to abandon the classic policy o' cheap food for her people. British farmers have indicated their willingness, in return for protection for their own products, to admit dominion meat either free or at a substantial tariff reduction.

There has been vague talk of a tax of 3 to 4 cents a pound on foreign meat with dominion meat entering either free or taxed at 1 cent a pound. There is no doubt that there will be substantial opposition to this policy within the British delegation. Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, is pledged against any tax on food, and Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation, is believed to be supporting him. J. H. Thomas, minister for dominions, is also believed to be against any substantial food taxes. Lord Hailsham is pledged in favor of a "full blooded" protective policy, including food.

Fear Retaliatory Tariff.

This proposal, if adopted, will hit the meat trade of America and Argentina, and the British industrialists are unwilling to take the risk of a tariff retaliation by these two nations against their manufactured products.

The difficulty of reconciling conflicting interests became evident in yesterday's meeting of the subcommittee on dairy products. Canada, Australia, and New Zealand are after the British market and the situation has been complicated by the effect of the American tariff which shuts Canadian milk and cream out of America. New Zealand formerly sent large quantities of butter and cheese to Canada, but the Canadian farmers have been forced to use their surplus milk for home consumption, and New Zealand, having lost that trade, has been dumping heavily in Britain. This in turn has hit the Danish producers, who depend largely on the British market, and as Denmark is one of Britain's best customers, British exporters have been hurt.

The Bennett proposals will therefore be closely examined not only with regard to their interimperial implications but also with regard to their possible reaction on Britain's foreign trade in manufactured goods.

Delegates at Prayer.

A Sabbath calm descended on the conference today. Practically all the delegates attended church services. A special day of prayer had been ordered by the Canadian government. The British and most of the other visiting delegates attended the St. Matthew's Anglican cathedral and the Irish the Roman Catholic cathedral. Vice President Sean T. O'Kelly of the Irish Free State lunched with the papal nuncio following the services.

Most of the visitors attracted attention by their scrupulously formal dress. The men wore top hats and morning coats, while the women were gaily dressed in summer fabrics. In the afternoon most of the delegates attended the consecration of the new colors of the governor general's foot guards, one of Canada's crack regiments, at Lord Bessborough's residence.

TODAY'S 'SPEAKS' CALLED WORSE THAN SALOONS

Speakeasies, 1932 variety, are far more harmful to the public than saloons ever were, it was asserted yesterday by Mrs. Mary B. Finn, vice President of the National Catholic Total Abstinence union, in an address to the Illinois branch of organization at the Auditorium hotel.

"I sincerely hope that the 18th amendment will be repealed in the near future," she added. "We are non-political, but we believe our cause has actually been injured by prohibition."

The most discouraging feature of the temperance program now, said Mrs. Finn, was that boys and girls had become drinkers. Resolutions were passed at the meeting commending school teachers for their efforts to educate pupils against the evils of drink.

IRISH TO SLAP TARIFF ON BRITISH IMPORTS TODAY

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 24.—(AP)—The Free State tariff against British imports, enacted in retaliation for a British tariff on Irish goods because of nonpayment of land annuities, is expected to go into effect tomorrow. The cabinet has approved the list of articles affected, but the list has not been published. It is believed to be a short list, however, because of the government's desire to step slowly.

TOMORROW IS RED LETTER DAY FOR POSTAL SERVICE

Chicago and the rest of the country will celebrate tomorrow the 155th birthday of the nation's postal service. The observance is to be held on a national scale for the first time in conjunction with the Washington bicentennial. The first President was an enthusiastic supporter of the postal service.

As part of the local celebration Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder has invited the public to visit the workrooms of the postoffice. All 700 mail trucks will be decorated with flags, and all carriers will wear boutonnieres.

When Washington became President the thirteen colonies boasted only 75 postoffices and 1,175 miles of post roads. In a few years the postoffices, the post road mileage, and the revenue increased. Today there are 360,000 employés in the postal service. The revenues are more than $700,000,000 a year. In the last year more than 27 billion pieces of mail were handled.

Inquiry to Hear How Farm Board Wrecks the Market

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., July 24.—[Special.]—Operations of the federal farm board, in an ambition to establish a government monopoly in food, are termed a "tragic government adventure" in marketing, in a brief filed tonight with Congressman Joseph B. Shannon, chairman of the congressional inquiry into Uncle Sam as a competitor of the ordinary tax paying business man and producer. It was presented by Frank A. Theis on behalf of the grain committee on national affairs, and it arraigns the federal farm board and its subsidiaries, which have kissed good-by to 500 million dollars of tax money, on twenty-one charges.

JOSEPH B. SHANNON

The farm board is charged with destroying many farmer owned cooperatives, to aid which was one of its specified objects in the marketing act. It is held measurably responsible for the drop in markets which has put farm price levels to the lowest point in the memory of living man, and is declared to be one cause of the depression.

Pay Rollers vs. Private Traders.

The charges declare the farm board has sought to crowd old line private marketing establishments to the wall and a vast army of federal pay rollers has been pouring torrents of abuse upon private traders, while the government with unlimited resources of tax money has become a business rival of taxpayers.

The brief sets down the case which the grain trade is to lay before the Shannon committee starting tomorrow. The hearings on grain are expected to consume three or four days. M. W. Borders at the outset is to produce a list of witnesses including grain dealers, dirt farmers and heads of farmer owned coöperatives. Borders' view is that business and politics do not mix and the farm board is by way of becoming "the greatest and most dangerous political machine" ever conceived in America.

The grain committee on national affairs represents the following ten exchanges:

Buffalo Corn exchange, Chicago Board of Trade, Duluth Board of Trade, Grain and Feed Dealers' National association, Kansas City Board of Trade, Milwaukee Grain and Stock exchange, Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, New York Produce exchange, Omaha Grain exchange, and St. Louis Merchants' exchange.

Charges Made in Brief.

The brief makes the following charges:

"That the United States government is engaged in business on a gigantic scale in direct competition with its citizens and taxpayers through the agricultural marketing act and the federal farm board.

"That it is competing with private individuals and corporations in every branch of the grain business:

"That it has bought and sold grain in large volume and has supplied its subsidiaries with funds from the United States treasury at lower than commercial rates thus equipping them with a devastating weapon of competition against private individuals and firms;

"That it has caused to be created a group of corporations which it falsely calls coöperatives, but which in fact are not coöperatives and which are neither farmer owned, nor farmer controlled;

"That these corporations are mere subterfuges through which the federal farm board conducts its extensive speculative and other business ventures;

Public Money Wasted.

"That the federal farm board has wasted vast sums of public money in futile and ill advised stabilization and other costly and Socialistic schemes:

"That it has advanced millions of dollars to the Farmers' National Grain corporation and its various subsidiaries on security of doubtful value;

"That the total farmer membership claimed by all of the regionals affiliated with the Farmers' National is only 250,000 or about 10 per cent of the grain producers of the country;

"That against loans to the Farmers' National Grain corporation from taxpayers' money that at one time totaled some 38 million dollars and now exceeds 15 million dollars, the total actual investment of all of the regionals affiliated with it was only about $76,000;

"That claims of large and unusual profits from such a small capital are based on enormous, virtually unsecured, loans from the farm board and the handling at regular rates of commission of the enormous holdings, both cash and futures, of the Grain Stabilization corporation. These immense commissions really represent actual losses sustained by the taxpayer through the unwarranted speculative transactions of the Grain Stabilization corporation;

Public Monopoly in Sight.

"That it has purchased businesses, facilities and properties at grossly inflated prices, using these facilities and properties to compete with legitimate and necessary private business;

"That it is the deliberate purpose of the federal farm board and its subsidized supporters to create with public money an absolute monopoly in the marketing of grain;

"That the arrogant attitude, the artificial price fixing and other acts of the federal farm board have been largely responsible for prohibitive tariffs and other regulations which have destroyed the former foreign markets.

"That the federal farm board has introduced no new or practical methods of marketing, but has utilized existing facilities and practices with no saving in cost or improvement in service to the grain producers—on the contrary, it has demoralized normal merchandizing practices to the detriment of the farmer and has assessed penalties, membership fees or other charges against producers to force them to patronize its sponsored setups;

"That besides competing directly with the grain business the farm board and its setups have persistently and unfairly attacked the integrity and motives of private dealers, placing false interpretations on trade efforts to protect farmers by warning them against the fateful consequences of board policies, and seeking to place responsibility for farm board blunders upon the private trades;

Private Efforts Save Situation.

"That in the face of unprecedented abuse heaped upon private trades by the farm board and its vast army of pay rollers, the exchanges and private trades, alone responsible for the great constructive measures evolved out of years of intensive study, have maintained a market for the farmer's produce and continue to offer the only hope for improved conditions if given the right freely to distribute the farmer's grain across the world;

"That the taxpayers has been forced to pay twice for some of the wheat acquired by the farm board—first, when the original 500 million was appropriated and again when a second appropriation was required to release to the Red Cross wheat previously purchased and used as collateral by the farm board;

"That there can be no permanent improvement in agricultural conditions unless and until the agricultural marketing act is repealed and the federal farm board removed entirely from control or direction over the marketing of grains and other agricultural products and until the government abandons all interference with markets either through restrictive legislation or unsound price panaceas."

POLICE 'EDUCATE' DUNES DRIVERS; 57 GET FINES

Force Motorists to Obey Highway Rules.

BY HAL FOUST.

Forty thousand Chicago motorists homeward bound yesterday afternoon and evening on the old Dunes highway and the new relief road encountered an army of Indiana state police assigned to educate them to drive properly. There were fifty-seven arrests, with almost all defendants paying a fine of $1 and $10.50 costs.

"This is a campaign of education" said Chief Grover C. Garrott of the Indiana state police, who was in personal charge of the detail. "We're going to make a minimum of arrests, but we're having to do some prosecuting to obtain respect for common sense rules of the road."

Many Police on Road.

Lieut. Walter Wilson and his five men regularly assigned to the pavements between Gary, Ind., and the Michigan line north of Michigan City, were reinforced with a squad of nine motorcycle patrolmen headed by Capt. Rex Richer. Fourteen motorcycles were active during the day on the old two lane Dunes highway and on the new forty foot relief road. On the new four lane concrete that swings gracefully through the wooded sand dunes two or three miles from the lake, the patrolmen were ordered to enforce the signs that read "Keep to the Right Except When Passing."

The arrests were not made for speed, but for loitering next to the center line or astride a lane marker or for driving to the left of the center line.

On the old two lane highway the motorcycle men were spurring laggard drivers to maintain a speed of at least forty miles an hour where the road was clear ahead. The police also tried to prohibit motorists from passing on the narrow pavement.

Slow Drivers a Menace.

"The slow drivers are as great a menace on the narrow pavements as those who zigzag from one side to the other," said Chief Garrott. "On the forty foot pavement, the slow driver hugging the center line or astride the lane marker is the worst pest, aggravating others to the reckless maneuver of swinging to the left side of the highway.

"Our effort is to educate the thoughtless and selfish slowpoke as well as the reckless speeder. Where this can be done the patrolmen by waving to the drivers or by stopping them and talking to them, that is their instructions. But a driver who needs an arrest ticket to learn his lesson is going to get one."

Five of the six state policemen regularly assigned to this beat have been injured by reckless motorists within the last year. Officer Stanley Borjowski received a broken leg and a cut scalp last Sunday. Secretary of State Frank Mayr Jr. has ordered that traffic conditions in this territory be improved if it takes the entire Indiana state police department. They're going to be improved.

Many Lack License Plate.

"Besides improper driving, I've noticed a large number of automobiles coming from Chicago without any state license plates. I'm not interested in collecting license fees for Illinois, but I am interested that all cars operating in Indiana carry identifying numbers.

"Starting next Sunday I'll have men detailed to stop and to arrest the driver of every automobile without a license as it enters Indiana from Chicago.

"I don't want to work a hardship on the public with wholesale arrests. I hope this announcement is given publicity so that car owners without licenses will have six days to get their plates or so they won't come into Indiana without plates after next Saturday."

SOUTHWEST WIND TO SEND MERCURY INTO 90S TODAY

Southwest winds will deprive Chicago of Lake Michigan's protection against the heat today, C. A. Donnel, official forecaster, predicted. In common with the rest of the middle west, the city will probably have temperatures in the low 90's, Mr. Donnel said. Cloudy skies may moderate the temperature, however, and there is a slight possibility of showers during the day. In any event, Mr. Donnel said, the thermometer will not reach the torrid heights of last week.

'GHOST' X-RAY IS NEWEST AID TO MEDICAL WORLD

Internal Body of Living Human Shown.

New York, July 24.—(AP)—"Ghost" X-Ray images — three-dimensional, transparent shadow figures of living human beings in empty space—will be shown to medical and technical men here this week.

They are made by a "cross-eyed" X-Ray machine, a new aid to medicine developed at the California institute of technology.

So realistic is the disembodied shadow that a physician can thrust calipers into it and measure certain internal body cavities as if he were laying a tape upon his patient's insides.

Developed by Dr. Dumond.

The machine was developed by Dr. Jesse W. M. Dumond, research associate, and Dr. Archer Hoyt, for the Henry Phipps institute of the University of Pennsylvania. The machine is being demonstrated at the Sydenham hospital here.

It is a development of the fleuroscope, which casts a visible X-Ray shadow on a screen. The main parts of the new apparatus are two X-Ray tubes, a screen, and a remarkable device called an image selector, for looking at the screen.

The two tubes cast two shadows on the screen at slightly different places. The tubes are set the same distance apart as human eyes. Their beams intersect each other and cross in the patient's body before reaching the screen, and each tube flashes 60 pictures a second—four times the speed of a movie. These flashes alternate—as if the tubes were two eyes winking alternately.

A "Mirror" Image.

When the physician looks at the alternating images on the screen through the "selector" they appear to form between him and the screen, out in empty space, out in front of the person they recreate in shadow.

This is not a flat shadow, but the same size, shape and depth as the person, transparent, showing bones and internal organs.

An amazing fact is that this disembodied shadow faces the person from which it comes—turns its back to the watching physician. It is a "mirror" image—a counterpart of the likeness of himself a person sees in a mirror.

Shows Cross of Section of Shadows.

The illusion of the "shade" standing alone in space is visible only in the selector. It is due to a combination of the crossing of X-Rays, their winking on and off, and a shutter in the selector synchronized with the winks.

The result is that the light from the screen intersects—focuses—out in front of the screen. This intersection of beams is the place where the disembodied person forms.

The shadow persons are not full length, the apparatus projecting only a cross-section about two feet square.

The most promising medical use at present is for setting broken bones—seeing them in three dimensions. Other uses are more exact location of bullets and other foreign bodies, looking at internal organs outlined with barium meals, bronchial tubes and measuring dimensions of internal cavities.

TELLS DIFFICULTY OF PROVING BANK INSOLVENCY CHARGE

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers, who is directing the prosecution of all bank cases involving criminal liability, explained yesterday why the trials held thus far have been based on charges of embezzlement, conspiracy and false statements rather than on the charge of accepting deposits after insolvency.

Insolvency, he said, is far more difficult to prove than the other charges, and, moreover, carries a lighter penalty. Insolvency is punishable by 1 to 3 years in prison, plus a fine of double the deposits accepted after insolvency, he added, while conspiracy carries a penalty of 1 to 5 years, and embezzlement and making false statements carry punishments of 1 to 10 years.

To prove insolvency, continued Mr. Ayers, involves months of technical labor by auditors and appraisers. Every asset of the bank in question must be appraised, he said. He added that with the present fluctuating market it would be extremely difficult to balance assets against liabilities to show insolvency at a particular time.

"Years would be required to prosecute all our bank cases for insolvency," said the prosecutor. "In most cases we have tried to show embezzlement, conspiracy, or false statements. In this way we save time and money, and have a chance for more severe penalties on convictions."

Armed Hoodlums Attack Dance Party; Injure Six

East St. Louis, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Eight armed hoodlums attacked forty persons attending a clubhouse dance on Arsenal island, south of East St. Louis, early today, starting a mêlée in which fists, bottles, and pistols were wielded, resulting in serious injuries to six persons attending the dance. Police believed the intruders were bootleggers who resented occupancy of the island by owners of the clubhouse. The hoodlums escaped by motor launch.

SANTOS-DUMONT, A WORLD PIONEER OF AVIATION, DIES

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 24.—(AP)—Alberto Santos-Dumont, 59 years old, world pioneer of aviation, who won recognition on three continents in the days that immediately preceded and followed the discoveries of the Wright brothers, died at Sao Paulo today it was learned tonight.

Señor Santos-Dumont spent most of his later years in Paris. He returned to Brazil a little over a year ago, his health in very bad condition, and had been trying to recuperate ever since.

In 1891 he went to Paris and, when his slender purse put ballooning out of the question, began a study of internal combustion engines on which he spent six years, after buying an automobile. His pioneer work in aviation began in 1898 when he went up at Paris in a balloon he made himself. From then on he was a world figure in aviation development.

WHEATON MAN MISSING; POLICE SEARCH ASKED

The Chicago police were asked yesterday to aid in the search for Arthur E. Northrup, 66 year old bookkeeper of Wheaton who has disappeared. He was employed at the office of L. C. Thompson, coal dealer in Wheaton, and he walked from the office at 10 o'clock Saturday morning saying he had a business errand.

His coat and watch were left behind. He was wearing trousers and a Panama hat. He is 5 feet 5 inches tall, has a slight limp and had been in good health, relatives said. He lived with his wife and five children at 310 East Union avenue in the suburb. He was graduated from Wheaton college.

Northrup's employer said his accounts were in good shape. He was a man of good habits and had never been away from home, his friends said. There was no indications he had been injured in Wheaton and there was no known reason for his leaving the town, it was said.

RESCUED FLYER TELLS STORY OF 18 DAYS' TERROR

Dodged Snakes in Jungle After Crashing.

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—(AP)—The Medaryville, Ind., flyer, Clarence L. McElroy, who was desperately injured in a plane crash in the jungles of Oaxaca state on June 27, today told for the first time the story of his 18 days' terror before he was rescued.

Semi-paralyzed from a blow on the head, covered with insect bites, and still very weak McElroy was brought here aboard the Pan-American international plane from San Geronimo.

The flyer said his subconscious mind forced him on toward safety in the jungle while he was semi-delirious, and he finally sighted four calves tethered to trees and waited for somebody to come get them.

Here is his story:

"We were flying southward en route to Honduras when we ran into a furious tropical storm. There was no visibility and I tried to find a spot to land. Suddenly the plane crashed into a mountainside.

Companion Was Dead.

"That was at 10 a. m. I was knocked out and recovered consciousness in a rainstorm at 3 p. m., noting that the plane was a complete washout. My leg and head pained severely and I was too weak to crawl out of the wreck.

"I can't remember much of those first three days. Everything was hazy. I could see that my companion, Roy Gordon of Tegucigalpa, Honduras, was dead, but I was too weak to move.

"Three days later I had recovered some strength. I tried to cover Gordon's body and then started crawling up the mountain to get my bearings. It was almost impossible to make headway in the jungle. My pains increased. I got water from a small mountain stream and caught a few crabs and ate them raw.

"I would crawl a while, then pick bugs and insects a while and dodge many snakes. I saw no wild animals.

Urge to Live Survived.

"I nearly gave up several times, but it is hard to die as long as you might have a chance. Even in my clouded mind the urge to live survived. I was desperate many times in the jungle, almost sure I would die, but I could not give up.

"July 13 was my lucky day, for that evening I found a herd of cows beside a stream, but what gave me hope was the sight of four calves tied to trees. I knew somebody eventually would come to untie those calves, so I stopped right there. I was too weak even to try to milk a cow.

"The next morning an Indian boy came. He was Gerardo Enriquez and I motioned that I wanted some food. He milked a cow and gave me some milk and some cheese he had. By signs I told him of my predicament and he understood. He built a small leanto to protect me and left for help."

HOOVER ENJOYING HIS WEEK-END REST AT MOUNTAIN CAMP

Luray, Va., July 24.—(AP)—Enjoying a complete rest, President Hoover today strolled about his mountain camp under a warm sun tempered somewhat by a cooling breeze.

He gave some attention to the news of the day, reading of Senator Borah's suggestion for an immediate world conference to consider revision or cancelation of war debts.

A marine airplane flew over the camp in the morning, dropping bundles of newspapers and White House mail.

Mrs. Hoover, who has been at the camp for two weeks, and personal friends were with the President. He will remain until tomorrow morning at least. There was a possibility he might not return to Washington until Tuesday.

GERMAN FLYER SPANS ICE CAP; REACHES IVIGTUT

COPENHAGEN, July 24.—After a whole day's flight, Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau landed at Ivigtut on the western coast of Greenland at 4 p. m. local time.

Von Gronau, who with three companions is flying from Europe to Chicago, hopped from Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland. At 3:30 p. m., local time, the radio station in Julianshaab made connections with the German aviator's plane. Von Gronau then radioed that he was flying over the ice cap heading toward Ivigtut.

The aviator took off from List, Island of Silt, in the North Frisian islands last Friday on his third flight across the North Atlantic. From Ivigtut, Von Gronau plans to fly to Cartwright Harbor, Labrador; Montreal, Canada, and on to Chicago.

AUSTRALIA RUBS BRUISES AFTER BUSINESS SPREE

Finds Political Playthings Are Too Costly.

[This is the fifteenth of a series of articles by Mr. Kinsley on Australia.]

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANBERRA, July 6.—[By mail.]—An increasing volume of thought in Australia now demands withdrawal of government from business wherever practicable. Where it is not practicable, as in the railroad business [as no buyer could be expected to enter this field] new legislation is to be attempted to divorce the railroad enterprise from political control.

It has been demonstrated thoroughly by this young and ambitious nation, seeking to build a civilization in which the common welfare would be the first objective, that political control of industry is incompatible with efficiency. If it were not for the railroad deficits in every state and in the commonwealth, the budgets which threatened to collapse in the face of world conditions and low prices of primary products, would easily balance.

Weak Link in Emergency.

These expensive political playthings could be kept up on a boom market, with plenty of work and revenue, but they have proved the weak link in this emergency. The leaders of the nation readily admit this mistake, but see no way out except in further reduction of costs, which means wages, and curtailment of service which is now unsatisfactory to the farming element at least.

Australia is facing its precarious future bravely, with the exception of the beer hall orators in the radical union centers, where it is planned to make trouble for the governments in power unless wages are left alone, regardless of the fate of industry.

Conservative coalitions are in power except in South Australia and Queensland, where moderate Labor controls. There is no difficulty about such Labor governments, for they are the expression of small capitalists, homeowners, and "loyalists," willing to support a "reasonable policy" on wages, and take cuts if it is demonstrated that this is necessary.

Withdraw from Business.

In West Australia and Queensland the state governments are withdrawing as speedily as possible from unprofitable state enterprises, such as brick works, sheep stations, saw mills, implement works, quarries, and hotels. Taxing the people to pay unnecessary deficits is one of the pleasures that this democracy must deny itself for some time. The superstructure has grown beyond the ability of the base to uphold it, and something must topple.

"The failures of state paternalism," writes W. K. Hancock, professor of modern history in the University of Adelaide, "have been due less frequently to the miscalculations of administrators than to the pressures put upon the administrators by the politicians, and upon the politicians by their constituents. Australian democracy has deliberately resolved that it will have no over-mighty subjects. But, in its fear and hatred of the strong, it has bared its walls to the destructive vandalism of the weak. Swarms of petty appetites attack the great common services for which the government has made itself responsible. A multitude of fragmented interests assail the common interest.

"Defense is difficult, because there is no exact measure of financial failure: a host of scattered insolvencies can be hidden in the general solvency of the state. [It is only in the threatened insolvency of the states that a change has been demanded.]

"Since the railways are under no necessity to square their ledgers, they become an instrument in the hands of politicians for squaring the electors. Under this system there is no promptitude in cutting losses, and no flexibility of readjustment after the losses have been incurred.

Money Is Thrown Away.

"This rigidity may be present in industries which are not government owned. But a government is particularly slow to confess that it has got into a bad business, for its mere entry into it has created vested interests which express themselves immediately in politics. So, very frequently the government throws good money after bad and hopes that something will turn up. In this way losses accumulate in a lump, and the crisis, when it comes, is likely to be prolonged and severe.

The American method of private railways, under government regulation, would strike most Australians now as one way out.

The economic crisis has stimulated thought along these lines and has forced reforms. It will bring about others. It has increased the prestige of the federal government and given new wings to nationalism. This nationalism has not been faced with enemies from without, except in the world war, when it sent 450,000 men overseas for four years and lost 250,000 lives. The war touched every home, and war memorials with long lists of names graven on their stone sides have arisen in every town. The strong national feeling takes the form in some groups of an anti-British empire sentiment.

"These misguided men," said W. M. Hughes, former prime minister, "blinded by racial passion, do not appreciate the great advantages of empire partnership. They contemptuously disregard its possibilities. They want to share the benefits of partnership in the empire while aiming a blow at its heart."

GERMANS CALL RESULTS OF DISARM PARLEY "ZERO"; INDIGNANT

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, July 24.—The drift of German comment on the disarmament conference is epitomizable in one word—tragi-comedy. The German delegation's voting against the adjournment resolution is universally indorsed in the Democratic camp as much as in the Nationalist. The conference's actual results are generally appraised as zero.

The newspaper Germania charges that Chairman Arthur Henderson from the first lost control of the conference and only asserted himself at the end to hasten final proceedings, while Sir John Simon played France's hand.

"After years of patient laboring with the preparatory commission and six months of coöperation with the conference," the Germania says, "Germany for the first time has pronounced a decisive and unequivocal 'no.' Now that an attempt to get the powers to enter a disarmament convention has completely foundered, Germany's 'no' is no longer interpretable as impatience to regain liberty in the matter of armament. Without recognition of Germany's equal rights there can be no further German coöperation."

Police Seek a Motive in Bombing of Home

Police yesterday sought a motive for the bombing in the early morning hours of the home of Emil Mravek, 4002 Carroll avenue. The blast smashed windows but did little other damage. Mravek, his wife, Elizabeth, and their two children escaped injury. Mravek was the owner of a restaurant at 4000 Carroll avenue, padlocked for a prohibition violation a year ago. He is the owner of a recently completed store and flat building at 4001 Carroll avenue.

who was allowed to shake Hitler's hand. He cupped the child's face with his hands over the cheeks and looked deep into its eyes. The child refused to let its face be washed because "it was as if the hands of the Savior had touched me."

Those members of the "national front" who are not Hitlerites seem imbued with a conviction that the mission of the "higher classes" is akin to religion. Faith in the Hohenzollerns in some of these nationalist groups also is tinged with religious fervor.

In opposition to them the republican groups are at a disadvantage. Their leaders have been working hard, but have been blamed for the slowness of Germany's recovery.

32 Injured Yesterday.

BERLIN, July 25 [Monday].—(AP)—Germany's first week-end with virtual dictatorship existing in Prussia and Brandenburg passed with no deaths in political clashes reported up until 2 a. m. today.

[Last week-end nearly a score were killed and about 100 injured in various disturbances. This was before a presidential decree virtually put the most important state of the reich under the army.]

Thirty-two were injured yesterday, however, in clashes in various parts of the reich. Five were injured in an affray at Augsburg.

Fifteen were injured at Mandelsloh, near Hanover, when the Nazis routed 200 iron front [war veterans] handbill distributors. Six Nazis were mauled by opponents in a free for all at Neumuenster. At Boeblingen six were injured in a clash involving several political factions.

COUNTY TAX SALE ON TODAY; OFFER ONLY 1 PROPERTY

Delinquents Get Another Month to Pay.

Sale of property delinquent on 1930 taxes will be formally opened in the county building this morning by County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough in compliance with statutory provisions. The first of the tax volumes, that of the town of Barrington, will be opened and the first piece of property in the book offered for sale.

After the sale of the first property the session will be closed. Only one property is to be offered each day for a month. This procedure is being followed to give property owners an opportunity to pay their taxes and forestall sale. At the end of the month the sale will be conducted at full schedule by taking country towns alphabetically and following through with city towns in the same order.

Few Sales Expected.

In former years tax buyers crowded the sale. Treasurer McDonough said that he believes few sales will be made and that most of the property will go by forfeiture to the county. Approximately 300,000 parcels of the 1,300,000 parcels of real estate in the county are awaiting sale.

Today is the last day for payment under the installment plan of collection advanced by the treasurer two weeks ago. Payment of 25 per cent of the bill, under the plan, will forestall sale and bring reduction of the penalty of 1 per cent for each month of delay by one-half. The balance of the bill is to be paid in three similar installments at 60 day intervals.

List Rogers Park Delinquents.

The following list of properties on which, according to the records of the treasurer's office, less than half of the 1930 taxes have been paid is taken from volume No. 484, which covers a portion of the town of Rogers Park. The names given are those to whom the tax bills are addressed. These persons in many instances are merely the agents of or the lessors to the persons who are actually liable for the bills.

The records give merely the item number and the legal description of the property taxed and the address of the person to whom the bill is sent. The address does not purport to be that of the property taxed. The list follows:

Brazil Reports Rebels in Sao Paulo Driven Back

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 24.—(AP)—The Brazilian government today reported continuing success in its campaign to suppress the Sao Paulo revolt which entered the third week today. The rebels, said one communique, were driven back in an engagement in the southern Sao Paulo sector.

SEXTON EXPLAINS HOW STATE WILL REPAY U. S. RELIEF

The $10,000,000 which Illinois relief officials have asked from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for unemployment relief is not a "loan"—a term that has come into colloquial use by mistake—but is an advance upon federal subsidies for highway building, Corporation Counsel Sexton pointed out yesterday.

The relief bill under which the advance will be made provides that the federal government shall recover the advance by withholding funds which otherwise would be appropriated for highway building in the state receiving the advance. Beginning in 1935, the federal government shall withhold from the apportionment of highway subsidy appropriations to a particular state either one-fifth of the subsidy payment or an amount equal to one-fifth of the advance previously made to that state for relief purposes, whichever is less. This shall be continued until the advance is repaid.

The $18,750,000 fund which Illinois raised for relief by the sale of tax warrants may be considered an advance in the same manner, Mr. Sexton said, since each county's share of the relief fund will be repaid the state by the withholding of the share which the county would otherwise receive from the state gasoline tax.

POLAND TO SIGN RUSSIAN TREATY TO INSURE PEACE

WARSAW, July 24.—Mediatorship undertaken by Foreign Minister Zaleski of Poland at Geneva to make Rumania join the Polish soviet nonaggression pact having failed, the Polish government has finally decided to sign the pact with the soviets without Rumania.

The treaty was originally concluded but not signed last January. Some minor points regarding conciliatory article No. 5 about regulating peacefully all future conflicts between both countries are still a matter of simultaneous discussions taking place today in Warsaw and Moscow.

An agreement will be reached and the pact signed in Moscow tomorrow, or failing that, this week at the latest. The Polish minister at Moscow, Patek, will sign o behalf of Poland and Krestinkij, Maxim Litvinof's assistant in the foreign office, for Russia.

Fearing that the conclusion of the treaty will endanger good relations between Poland and herself, Rumania has made dramatic attempts to prevent Poland from signing. The Rumanian minister at Warsaw appealed a few days ago to Marshal Pilsudski in an attempt to dissuade him from assenting to the pact. The minister made a second attempt yesterday, a few hours before Poland's final decision became known.

All Rumania obtained is a promise that Poland will not ratify the pact until Rumania reaches an agreement with the soviet over the Bessarabian problem.

The main reason for Poland's rather hasty decision to sign the pact alone was given as her anxiety to have her 1,000 mile western frontier secure against danger from the soviets, especially now when events in Germany are threatening the eastern frontiers of Poland.

Investigate Labor Trouble in Two Theater Bombings

Police from the state's attorney's office last night were investigating suspected labor troubles in connection with the bombing of two suburban movie houses early yesterday morning. The theaters are the Pickwick, 5 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge, and the Des Plaines, 1476 Miner street, Des Plaines. The houses are in a small chain operated by Polka brothers.

SUPREME COURT MAY UNTIE SOME TAX KNOTS TODAY

Opinion Is Expected in Lillian Cisar Case.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Illinois Supreme court is expected to give several opinions in tax matters at a recess session in Springfield today.

Of these, the most important is the case brought in the name of Mrs. Lillian Cisar of Oak Park. This was a direct attack by Attorneys Roy D. Keehn and Morris Schaeffer on the validity of the 1928 and 1929 tax assessments in Cook county, and by inference the 1930 assessment also.

County Judge Jarecki last Dec. 31 held the 1928 and 1929 assessments fraudulent and invalid because of the omission of billions of dollars' worth of personal property from the assessment rolls.

Opinion Expected Today.

The Supreme court on April 20 reversed Judge Jarecki's decision and remanded the case. The high court's opinion, however, was not presented at that time. It is expected to be made public by the court today if there is an agreement on its text among the justices.

The importance of this case in Cook county lies in the expectation of tax officials, experts, and lawyer that the Supreme court, in its opinion, will give specific instructions as well as general principles on taxation which will be a guide in making a valid tax assessment for 1931.

Also the opinion is expected to indicate how the thousands of tax suits now pending should be disposed of. These suits, as of the date of the Jarecki decision, involved $72,000,000 on unpaid taxes with added penalties of 1 per cent a month. A small percentage of these taxes has since been paid.

Another Decision Expected.

From the viewpoint of County Assessor J. L. Jacobs, however, the expected Supreme court opinion will be important for what it may suggest as the proper method of making the 1931 assessment equitable and valid. County Tax Attorney Hayden Bell has advised Jacobs to proceed slowly in assessing until the opinion has been handed down.

Accordingly, Assessor Jacobs has sent out blank schedules for the listing of personal property, but with the exception of automobiles has given no instructions or advice on how to value personal property for taxing purposes.

The joint tax commission, of which George O. Fairweather is head, has presented a method of valuing all personal property under each of the 40 items in the assessor's schedule. Mr. Jacobs has been waiting for the Supreme court decision to determine what he will do.

Another Decision Expected.

Another decision expected from the Supreme court is in the Mathews case. This involves the validity of the socalled "teachers' orders," which are pay checks for school teachers marked "not sufficient funds."

These bear interest at 6 per cent and have been in vogue downstate for many years. The law was recently made to apply to Cook county also, and more recently another law was passed which provided that these teachers' orders can be legally used to pay taxes.

That is the part to which Chicago bankers and investment houses object. It is contended that the teachers' orders are a first lien on taxes collected. Should both teachers' orders and tax anticipation warrants be issued, the bankers contend that if they buy tax anticipation warrants they can never be certain how much in teachers' orders will be ahead of the tax warrants as lien on the taxes.

If the court holds that the "N. S. F. checks" are valid and constitutional, it will be impossible, experts say, for the school board to sell its tax anticipation warrants, which is the only method the board has of financing the schools and paying its employés. In this eventuality a special session of the legislature may be asked to repeal the law.

CENTURY OLD CHURCH REDEDICATED AFTER DAMAGE IS REPAIRED

Duquoin, Ill., July 24.—[Special.]—Baptist ministers and churchmen from Perry, Franklin, Washington and other nearby southern Illinois counties participated this morning in the rededication of the Nine Mile Baptist church, northwest of Duquoin.

Nine Mile church, established 106 years ago, is one of the oldest in Illinois. The structure was recently badly damaged during an electrical storm.

Ceremonies today marked resumption of services at the church, which serves as religious center for a large farming community. Speakers included the Rev. Ollie Allen of Benton and the Rev. Vernon G. Miles, pastor of the First Baptist church of Duquoin.

PERSONALTY TAX SUIT IS FILED AGAINST CUBS

Among the suits against persons who are delinquent in the payment of 1930 personal property taxes filed in the Circuit court by Lee LaRochelle, special county attorney, is one against the Chicago National league baseball club, it was discovered yesterday. The club, owned by Philip Wrigley, is sued for $24,100.

Attorney LaRochelle said that the assessed personalty included the grounds keeper's equipment, the uniforms of the players, and other paraphernalia of the game such as bats, balls and gloves.

One hundred and fifty more of the suits were filed on Saturday. Among the defendants are the following, with the amount of 1930 personal property taxes owed:

Miles Engineering company, 1236 Granville avenue	$ 32,456.40
Ludlow Typograph company, 2039 Lewis street	127,630.30
Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett company, 211 East North Water street	67,404.90
Reid Murdock company, 314 North Clark street	10,630.95
Dykes, Inc., 840 North Michigan avenue	12,601.00

These suits are among 10,000 which will be heard before Circuit Judge Craig Hood beginning Aug. 1.

2 WOUNDED STRUGGLING FOR GUN.

Emma Hunter, 37 years old, and Hillard Wright, 70 years old, both Negroes, were wounded, the woman seriously, in a struggle for a revolver yesterday in their flat at 2625 West Lake street.

REVEALS ITALY IS SECRETLY BUILDING FOURTEEN WARSHIPS

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 24.—Italy has for some time been secretly building naval vessels, according to Hector C. Bywater of the Daily Telegraph. The secret ships, he says, comprise two cruisers, each of 6,742 tons with batteries of six inch guns; two 615 ton destroyers of great speed, said to be 45 knots; ten small craft of various types which are understood to include submarines of a new type.

The program of these unannounced vessels, which have been laid down as an outcome of the Franco-Italian naval rivalry, provides an additional aggregate of 16,562 tons, the article stated. The minister of marine announced in the Italian chamber on April 23 last that Italy would not present a new program until after the disarmament conference.

It was thought that current naval construction, therefore, would be limited to 29 vessels authorized after the 1930 conference. According to Bywater, however, the new Italian program was secretly presented and authorized last year and actually started before the minister of marine, Admiral Sirianna, made his statement to the chamber.

Unemployed Man, 2 Sons Killed in Abandoned Mine

Uniontown, Pa., July 24.—(AP)—Rescuers today recovered the bodies of a man and two small boys buried in a fall of tons of slate in Nellie mine. Albert Shearer, 35, unemployed, of Vanderbilt, went into the abandoned mine working with his sons, James, 8, and Charles, 10, to dig coal. Physicians said Shearer and James probably had died within a short time after the cave in; Charles had been dead but a few minutes.

SCHOOL BUSINESS MANAGER TO LIST 300 JOBS FOR AX

Union Heads to Meet with Savage Today.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

It is expected that Business Manager Howard P. Savage will recommend the abolition of 300 or more jobs in the engineering and janitorial service of the schools today. The Strayer group of experts urged the discharge of 502 employés, including 38 window washers.

The estimate of 300 jobs is based upon a recommendation of Mr. Savage to the school board nearly six weeks ago in which he asked the board to "consider a reduction of the operating forces by a sum equal to $500,000." That is equal to the total yearly salaries of 324 janitors or 342 janitresses at the present reduced scale.

Passes the Buck.

Mr. Savage told the trustees June 15 that $500,000 could be saved on an annual basis. The board appointed a subcommittee headed by Trustee Robert F. Carr, which was informed last Tuesday by Mr. Savage and School Engineer John Howatt that $500,000 could be eliminated from the budget. The subcommittee passed the responsibility on making specific recommendations for the elimination of particular jobs back to the business manager.

Mr. Savage has called representatives of the various school unions to meet with him this morning and discuss job reductions. It is impossible to indicate how many places of each kind the business manager deems are unneeded, or how much the total saving would be because the salaries of the operating force vary from $95 to $470 a month.

Mr. Savage asserts he has already eliminated 198 jobs at an annual saving of $488,238. He has also recommended $277,000 of other savings to the board, on which it has taken no action.

Tomorrow a branch of the Fred W. Sargent committee on public expenditures, headed by Ernest R. Graham, will recommend the abandonment of work on 52 school building projects, leaving only four or five which it believes should be completed. Observers point out that these four or five might as well have been recommended for abandonment because it is not anticipated that the school board can obtain cash with which to proceed. The estimated saving has not been reckoned, but is thought to be in the neighborhood of $9,000,000.

Board's Attitude.

The attitude of the board towards such a program, which will be discussed tomorrow by the Graham group with Business Manager Savage, School Attorney Thomas V. Sullivan, School Architect John C. Christensen, and other school officials cannot be forecast.

There is a sharp difference of opinion on 11 of these schools. For six of them — Dvorak, Galilee, Rembrandt, Verdi, Wells and Jamieson—the board has appropriated this year $7,488,602. All are junior high schools, except the Jamieson and all of them will be recommended for the shelf by the Graham group.

Four High Schools.

For the other five—Lane, Senn, Steinmetz, Phillips and Smyser—the budget sets aside $6,195,516. All are senior high schools, except the Smyser. If any buildings are recommended for completion, they are in this group of five. The others will be recommended for the discard.

These include the proposed World's Fair building, vigorously recommended by Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan as a show place for visitors.

FRANCE PRAISES AND DENOUNCES BORAH ON DEBTS

World Parley Proposal Gets Mixed Welcome.

PARIS, July 24.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah's proposal yesterday for a world conference to consider war debt revision is of primary importance, the nationalist Journal des Débats said today, especially as the senator heretofore has been among the stanchest opponents of debt revision.

His change of front, the editorial said, probably was impelled by an increasing opinion in the United States that the debts burden is an important factor in prolonging the economic depression.

Sees Threat to France.

Many Americans, said the newspaper, have come to believe that sacrifice of the debts would be preferable to continued business depression.

La Liberté, however, put the Borah statement on the front page with a blistering editorial characterizing it as another threat to France.

"The man who is more important even than the President in directing American foreign policy in the name of the senate now asserts brutally that debts and disarmament are linked," said the editorial, "and that military and financial problems should be settled by a new conference under Washington's orders. Is France eager to put her neck under the knife of the guillotine?"

In an adjacent column the paper printed this declaration:

"French taxpayers, do you want to pay a new tax to reimburse France's debt to England and the United States who did us out of our claim on Germany?"

Flandin Hits Tariffs.

In a speech here today Pierre-Etienne Flandin, former French finance minister, said that no country can protect itself against business depression by raising high tariff barriers. The best way to end the present economic crisis is to demolish tariff walls, he added.

"The mechanism of reparations and war debt payments undoubtedly has become warped," he said, "and this condition has brought about serious monetary disorders throughout the world.

"To do away with these disorders intergovernmental payments might be stopped. Perhaps that is the simplest solution, but it is not the most just. That which warped the mechanism could also be abolished. That would be less simple, but much more equitable."

Cites U. S. Tariff.

Flandin blamed the tariff system for present conditions, cited objections to its removal, and declared:

"Neither the last American tariff, the highest which ever existed, nor the new British tariff protected the United States or Great Britain against unemployment."

Germany Lauds Borah.

BERLIN, July 24.— (AP) — Senator Borah's proposal for consideration of debt revision at a new world conference was received with gratification at the German foreign office.

A spokesman said this American initiative should have a tremendous moral effect. He recalled that the German delegation to the recent Lausanne conference made a similar suggestion.

League Is Pleased.

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 24.—(AP)—Consideration of war debts revision by a world conference, as proposed by United States Senator Borah, would be a valuable sequel to the Lausanne conference, league of nations officials said today.

Such a conference, they declared, should pave the way to European economic recovery and hasten the return of prosperity throughout the world.

CANAL ZONE CUTS COSTS; TO BUILD JUNIOR COLLEGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA, Canal Zone, July 24.—Using $25,000 saved from the construction cost of an elementary colored school, Gov. Harry Burgess has authorized a Canal Zone junior college. It will be housed in a $33,000 frame building near Balboa High school, until money is saved or congress appropriates enough for a more substantial building.

The junior college, to be finished in October, will benefit many white residents, government employés, who have not the money to spend to send their children to the United States for four years. All Canal Zone residents are now affected by pay cuts and uncertainty of furloughs.

The Canal Zone public school system consists of two senior high schools, six elementary schools for whites and seven for colored children. enrollment is about 3,000 in the white schools and 4,000 in the colored. The per pupil expense of maintenance is $62.75. Total expenditures for the last fiscal year were $399,814 plus $14,531 derived from tuition of children whose parents are not employed by the canal.

Talk Economy at Washington But Go Right on Spending

be not approached. A reduction of the cost of the federal government below the 4 billion mark is therefore not in sight.

At the close of the recent session Representative Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], chairman of the house appropriations committee, and Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], chairman of the senate appropriations committee, sought to make it appear that congress had accomplished economies aggregating 1 billion dollars in the 1933 budget.

But that showing was made not by reducing the 1933 expenditures a billion but by raising the 1932 expenditures a billion. Under this economy scheme the more money squandered in 1932 the greater the apparent savings by comparison in 1933.

Appropriations Compared.

What the appropriations chairmen did was to compare the initial appropriations for 1933 with the ultimate total of appropriations for 1932. One and perhaps two more sessions of congress will write the ultimate total of appropriations for 1933. A more equitable comparison would be that of the initial appropriations for 1933 as they stand today with the initial appropriations for 1932 as they stood a year ago. When that comparison is made it turns out that congress, far from spending less, is actually setting out to spend 10 millions more in 1933 than a year ago it set out to spend in 1932. The comparison of initial appropriations for 1932 and for 1933 follow:

Where the taxpayer's money goes has just been published by the treasury department in a statement of expenditures for the fiscal year of 1932 compared with the expenditures for 1931. While the total receipts of the government declined from $3,317,233,493 in 1931 to $2,121,228,006 in 1932, expenditures rose from $4,219,950,338 in 1931 to $5,006,590,305 in 1932.

2,000 Policemen on Guard as 6,000 Workers Parade

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—(AP)—Six thousand workers carefully supervised by 2,000 policemen marched through the main streets of Mexico City today in a demonstration of protest against the recent verdict against striking street car workers. No disorders were reported.

LAUNCH DRIVES IN 14 STATES TO CURB TAX EATERS

Every Commonwealth Now Represented.

Fourteen state chairmen last week started organization in their commonwealths of the campaign to reduce governmental spending, sponsored by the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures, it was announced yesterday by George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and general chairman of the drive on tax-wasters.

The national organization, which proposes to pledge all congressmen to trim a minimum of $750,000,000 from the next federal budget, now has representation in every state.

Extends to All Tax Levies.

The state chairmen, in addition to furthering the drive for reduced federal expenditures, will also organize forces to demand that state and local levies and tax spending be reduced in their respective states.

Other Chairmen.

Montana, Ralph W. Reynolds, Lewistown; New Jersey, W. I. Hamilton, president of the state chamber of commerce, Newark; New York, Merwin K. Hart, president of the New York State Economic council; North Dakota, J. E. Davis, Bismarck; Ohio, Frank B. McMillan, president of the state chamber of commerce, Columbus; Rhode Island, Archie W. Merchant, president of the Providence chamber of commerce; South Dakota, William Wilson, Sioux Falls; Utah, A. C. Rees, executive secretary of the Utah Taxpayers' association, Salt Lake City.

Organization work is being directed in Illinois by Walter W. Williams of Benton, president of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, while the Chicago association, parent of the national campaign, is directing the fight against governmental waste in the metropolitan area.

Canadian Town, Born by Accident, 100 Years Old

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STRATFORD, Ont., July 24.—This town of 19,000 persons will celebrate its centenary from July 30 to Aug. 3. Thousands of former residents from Alaska to Florida will come here to honor its pioneers. The town's birth was an accident. J. A. McCarthy was driving across the Avon in 1832 when a wagon wheel broke. Thus handicapped, he built a home and started the settlement. Thomas Edison was once a resident of Stratford working as a telegrapher for the Grand Trunk railway.

In want advertising only one thing counts: results.

Nothing else makes any difference if you don't sell the car, rent the apartment, find a roomer, get the right employe.

Want advertisers know that the first test of a want ad medium is that it produce prospects, buyers, business—quickly.

It is as easy for them to check results as it is for a station agent to check a train. All he has to do is wait to see whether it comes in on time.

Chicago advertisers have been checking want ads against results for years. And the Tribune gives them better results than any other newspaper at lower cost.

That is why the Tribune is their favorite want ad medium.

That is why the Tribune Want Ad Section leads all other want ad sections in Chicago in total want advertising and has done so for more than twenty years.

With more circulation than the News and Examiner combined, with more than the American, Post and Times combined, the Chicago Daily Tribune produces results for want advertisers as no other Chicago newspaper can!

CITY PAY CUTS ARE NUMEROUS, SURVEY SHOWS

New Sources of Revenue Sought by Officials.

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—Reductions in salaries of municipal employés corresponding to the economy plan proposed for New York by Mayor James J. Walker have been the rule rather than the exception during the last year in other cities of the United States, according to telegraphic reports to the New York Times.

In some cities the pay cuts are a year or more old. In others there has been more than one reduction. Generally, 10 per cent has been taken from the salary checks. In one specific case, that of some employés in Cleveland, the reduction reached 40 per cent.

Chicago Among Them.

The cities from which reports were received included New Orleans, St. Louis, Louisville, Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit, Birmingham, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Denver, Seattle, Cleveland, and San Francisco. Most of these places reported that it had been necessary to cut not only salaries but to reduce operating expenses and expenditures sharply, and in some instances to find sources of additional revenue or to speed the payment of taxes by inducements to citizens to pay in advance.

In New Orleans salary reductions have been put into effect for the employés of the public schools and of the police, water, and sewer departments. In addition, there has been a slight decrease in operating expenditures.

In St. Louis all salaries except those of policemen fixed by state law have been reduced 10 per cent and the police agreed to donate one-tenth of their pay to the city relief fund. Employés have been laid off and special tax measures adopted.

Louisvill Pledges Refund.

Louisville, Ky., where the city workers took a 10 per cent reduction thirty weeks ago has now placed them back on full pay with a promise of a refund on the pay reduction.

Chicago has trimmed pay rolls to the extent of $15,000,000. In Detroit where pay rolls are past due a five day week has been adopted for city workers.

Birmingham reported cutting of salaries in the police, fire, and water departments. Baltimore was said to be contemplating a slash in its police budget after cutting other departments. Philadelphia did not mention reductions. Denver reported new appointments at reduced salaries. Seattle announced a program slashing the city pay roll, and Cleveland reported a 14 per cent cut for the employés not affected by the 40 per cent reduction.

Denver Tries Economy.

Denver, Colo., July 24.—[Special.]—While other cities in the nation are showing decreased revenue as the result of delinquent taxes, Denver's tax collections were within three-fourths of one per cent of normal in the first year of a new administration under Mayor George Begole, elected a year ago last month.

This, coupled with fewer appropriations and a rigid economy program, has placed the city and county of Denver in a reasonable sound financial condition in spite of the depression, according to Manager of Revenue William McGlone and City Auditor W. H. McNichols. In addition delinquent tax collections for the first six months of this year have been $196,000, or 255 per cent increase over the same period last year.

Predicts Tax Reduction.

"All of this has effected a reduction of $800,000 in taxes for the people of Denver in the fiscal year ending this month and will enable the city to reduce taxes one and a quarter million this year," said Manager McGlone.

The economy program effected by the city will not be fully appreciated until next year. Although administration expenses were cut $400,000, the budget was $67,000 in excess of last year to enable the city to complete its $5,000,000 city hall. Four hundred thousand dollars was placed in the city budget for the city hall.

Autoist Seized by Dixmoor Police Charges Speed Trap

J. H. Walden, 6901 Oglesby avenue, president of the Chicago Printers, Inc., was arrested last night in Dixmoor, formerly Specialville, on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour in Western avenue between 143d and 139th streets. He posted $25 cash bond, and was ordered to appear in Dixmoor court Wednesday. Mr. Walden charged Dixmoor police with operating a speed-trap, and informed them that he would resist the charge to the utmost. He said he was driving not to exceed 35 miles an hour when arrested.

ROB STORE NEAR SWANSON HOME; CAN'T FIND COP

Although State's Attorney Swanson has a policeman detailed at his home, five doors away, neighbors of Paul Volk, owner of a drug store at 73d street and Crandon avenue, said yesterday that they scurried about the neighborhood for nearly ten minutes Saturday night in vain search for a policeman, while four bandits were staging a leisurely holdup of Volk's drug store.

Three of the bandits entered the store, while the fourth remained at the wheel of an automobile outside. Volk and eight customers were lined up in the rear and $234 taken from the cash register. The robbers were in the store for ten minutes, Volk said, and several passersby saw them.

Lieut. John Leonard, in charge of the state's attorney's police, said yesterday that Policeman Andrew Hannon was supposed to be on duty at the Swanson home, 7217 Crandon avenue.

Body of Well Dressed Man Taken from Lake

The body of a well dressed man, dead from three to five months, was recovered from the lake off Fullerton avenue yesterday. Life Guard Louis Nettelhorst Jr., son of the former Lincoln park commissioner, found the body. The man wore a blue suit of good quality, marked by a green pencil stripe. The suit label bore the name "Harvey Brothers." The principal clew was a sterling silver belt buckle inscribed "A. V. R."

Seize 3 Naked Swimmers at Montrose Ave. Beach

Three youths, swimming unclad in the lake off Montrose avenue were arrested yesterday by Lincoln Park Policeman John Conlin, following the complaints of several bathers. The three are Herman Schneider, 1826 South Trumbull avenue; Alex Berman, 1627 South Trumbull avenue, and Isadore Wishnie, 3502 12th place, each 19 years old. They had concealed their outer clothing and bathing suits in a conduit. Town Hall police booked the youths for appearance in the Boys' court today.

CHILD INJURED IN FALL.

Helen Carr, 3 years old, sustained a broken right leg and a possible skull fracture yesterday when she fell to a cement courtway from the third story rear porch of her home at 3216 Bloomingdale avenue. She was taken to the Lutheran Memorial hospital.

HOOVER BOARD ON NEGRO HOUSING MAKES REPORT

Finds Lack of Acceptable Dwellings for Poor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—The Hoover conference on home biulding and ownership today made public the results of a survey of housing conditions of the nation's 12,000,000 Negro citizens.

"Although special racial factors are recognized as contributing causes," the conference reported, "the principal cause of Negro housing difficulties is found to be that there is never enough housing of acceptable quality for America's low income groups."

The conference recommended establishment of a minimum standard of housing below which no building would be permitted to fall, with a sufficient supply of low priced dwellings meeting that standard for all wage earners regardless of race distinctions.

The conference declared city planning should eliminate dwellings backed up against stockyards or railroad tracks, urged adoption of zoning laws forbidding crowding and called for a reduction in the cost of construction of and financing homes.

Insufficient housing was held to be the cause of high rents for low priced homes.

Residents Celebrate New Car Service on Devon Av.

Residents of the 50th ward held a celebration yesterday of the inauguration of through street car service and two-man street cars on Devon avenue. Through Route No. 1 cars now turn at Devon and Broadway and proceed west to the end of the line, replacing the former one-man shuttle cars on the street. In connection with the celebration, the Chicago Surface lines exhibited one of the old horse cars formerly in use on Chicago streets.

TENANTS JOBLESS, RENT LONG OVERDUE; AH! THE LANDLORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 24.—The prize for being the month's best Samaritan in the German capital goes to Paul Jahn, landlord of Naunynatreet 30. He has a house, and all rooms are occupied—by unemployed. Some have been out of work for months, others for years, but not a single tenant has work.

When the July rent was due the tenants squatted hopelessly in their rooms. What would happen? Would the landlord throw them out?

He didn't. There came a knock at each door, but it was not the bailiff. It was a messenger from the landlord. Each tenant was given a package. In the package were good things to eat, bread, sausage, butter, sweets. And about the rent that was overdue not a word was said.

Move to Free Gandhi from Jail Is Reported

POONA, India, July 24.—(AP)—Rumors that negotiations for the release of Mahatma Gandhi, the civil disobedience leader, were under way were revived here today by the arrival of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. R. Jayakar, members of the recent round table conference. They are known to be intermediaries between the British viceroy, Lord Willingdon, and India's chief disciple of independence.

HUSBAND SLAIN; HIS WIDOW AND ROOMER CONFESS

A few hours after Anton Kachinski, 38 years old, had been found shot to death in the pantry of his home at 2939 West Pershing road, his widow, Petronelle, and a boarder in the home, Michael Shirma, confessed yesterday to police that Shirma had killed him.

They asserted that the shooting was in self defense. Mrs. Kachinski said that her husband had accused her frequently of misconduct with Shirma. The accusation was untrue, she asserted. Yesterday she and Kachinski quarreled over a division of their property prior to separation, she said, and he began to chase her about the house with a butcher knife.

Shirma got a gun from his room and shot Kachinski four times, the widow said. The boarder told the same story to Lieut. Alvin Stevens of the Brighton Park police. They were afraid to report the story to police, they said, and the killing was not discovered until neighbors told that they had heard shots in the Kachinski home.

Masked Gunmen Menace Four, Loot Bakery Safe

Three masked bandits threatened four employés of the R. J. Mrizek bakery at 1801 South California avenue with revolvers for two hours early yesterday as they worked to open the office safe. After the safe was opened the bandits fled with $1,500 in cash and checks. They gained entrance through a washroom window.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A PREPOSTEROUS TREATY.

Secretary Hurley of the war department defends Secretary Stimson's treaty with Canada which would surrender American sovereignty in Lake Michigan. Mr. Hurley relies upon reports of army engineers to assert that the water withdrawal limitations fixed by the treaty will not impair the usefulness of the Illinois waterway. Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, concedes that additional locks and dams may be required under the limited water allowance to maintain a nine foot channel. In other words, there are engineering alternatives and there is now an open question which the United States, if it abides by the Root formula for Lake Michigan, can decide within its own right.

Mr. Root, in negotiating with Canada, maintained the status of Lake Michigan as an American lake. It is wholly within American territory. The Canadian line does not touch it, and Root upheld American jurisdiction in his treaty for which Mr. Stimson offers a substitute. Congress now has the right to determine the volume of water which may be fed into the Illinois and Mississippi waterway, which is about to be opened. Its requirements and the needs of the people at this end of the lake and in the Mississippi can be determined by congress and the American government if the Root doctrine is maintained. If the Stimson formula is applied the control of an American lake passes into treaty jurisdiction and the United States loses its unqualified sovereignty.

Mr. Root appears as the better American statesman. Mr. Stimson yields to a Canadian demand. It is true he is supported by American lake navigation interests, including steel, and by some lake ports which have tried to obstruct the opening of the route south. The point is that the conciliation of opposing American interests can remain in American control if Mr. Stimson is not permitted to carry his treaty to ratification. Congress will retain power to decide how the conflict of interest shall be settled and how the engineering problems shall be met if jurisdiction in Lake Michigan is not surrendered. The American government will be able to meet the problems which may be made clear when the Illinois waterway is opened.

If the proposed treaty goes through this power is lost and no compensation for it appears. There is no consideration worthy of the name offered in the St. Lawrence agreement for the surrender of such rights. It is unreasonable and should be objected to by all Americans who do not find a selfish reason for opposing successful water transportation down the Mississippi valley from the foot of the lakes to New Orleans and the gulf.

The inadvisability of surrendering national sovereignty is general and there is no specific justification for it in this case. No one region of the United States can reasonably ask for a transfer of national rights to the apparent injury of another section. The Stimson treaty is virtually a concession of territory to a foreign nation. It virtually extends Canadian jurisdiction into the United States and it is not in American history that such a thing can be lightly done.

Under the Root doctrine the United States will make its own decisions within its own territory. That right may be used justly, but when it has been given up it cannot be used at all. The St. Lawrence proposal is preposterous.

A BROTHERHOOD BLOWS UP.

Where other international conferences have gone in stodgy circumlocomotion to find their way out by the self-same door through which they came the conference of the Interparliamentary union at Geneva gave the chamber of the council of the league of nations the works instantly. The high hats of the brotherhood of man are still groping their way about the streets dodging the pieces they apprehend are falling.

The interparliamentarians were brisk and got to business at once. Pierre Renaudel, French Socialist, demanded to know by what credentials or qualifications the Italian Fascists entered a conference of parliamentarians and what, indeed, they knew of parliaments, having abolished their own. When he had added that there was no liberty, no freedom of opinion and no justice in Italy the Italian representatives lost all the suavity which Geneva aims to protect in even the most futile international conference, and in the uproar which followed Renaudel, in memory of Matteotti, launched the fatal word "assassins."

What ensued cannot be too highly commended as a model for any Geneva assemblage. The arms conference happened to be holding a decorous wake in another room, but the disarmers streamed out in alarm to run from the scene of battle. For hours Geneva was rocking on its foundations and the worst may be yet to come.

The interparliamentarians had done more in five minutes than other conferences have done in five years. They exhibited the state of Europe. They blew up in candor rather than evaporated in guile and pretense. They told the world where they stood, and if there isn't an unshaken chimney top in the town there at least has been one honest international assemblage.

IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.

The devotion of the representatives of Russian bolshevism and Italian Fascism to the cause of disarmament has a fine flavor of irony. Both are all for the American plan of reduction and express scorn of French and British hesitations. The explanation is not far to seek. Both represent a régime of force, of deliberate organized tyranny over the individual. But the reductions proposed by the American government would increase their relative strength. The abolition of heavy guns and of modern mechanism like bombers would not weaken the control of Stalin or Mussolini at home, and in international conflict would reduce the advantage of industrial nations over the Red army and even the Italian Fascist forces.

The question of armament reduction is not so simple as its ardent proponents imagine. There is no question that the relief of overtaxed peoples from the heavy charges of armaments is very desirable. But there are other considerations, as every negotiation for reduction discloses. It is easy for humanitarians to exhort governments to trust one another, but any reader of history ought to be aware of numerous grounds of distrust. The reduction of disciplined forces and of armament will reduce the defense of order from revolution and of highly civilized and pacific nations from less advanced and more numerous nations. It will increase the power of mobs and mobocrats. It will expose the evolutionary processes of advanced governments to violent interruption and destruction.

The bolshevik autocrat is for disarmament because his industrial development is backward, while he has an organization of force in the Red army, with unlimited reserves of man power, in a people inured to despotism. The maintenance of bolshevik rule has not required and does not require any of the things the Russian emissary at Geneva is so willing to abolish. But if democratic and capitalist Europe were disarmed Red Russia could probably overwhelm it.

Fascism in Italy does not need heavy armament to maintain its internal authority. Italy, relieved from expenditure upon it, would be stronger both financially and in relative military strength.

Both the communist régime and its cousin, Fascism, are founded on ruthless force. They are not advocating the reduction or elimination of armaments because they are willing to rely upon pacific processes of government and international relations. They favor it only so far as it is compatible with or favorable to their own relative power.

TAX SHIRKERS.

Property owners who have refused, although able, to pay any part of their real estate taxes, regardless of the fact that in any controversy there is a payment which is due beyond dispute, take advantage of the protections which other property owners meeting their obligations support. If the condition to which these delinquents contribute became more general it would result in higher insurance rates from which they could not escape.

Because of tax delinquencies for many of which there is no excuse the fire and police pay rolls are falling behind. Pay days are deferred and they are hard to meet. The public employés who protect property are feeling the pinch which comes from uncollected city revenue. The cause of this is plain to them. It lies in the refusal of financially able taxpayers to meet even part of their obligations to the city.

Not all taxpayers can raise the money to meet their tax bills and there is no moral reproach on them. But other owners are able. They merely take advantage of the litigation in which taxable property is involved and of the reluctance to proceed by tax sales to profit from advantages for which other citizens must pay.

They are imposing not only on the property owner who pays but on the city employés who protect property and are not paid.

Editorial of the Day

TALKING TO EUROPE BY CABLE.

[New York Times.]

We pick up the telephone and ask for a number in Piccadilly. Fifteen minutes later the operator announces: "All ready for London." Talking through the ether over the sea is still so novel that it is a historical event for most of us. What if there is sometimes a grinding, hissing and sputtering which tells of electrical disturbances far out at sea, and what if service is now and then interrupted? A voice has come to us from the other side of the earth.

Those restless telephone engineers are not satisfied with what the rest of us regard as a miracle. Two of them, Bancroft Gherardi and Frank B. Jewett of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, modestly inform the International Electric congress in Paris that, while they have no reason to be ashamed of what has been done in linking two worlds together by mere speech, they hope to do more. One after another, technical difficulties have been overcome, now by waves that measure miles from crest to crest, and now by waves that measure but yards. To ease the minds of diplomats and bankers, both notoriously given to secrecy, a trans-Atlantic conversation is so thoroughly scrambled out of all recognition that it baffles the eavesdropper and becomes intelligible only when unscrambled at the receiving end. But with static and the vagaries of short waves it is not so easy to cope, although wonders have been accomplished.

So we are promised a 2,000 mile cable between Ireland and Newfoundland, and over it we are to talk just as we do from New York to San Francisco. In our ignorance we ask: Why wasn't this thought of before? Have we not been talking over land wires from coast to coast for years? Gherardi and Jewett patiently explain that as our voices die away with the distance they must be amplified every fifty or one hundred miles. Thus to revive dying words on a submarine cable is impossible. If we invoke high power, the equivalent of an electric yell which can be picked up on the other side of the ocean, we stir up the atoms in the cable—make them rattle so audibly with electric heat that conversation is impossible. If it were not for paragutta, a new insulating material, and parainvar, a new magnetic alloy, there could be no promise of a talking cable.

When it is laid the cable will be a single track railway. Only one way speech will be possible. Yet New York and London will both talk and listen because of ingenious voice operated switches. Talk, and your voice will automatically sidetrack everything but the listening ear. Yet so quick will be the switches that a flow of words can be interrupted by interjected remarks. Thus words will be tossed back and forth over that single line and a new interpretation will be given to Mother Shipman's "and thoughts around the world shall fly in the twinkling of an eye."

"FRENCH SHOUT 'ASSASSINS' AT ITALIANS."—The Trib. If the Italians know the French at all they will not get excited about that. A fat French lady walking down the Boul Mich will scream "assassin" at a French gentleman who blunders against the loaf of bread she is carrying. A Paris cabby will yell "assassin" at you if you try to pay him only the legal fare. The concierge will not only call you "assassin" but a great many other things not nearly so nice if you stay out after hours and ring the bell to get to your own room. And tell the cook in the Burning Dog restaurant that the onion soup is too greasy or too cold or something like and find out how many kinds of a lowdown, red handed, despicable assassin you are. Oh, no, if we were the Italians we wouldn't get a bit het up if the French called us assassins.

DEVOTIONS.

I think God never meant that we should do
Devotions at a stated day and hour.
He does not ask perfume or lovely hue
At intervals from blooming shrub or flower.

I think that God looks down from Heaven the while
And sees our charity—our happiness.
I think He smiles each time He sees us smile.
He does not wait the Seventh Day to bless.

I think we worship Him; I think we pray
With every cheerful task we do all day.

CACTUS JACK GARNER is qualifying for the presidential nomination when Mr. Roosevelt finishes his two terms. On a fishing trip in Texas Cactus Jack caught seven bass weighing from three to five pounds and two big soft shelled turtles. The two big soft shelled turtles prove that Cactus Jack (sometimes called Postoffice Jack) is well qualified for the presidency. Even Silent Cal and Mr. Hoover never caught two big soft shelled turtles in addition to seven bass weighing from three to five pounds in one afternoon. It must now be admitted by one and all that Cactus Jack has the necessary qualifications demanded for the presidency of these so-called United States of America.

WHEN MILK IS HARMFUL.

IN ORIENTAL countries, and particularly in China and Japan, there are almost no cows. Nor are there any other milk giving animals, at least in number commensurate with the human population. Chinese and Japanese babies are nourished on mother's milk until they are old enough to eat soups, meats, and breads. When no supply of mother's milk is available the baby gets a milk made from soy beans. Older persons drink soy bean milk and eat a cheese made from it.

In this country it occasionally becomes necessary to stop the use of milk of any kind and from any source in feeding a given baby. One of the principal reasons for this is the development of tetter. When this appears in the hair it is apt to be called cradle cap; when on the face, eczema. The child has become sensitized to some ingredient in the food, and the one that comes immediately under suspicion is milk.

To change radically a baby's food is hazardous. Therefore it is customary to first try coal tar ointments as a means of cure. Experimenting with the milk portion of the diet is generally begun by substituting skim milk for whole milk, in the hope that the offending ingredient is the cream. Since cradle cap is especially apt to develop in hot weather, and the need of fats at that season is lessened, it may be that the baby will thrive for several months on a low fat diet. It may be advisable to give a moderate amount of fats from other sources; for instance, liver oils, meat fats, vegetable fats. They may be given in soups.

If the low fat diet fails and the eruption continues to be annoying, one may feed soy bean milk. In treating a number of cases of this skin trouble in babies, Drs. Levy and Finkelstein made use of a proprietary soy bean flour. This flour is partly dissolved and partly suspended in water and fed from a bottle just as though it were milk. The hole in the nipple needs to be slightly enlarged. They began with somewhat small quantities, say about two-thirds as much per day of the solution as would be used of a milk mixture. The solution they used was somewhat weak—about two-thirds the full strength as given in the directions. As soon as it was established that the baby could digest the soy bean milk the strength of the mixture and the daily quantity given were brought up to standard.

After a short period of observation sugar was added to the soy bean milk, cane sugar being preferred for the purpose. This feeding was used with a few babies only one month of age, some two, and others three months of age. Most of those with whom it was used were between three and nine months old. It was found that most of the babies liked the soy bean milk after a day of trial, and all grew and thrived. The eruption faded satisfactorily in nearly all cases. Both cod liver oil and fruit juice were given, as is the present day custom.

MARATHON DANCING.

Mrs. W. R. writes: My daughter insists on taking part in endurance dancing contests. At present she is in one and has danced 325 hours. Previously she won third prize in one by dancing three and a half months. Physicians who have examined her say she is sound and that the work has not harmed her. I think she will suffer from this hard work in later years, even though no immediate harm is done. What do you think?

REPLY.

I think I agree with you, though there is no evidence to support us. These things are too new for that kind of evidence. I have seen people who have taken part in one or more of these so-called bunion contests, and I have not seen proof that any immediate harm was done. But you are interested in what is going to happen in the long run—as you should be.

MINERS' CONSUMPTION.

Mrs. J. B. H. writes:

1. What is the cause of eczema? Is it deeper than a skin disease? What length of time does it run and is it liable to return? Should one diet and, if so, what kind of diet? What is the treatment of the disease?

2. What is the cause of miners' tuberculosis? How does it differ from pulmonary tuberculosis? Is it ever curable? What would help? What length of time does a patient generally live?

REPLY.

1. Eczema is a word applied to a group of skin diseases. If the group has any common characteristics they are chronicity and tendency to be moist or to ooze. The answers to your subquestions depend on which disease you have in mind. The answers proper for one would be exactly wrong for others.

2. Most cases called miners' tuberculosis are really cases of ordinary consumption. However, there are cases of chronic lung inflammation found in miners that are caused by dust. They go by the names anthracosis, silicosis, siderosis—according to the dust which causes the trouble. These diseases cause cough and asthma, shortness of breath, lack of endurance, and inefficiency. They are not curable in the proper sense, nor do they cause death. However, tuberculosis and other serious infections are apt to complicate.

WON'T HURT THE BABY.

Mrs. J. W. C. writes: I have been advised to give my baby fennel tea once a day, or two or three times a week when he has colic. My friend says it won't hurt him and she brought up her four children on it, and she has lovely children.

REPLY.

By all means follow your friend's advice. Giving fennel tea is something of a back-to-Methuselah proposition. It has been used in baby care for thousands of years and if it did any harm I am sure that fact would have been discovered.

I have seen a host of children who had been given fennel tea in babyhood and who are not lovely. Therefore, do not expect too much.

FARM MORTGAGE.

Chicago, July 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a mortgage on a farm in Montana and now the state highway commission wants to buy a few acres to build a state highway. They have made a bargain with the farmer for a certain sum. What chance have I of collecting anything from the state commission for signing a partial release of mortgage? C. K.

If they are willing to take the property subject to your mortgage and do not intend to lay pavement upon it then we see no way in which you can object to the transaction. If they are taking action which would be inconsistent with your mortgage security, then you would be entitled to name your own terms for a partial release.

OWNER MUST MAINTAIN.

Chicago, July 20.—[Friend of the People.]—About three years ago we put up a new building with new sewerage in it. Now we find out that our building is being flooded with the sewer backing up and we have had several firms rod out the sewer. They inform us that the sewer is stopped up between the street car tracks. Is this our fault and who will have to pay for this? So far my private office, which has a linoleum on, is ruined and infested with ants.

E. E. P.

I beg to say that the main sewer at this point is in good condition and that the private drain stub is blocked between the curb and the main sewer. The house drain was completed and tested Nov. 1, 1928. As the private drain begins at its connection to the main sewer, its maintenance is up to the owner. GEORGE E. McGRATH,
Supt. Bureau of Sewers.

BONDHOLDERS.

Chicago, July 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own a bond on a building now defaulted. I have been requested by a trust company to deposit my bond with their committee. I have also been requested by an independent committee composed of bondholders to deposit my bond with a certain bank. Will you please advise which of these committees I should deposit my bond with?

J. F. G.

The decision on such questions depend upon the value of the pledged assets, the financial responsibility of the maker whose name is signed to the bonds, the reputation of the members of the committee and the proposal which the committee makes. We are not in a position to investigate the facts for you. If you are skeptical as to the offered plan we would suggest that you join with other bondholders in employing an attorney to investigate the facts and determine on a course of action.

WATER SUPPLY.

Chicago, July 20.—[Friend of the People.]—Please inform me how I can have water brought into my home. I have been living and owning my home here for ten years, and have to get along without one of life's greatest necessities. I am only 118 feet north of the nearest water main, and still have no water running to my home. H. S.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 25, 1916.

LONDON.—While the German lines along the Dvina river were crumpling up before one of the most furious attacks of the war, the German emperor and his chief of staff today were rushing toward the scene of the latest German reverse oblivious for the time being to all developments on the western front. In London's view the kaiser has given notice that the great Russian menace overshadows all else. Driving a wedge through the breach he made yesterday in the German lines south of Riga, Gen. Kuropatkin today swept Von Hindenburg's forces back along a front of 30 miles to a depth at one point of 12 miles. Not since the great Russian offensive began have the Russians won such a wide stretch of territory at one stroke. Kuropatkin's drive was preceded by an intense bombardment lasting four days, which battered into ruins the German defense along the coast line from the Gulf of Riga to Uxkull. Meanwhile on the Lipa river front, close to the northern Galician border, Gen. Brussiloff's troops have broken through Gen. von Linsingen's lines again and cleared the enemy out of the village of Galitchanie on the south bank of the river.

OTHER WAR NEWS.—A heavy loss of life on both sides is reported as a result of the British drive into Pozieres, where the Anzacs have reached the German third line of defense. Lieut. Marchal, a French aviator, during a daring flight over Berlin, dropped "humanity" proclamations which stated that though he could do so, he refrained from bombarding the open town and "thus killing the women and innocent children." Marchal was forced to descend, however, over Poland and was taken prisoner. Premier Asquith of Great Britain asked the house of commons for a record war credit of $2,250,000,000. He assured the commons of ultimate victory for the allies.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Between six and seven hundred men of the First brigade, Illinois infantry, dropped from the heat today on a hike to Ten Mile hill. Regular army officers here declare it the worst movement of unopposed troops they ever witnessed. Gen. Funston used the word "ghastly" in describing the maneuver. Almost every bush between Camp Wilson and Ten Mile hill was doing umbrella service for exhausted militiamen. The hospital corps was insufficient to care for all the men who fell under the broiling sun and whole squads of Chicago boys were left without attention for hours. The Red Cross rushed the soldiers back to San Antonio after the march. Officers of the First regiment are accused of trying to make a record. Three Negroes of the Eighth infantry were shot during a barroom battle tonight by the provost guard of the Nineteenth regulars. They are Sergt. William L. Blue, 3527 State street, and Privates Edward Lightborne and Sam R. Williams, both of 3514 Rhodes avenue.

CHICAGO.—Cy De Vry, keeper of the Lincoln park zoo, because of a dispute over salary, is determined to leave Chicago to take charge of the Selig Polyscope company's zoo in California. De Vry, who has had charge of the zoo for 28 years and who has been receiving an annual salary of $5,600, recently was offered $7,800 if he would take charge of the Selig zoo in Los Angeles. He took the matter up with the Lincoln park commissioners and agreed to stay for $5,650, but the commissioners thought that too much and voted to pay him $4,000. This resulted in his decision to leave the job.

THE FORGOTTEN COUNTRY.

Chicago, July 22.—In your editorial of July 13 on "Academic Freedom" you bring conspicuously forward a very grave matter which I have known to be publicly emphasized but once before, namely, the "freedom" of silence in schools, colleges, and universities. You say:

"Our interest was to inquire why in the academic world there was so little active defense of American principles and ideals, of American conditions, and of the American order generally. This, we think, is something to meditate upon, at least by those of us who cherish Americanism as we have conceived it. . . .

"What is believed and taught by teachers is of great moment to the nation and there is reason for distrust of any institution which, while purporting to be engaged in disinterested research and instruction, finds in its membership no defenders and even no impartial expositors of an order, a system of principles and institutions, and a history of achievement such as ours."

Before the annual meeting of the American Bar association in Washington in 1914 Chief Justice White told what had been said to him by an American of both national and international repute who had recently concluded at one of the great universities in the east a series of lectures on our governmental system. At the close of the series a young man about to be graduated approached the speaker to thank him for enlightenment and to say that "yours are the first good words for the government of the United States that I have heard since the beginning of my university career."

The freedom of silence, or of sneer, is as much to be feared as that of talking to excess.

In addition to the silence and the sneers there is a great deal of affirmative teaching and carefully planned writing against the American system. "New Lights on American History," for example, widely used as a textbook and once [if not now] in the Chicago schools, was prepared by a professor at one time in the University of Iowa, where he lived on the American taxpayer, to show that our revolutionary fathers were all wrong and that if the American case had been tried in a court of law they would have lost. Prof. McIlwain of Harvard, writing in disproof of that ["The American Revolution"], pointed out that the idea prevails among instructors in history in the leading institutions of learning.

THE SCOUTS.

Chicago, July 13.—THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE of July 10 carried a very excellent editorial under the heading of "Orders of Chivalry." As president of the Chicago council I want to thank you for this editorial.

Scouting, as you know, is supported by public contribution and we sometimes find it difficult to make people appreciate its value at this time.

It stays mostly on the machine in front, but during this evening's rainstorm it came in my window. It seems to be exhausted. It has a rubber band which we took off, and it has a number on rubber of 195. Also it has a metal ring on which there are numbers as follows: C H U-30-8641. MRS. C. J. NELSON.

SIAM IN INTERNATIONAL TRADE.

New York, June 30.—In view of statements in the papers relative to the economic debacle in Siam it may be interesting to have pointed out how the situation there is of vital importance to the world in general.

A national credit system resting on the gold standard is as well suited to the United States as it is unsuited to primitive people, such as the Siamese and Chinese. Despite this obvious fact, Siam listened to the western siren song of impractical theorists and adopted the gold standard and thus took the road to economic ruin, followed by revolution. The great rice export markets of the world are Burma, Siam, and French Indo-China; until four years ago Indo-China currency was the silver piastre and Siam's the silver tical. In 1923 the French put Indo-China on the gold standard and sold its silver; shortly thereafter Siam followed suit. All was well until China, because of her advantageous export position due to cheap depreciated silver money exchange, undermined the trade of the east and materially helped to force Burma, together with Great Britain, off the gold standard in 1931.

Since during the last few months, the depreciation of the Indian rupee, now linked to depreciated sterling, has given to Burma a 25 per cent advantage through exchange over Siam and Indo-China, the rice business has gone to Rangoon [in Burma] and the important export rice trade of Bangkok, in Siam, and Saigon, in Indo-China, is ruined on account of their disadvantageous exchange position. Siam, being the weak angle of the rice commerce triangle, broke down first economically. Today the Indo-Chinese gold piastre may be likened to an island completely surrounded by a sea of depreciated Chinese taels, Siamese ticals, Japanese yen, and Straits Settlements dollars, so that French Indo-China must next go into economic chaos with all her neighbors. Already this impending collapse has been foreshadowed by revolutionary activities due to distress.

The effect on America and the western world of depreciated oriental silver money and the advantage it gives the eastern exporter and the effect it has in bringing down the price of all commodities, including Shanghai finished cotton goods, is best left to local observation.

Americans who are in the habit of going occasionally to Canada or Mexico can visualize how low exchange works as a tariff, keeping out American goods, and how it likewise works as an export bonus on anything produced in the low exchange country. Unless Americans arouse themselves to the importance of this stoppage of commerce by disequilibrium of exchange, and something is done about it, this four wheel brake on the return to prosperity will continue.

BOOKS REVEAL FINANCIAL MAZE OF RAIL UNION

Brotherhood Crippled by Collapse of Bank.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., July 24.—[Special.]—Recent Washington reports concerning the financial distress of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are amply confirmed by a study of the records of the defunct Standard Trust bank, cornerstone of the glittering financial edifice erected by the late Warren S. Stone, brotherhood president, who led his men to the dizzy heights of economic power and incurred a posthumous censure when the structure began to crumble at his death.

The Standard bank and its six branches, a relic of the merger of the old Brotherhood National bank with another institution, failed last Dec. 21 with liabilities of $11,500,000. Of this sum, according to court records, the bank directors, their relatives, business associates, and enterprises, owed $2,628,000, or 22.79 per cent of the total. The brotherhood was a principal stockholder of the bank, owning 17,292 shares, and under the Ohio law faces a liability of $407,300 and a capital loss of the same amount. The shares were valued at $25 par.

State Official Helpful.

The Ohio state banking department as yet has instituted no suits to collect the liability, the policy of the bank commissioner, Ira J. Fulton, being to nurse along the stockholders and other debtors in hopes of eventual economic recovery. Meanwhile Alvanley Johnston, grand chief engineer of the brotherhood and a director of the bank, has been busy in a forlorn effort to have the institution reopened with federal funds.

Mr. Johnston owed the bank $26,610 on closing day. He is reported to have called at the White House recently with David B. Robertson, chairman of the railway labor executives association, and William N. Doak, secretary of labor, seeking a loan of $5,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The request, it is understood, was made without sponsorship or authority of the Ohio banking department, and was turned down.

For the moment Mr. Johnston and other brotherhood officers are sitting tight and saying nothing, except to members of the brotherhood advisory board, who have been in protracted sessions here every day for the past week. The brotherhood, itself, owed the bank $15,612 on unsecured loans.

Brotherhood Officer Debts.

Debts of brotherhood officers besides Mr. Johnston were: T. J. Bissett, first assistant grand chief, $41,865 on his own note; James R. Cassell, secretary-treasurer, and W. E. Dunigan, assistant grand chief, $21,465 on single and joint notes. The Cassell-Dunigan notes were secured in part by such collateral as Otis Steel common, Richman Brothers common, White Motors common, and stock of the Standard Trust itself.

The Ohio banking law provides, incidentally, that "no bank shall loan money on the security of its capital stock unless such security be necessary to prevent loss on debts previously contracted." R. M. Huston, liquidating officer at the bank, has declined to say whether the Cassell-Dunigan bank stock was pledged as initial or substitute collateral and the records of the Cuyahoga county court do not indicate.

Loans of the brotherhood officers, however, were meager in comparison with those of other directors, business men and politicians, who came into the picture when the Brotherhood bank and Standard Trust were merged. The largest single debt on the books is that of the Standard corporation, investment affiliate of the bank. The affiliate owed $930,000, none of it secured.

Owed by President's Kin.

The bank president, C. Stirling Smith, who was executive vice president of the Brotherhood bank before the merger, owed nothing on notes. His only liability was $28,625, represented by the 1,145 shares of stock he owned. His relatives were on the books for $202,000, however, their loans being as follows: C. E. Smith, his sister, $24,000; W. D. M. Smith, his brother, $50,116; M. E. Smith, his deceased wife, $44,300, and J. C. Butchart, his father-in-law, $34,000.

Another director with large credit was President Smith's brother-in-law, A. J. Pearson, judge of common pleas in Cuyahoga county. The judge's notes totaled $112,900, a fact to which guarded allusion has been made in recent criticism of the Cuyahoga county bench by leaders of the Cleveland bar.

Evan Evans, a director, connected with a Chicago contracting company, owed $20,000, on part of which 300 shares of the Chicago Automatic Machine company were pledged. A. L. Garford, president of Cleveland Automatic Machine, owed $62,500.

Among the politicians, Maurice Bernon, Democratic boss of Cuyahoga county, was shown to be co-maker of a $26,000 note of his brother, A. A. Bernon, while William R. Hopkins, former Cleveland city manager and a director of Standard Trust, owed $2,000. When the bank closed Judge Bernon was named liquidating officer, but has yielded most of the duties of the office of Mr. Huston, formerly a federal bank examiner.

Johnston Not Criticized.

Until now there has been no disposition to criticize Chief Johnston. A two fisted, truculent Scotchman, who was once an engine wiper on the Great Northern, he became chieftain in 1927, proclaiming himself no fancy financier but a believer in the philosophy that the fight for higher wages, shorter hours and better conditions was the true function of a labor union.

He embarked on a program of liquidating if possible some of the real estate promotions, banks, cooperative stores, and coal mines which formed the Stone financial pyramid. The Brotherhood National bank, however, was an enterprise in which Stone had seeded the brotherhood's resources too deeply to be extricated.

Born on an Iowa farm in 1860, three years before the brotherhood was organized, Stone began his labor career as a fireman on the Rock Island. By 1900 he had become an engineer and been elected chairman of the arbitration board of his division of the union. In 1903 when the grand chief, Peter M. Arthur, fell dead while addressing a union meeting in Winnipeg, Stone was called to Cleveland to replace him. It was his first trip east of Chicago.

Stone's Brotherhood Dream.

For the first decade of his régime and through the war years, Stone held strictly to the policies of his predecessor. It was in the postwar boom that he first conceived his dream of eminence, a dream in which some said he visioned himself as the labor union dictator, governor of vast financial enterprises, and one of the mighty men of the nation.

The brotherhood opened its national bank in 1920. Within a short time its resources had swelled to $20,000,000. Stone's salary was increased from $13,500 to $25,000 and he began traveling frequently to New York to make his voice heard in the marts of Wall street.

The brotherhood purchased the $40,000,000 Equitable building, then the largest office structure in New York. They erected the Park Lane villa, still one of the finest apartment houses in Cleveland. They acquired the Coal River Collieries company in West Virginia, bought into laundries and cooperative stores, and opened or acquired banks in Philadelphia, Boston, Birmingham, Minneapolis, Spokane, Seattle, San Francisco, Jackson, Mich., and Hammond, Ind.

Partner of Schwab.

Stone was considered to have finally arrived when he took his seat as director of the Empire Trust company along with Charles M. Schwab. It was announced that resources of the brotherhood totaled $145,000,000.

The Florida land boom came. The brotherhood acquired 50,000 acres in Sarasota county, and laid out the city of Venice, expending $8,000,000 to make a model city for retired engineers and their families. A 16 story structure was thrown up for the brotherhood's headquarters.

At the triennial brotherhood convention in 1924 Stone ruled as a dictator. Finance, he told his men, was as simple as running a peanut stand and they, the best paid and most skilled workers in the world, were leading the whole labor movement towards broader fields. The convention endorsed his political and financial policies unanimously.

First rumblings of discontent came after the defeat of La Follette. Back in the roundhouses on division points throughout the country the engineers began grumbling about the heavy assessments.

On June 9, 1925, his secretary entered the grand chief's office to find Stone slumped over his desk in a coma.

Stone's Death a Shock.

On June 12 Stone died, the cause being variously described as a heart attack and kidney trouble.

In accordance with the bylaws the advisory board elected W. P. Prenter, first vice president and insurance actuary, to succeed Stone. The new grand chief, already 70 years old, was rated an experienced man in finance, and announced that the Stone policies would be carried on. The trend of affairs was against him, however, and the convention of 1927 was drawing near.

Within a year the New York cooperative bank and the Equitable office building, prize possession of the brotherhood, were sold. The advisory board levied a $5 monthly assessment on each of the 80,000 members, later amending the rule to permit the members to pay the full $120 assessment at once, in exchange for indebtedness certificates bearing interest.

The delegates were ready to blow up when they arrived for the convention. Prenter lay ill of pneumonia at his home, but B. E. Lindquist, secretary-treasurer, opened the books for inspection. The wrath of the delegates could scarcely be contained. Some were for summoning Prenter out of his sickbed to answer charges. They compromised by booting Prenter and Lindquist out, abolishing their offices, and voting each guilty of "laxity, carelessness and indifference."

Prenter died within a few months of a broken heart, according to his friends.

Alvanley Johnston came into power. On his program "back to unionism," he called in Claudius Huston, Tennessee financier and politician, to run the brotherhood's finances. The Coal River Collieries went into receivership. The banks, excepting the one in Cleveland, were disposed of. A $4,000,000 mortgage was added to the $5,000,000 already being carried on the bank building and office headquarters here.

Reorganizing the Bank.

The bank's affairs called for reorganization. New capital was supplied from the proceeds of the $4,000,000 mortgage. Huston, then chairman of the Transcontinental Oil company, became a director of the bank, as did Judge A. G. Newcomb, City Manager Hopkins, Postmaster Henry Taylor, and others.

Public funds were deposited in the bank, these funds reaching $4,300,000, more than one-third the total deposits, before the bank closed. The surety companies guaranteeing these funds were cautious, however. They required the bank directors to deposit with a trustee $1,300,000 assets of the bank for indemnity in the event of loss.

The state banking department, discovering the diversion of assets, advanced the claim that the directors exceeded their powers and has filed suit in the state and federal courts for recovery of the collateral.

103 YEARS OLD

MRS. REBECCA PLYMIRE.

Washington, Pa., July 24.—To live to be 103 years old and still enjoy living was the experience today of Mrs. Rebecca Plymire of 67 Baltimore avenue, this city. Mrs. Plymire reads the newspapers every day, listens to radio programs, enjoys neighborhood gossip and is mentally alert. A few months ago she suffered a fall and was forced to take to her bed. Members of her family feared she would never recover, due to her great age, but she did.

Fire Causes $10,000 Loss in South Side Warehouse

An explosion, for which spontaneous combustion was blamed, started a fire early yesterday in the rear of a storage warehouse at 4250-52 Evans avenue, owned by William Patterson. Firemen, summoned by a 4-11 alarm, kept the flames from spreading from the two story rear of the building to the front section, four stories high. The damage was estimated at $10,000.

WIFE HELD AS SLAYER.

Edrar Bastien, 35 years old, 1536 South Kedzie avenue, a Negro, was found stabbed to death yesterday in his home. Police arrested his wife, Frances, also colored, and charged her with the crime.

LIBBY HOLMAN HIDES TO ESCAPE MORBIDLY CURIOUS, FATHER SAYS

Cincinnati, O., July 24.—(AP)—Libby Holman, widow of the slain Smith Reynolds, tobacco heir, has gone into seclusion "from the morbidly curious," her father said today in a statement bitterly assailing the "self-seeking motives" of North Carolina authorities.

His statement came as a denial to insistent reports that the former Broadway favorite had disappeared. Holman said that he would produce his daughter any time her presence was desired by authorities.

"Libby," her father said, "is secluded from the morbidly curious, hoping that by seclusion she may recover her sanity and health conceivably overcome by the grief over the loss of a loved one and by the horrors to which she had been subjected in an inquisition equaled only by those of the middle ages."

HAUSNER, POLISH FLYER, HONORED BY CHICAGOANS

Stanislaus Hausner, flyer, who was rescued recently in the Atlantic after he had clung for eight days to the airplane in which he had attempted to fly from New York to Poland, arrived in the city yesterday to attend a celebration staged for him in Humboldt park by Chicagoans of Polish decent. He announced that he would attempt another trans-Atlantic flight soon.

Hausner arrived at the Municipal airport at 11 a. m. and went to the Lewis hotel, 1166 Milwaukee avenue, where he was the guest of honor at a luncheon. The luncheon was followed by a fete in Humboldt park. He left Chicago last night for Milwaukee.

GERMAN PRINCE ARRESTED FOR SMUGGLING CASH

BERLIN, July 24.—Berlin police blotters now bear a royal name—Lieut. Col. Prince Victor Salvator Carl Maria Leopold Anton Aloissius Joseph Johannes Casimir von Ysenburg—of the ancient Rhinelandish house, Birstein branch. He is accused of violating the republic's stringent decrees governing possession and disposal of foreign currencies.

Police charge that he sold German securities valued at $65,000 and smuggled the money across the border.

The prince has denied the "capital flight" charges and is defending his case. Born in Offenbach on the Main 50 years ago, the prince has become a Berlin resident. He attained the lieutenant colonelcy under the former kaiser, but is retired. In 1908 he married Elisabeth Leontine Rohrer. She was created baroness of Rombach by the grandduke of Hessen on the occasion.

CHINA TO DISPLAY TYPICAL HOME AT CHICAGO'S FAIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 24.—Allen Diehl Albert, assistant to the president of the Chicago Century of Progress exposition, left for Manila this morning after a two day conference with Chinese government officials.

China's plans for participation at the fair will consist of three sections, devoted to ancient and modern art, and industrial development. A novel feature will be a typical Chinese house such as occupied by a well-to-do family.

After his trip to Manila Mr. Albert plans to return to Nanking. H. H. Kung, former minister of industries and brother-in-law of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese dictator, sailed for America today. Mr. Kung plans to investigate the site allotted for the Chinese exhibition at Chicago.

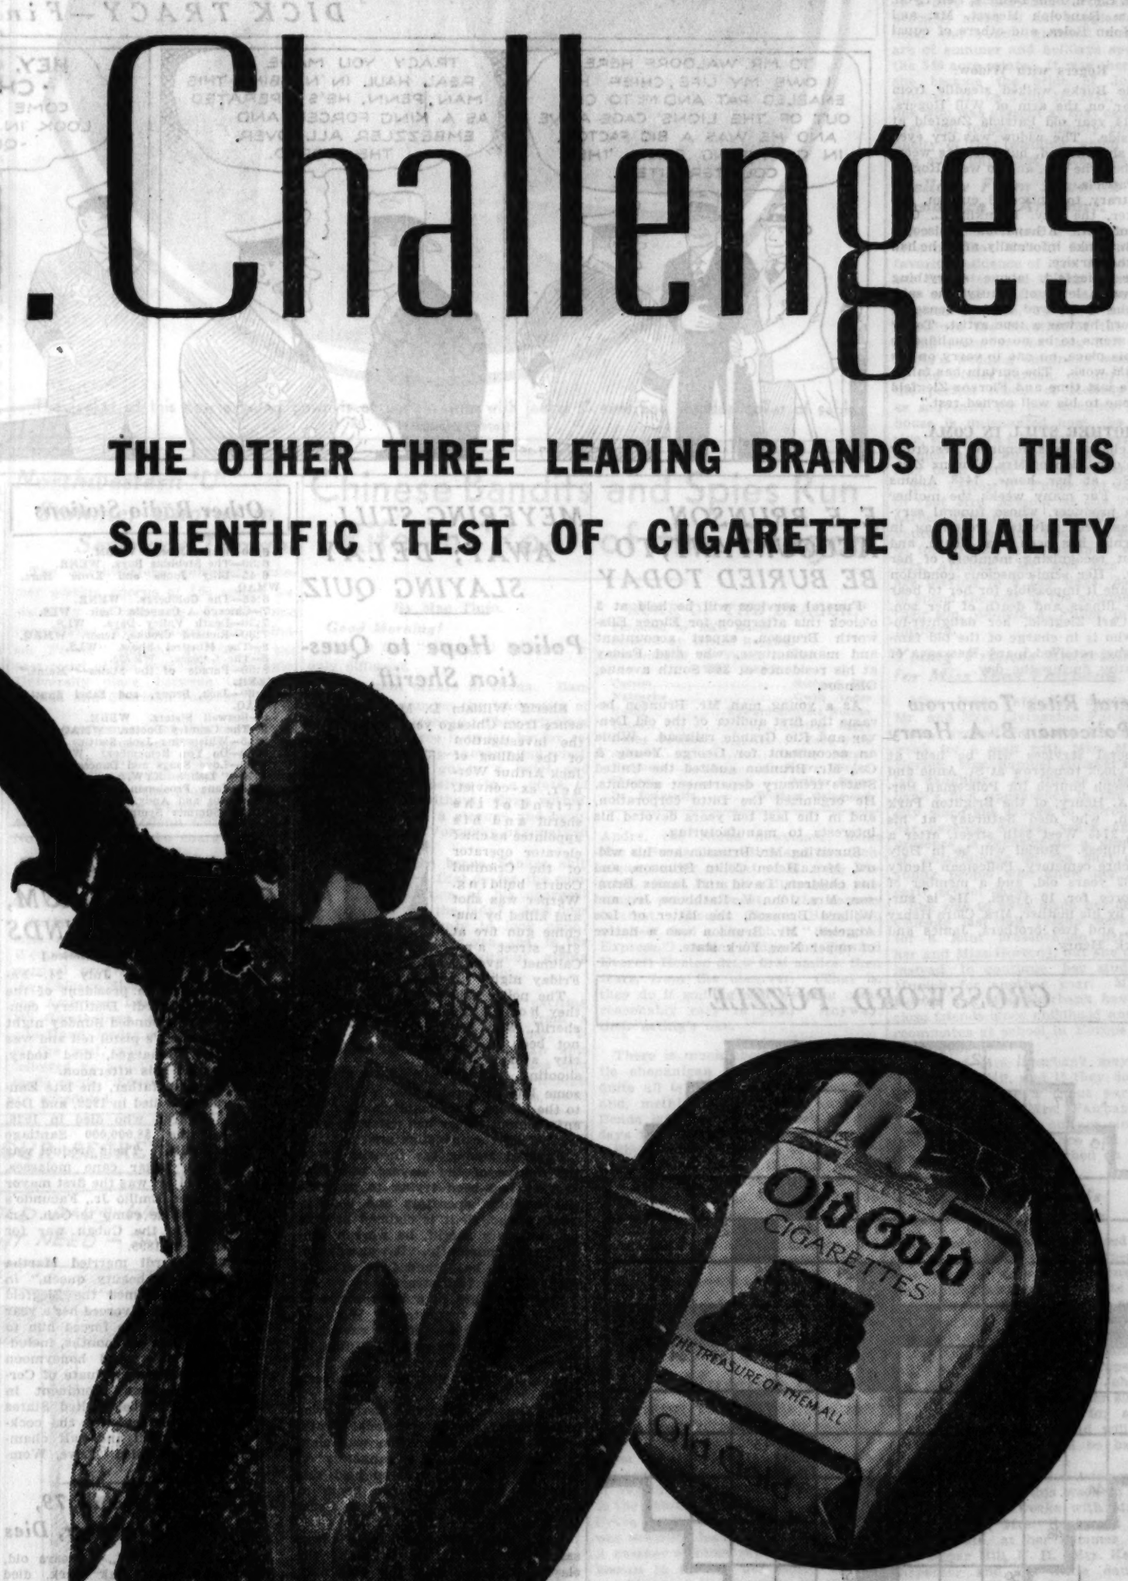
THE OTHER THREE LEADING BRANDS TO THIS SCIENTIFIC TEST OF CIGARETTE QUALITY



You three old-time cigarette brands are very proud of your cigarettes. You have a right to be! Your cigarettes are mighty good.
Each of you, quite naturally, thinks his cigarette is best. You say: "MY cigarette is Milder!" "It's Fresher!" "Kinder!" And so on.
But don't you think you might give Mr. and Mrs. John K. Smoker a little proof?
OLD GOLD begs to suggest that you have any of the great technical universities test your cigarette against OLD GOLD . . . for heat content . . . using the Calorimeter method approved by scientists throughout the world.
Coolness, as you veterans know, is a clue to cigarette quality. It indicates the choicest, purest tobacco. So how about a little cool test?
Maybe you suspect that we know OLD GOLD will win. We don't deny it. This "cool" test* of 4 leading brands has already been made 75 times . . . and OLD GOLD won consistently.
Old Man Science plays no favorites. It's merit that counts with him. He has found the finer and purer tobacco quality of OLD GOLD, just as he tells the purity of pure gold!
NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD
*The Verdict of Science
This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands, measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B.T.U./lb. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:
Old Gold averages 112 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand Z
Tests of the heat of the smoke showed Old Gold smoke definitely cooler than that of the other brands.

ZIEGFELD RITES HELD IN PRIVACY AT LOS ANGELES

Only Close Friends at the Services.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 24.—(AP)—Funeral rites intended to be of the simplest nature, but which partook, nevertheless, of the beauty he knew in life, were held today for the master of theatrical spectacles, Florenz Ziegfe..

In the quest for quiet and privacy, not more than one hundred close friends were informed by telephone of the place of services. They were nea y all notables of stage and screen and their floral tributes banked the little chapel.

The short Episcopal funeral service was read, and a single voice arose, singing the old spiritual, "Going Home," in farewell.

Burial in New York.

The body, now at Forest Lawn Memorial park, will be taken to New York by the widow, Billie Burke, when she completes a motion picture here. Will Rogers, actor and old friend, who arranged the funeral, said Mayor Walker of New York telephoned a request early today that the body be returned as soon as possible to the scene of the Ziegfeld triumphs, so that the city might conduct a public funeral. Mrs. Ziegfeld refused, Rogers said, and insisted that privacy continue.

The services were held at noon. A handful of persons stood about the mortuary entrance and watched the arrival of the mourners—John Barrymore, Marion Davies, Eddie Cantor, Harold Lloyd, Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, William Randolph Hearst, Mr. and Mrs. John Boles, and others of equal fame.

Rogers with Widow.

Billie Burke walked steadily from her car on the arm of Will Rogers, with 14 year old Patricia Ziegfeld at their side. The widow was dry eyed when she entered, but she was weeping when she left, and so were Rogers and Patricia.

Contrary to Episcopal custom, the minister, the Rev. Franklin L. Gibson of St. Athanasius Episcopal church, spoke informally after he had read the service.

"Mr. Ziegfeld, above everything else, was a lover of beauty," he said. "In the finest and noblest sense of the word he was a true artist. Today there seems to be no one qualified to take his place, no one to carry on his splendid work. The curtain has fallen for the last time and Florenz Ziegfeld has gone to his well earned rest."

MOTHER STILL IN COMA.

No change was reported yesterday in the condition of Mrs. Florenz Ziegfeld Sr. at her home, 1448 Adams street. For many weeks the mother of the producer, whose funeral service was held privately yesterday in California, has been near death, and without recognizing members of her family. Her semi-conscious condition has made it impossible for her to hear of the illness and death of her son. Mrs. Carl Ziegfeld, her daughter-in-law, who is in charge of the old family home, received many messages of sympathy during the day.

Funeral Rites Tomorrow for Policeman B. A. Henry

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow at St. Anne and St. Joseph church for Policeman Bernard A. Henry, of the Brighton Park station, who died Saturday at his home, 2745 West 38th street, after a brief illness. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery. Policeman Henry was 32 years old, and a member of the force for 10 years. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Clara Henry Clark, and two brothers, James and Patrick Henry.

E. E. BRUNSON, ACCOUNTANT, TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Elmer Ellsworth Brunson, expert accountant and manufacturer, who died Friday at his residence at 366 South avenue, Glencoe.

As a young man Mr. Brunson became the first auditor of the old Denver and Rio Grande railroad. While an accountant for George Young & Co., Mr. Brunson audited the United States treasury department accounts. He organized the Ditto corporation, and in the last ten years devoted his interests to manufacturing.

Surviving Mr. Brunson are his widow, Mrs. Helen Collin Brunson, and his children, David and James Brunson, Mrs. John V. Rathbone Jr., and Willard Brunson, the latter of Los Angeles. Mr. Brunson was a native of upper New York state.

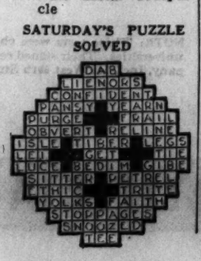
SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



MEYERING STILL AWAY; DELAY SLAYING QUIZ

Police Hope to Question Sheriff.

Sheriff William D. Meyering's absence from Chicago yesterday delayed the investigation of the killing of Jack Arthur Werner, ex-convict, friend of the sheriff and his appointee as chief elevator operator of the Criminal Courts building. Werner was shot and killed by machine gun fire at 81st street and Calumet avenue Friday night.

SHERIFF MEYERING

The police said they hoped the sheriff, who has not been in the city since the shooting, would be able to suggest some line of inquiry that would lead to the killers. The county's chief law enforcement officer has not even been located by the investigators.

Favored among the theories as to the motive of the slayers was that Werner had been trying to prey on slot machine operators and bootleggers. Although it is claimed he was not a deputy sheriff, he wore a deputy's star constantly. It was also reported that he intended to start a speakeasy on 75th street.

The possibility of a labor angle to the crime was suggested by Werner's position as member of the executive board of the International Union of Elevator Starters and Operators. This theory, however, was not taken seriously by the police.

The funeral of Patrick Berrell, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, who was slain at Shawano, Wis., by gangsters on Thursday morning, will be held this morning from the family home in Park Ridge to St. Paul of the Cross church.

Leaders of organized labor, it was said yesterday, intend to make the slaying of Berrell the start of a fight against the encroachments of racketeers into union affairs. A conference to lay plans will be held at 220 South Ashland avenue following the funeral. The favored theory in this case is that Berrell was killed by some members of the almost defunct Red Barker gang who sought to take over his organization.

Another outbreak of gang violence occurred last evening when William Davis, 40 years old, 4170 Drexel boulevard, was seized by four men near his home, carried several miles in an automobile and released after he had been beaten. Davis told the police he was a shirt salesman and knew of no motive for the attack.

U. S. Judge in China Has Cholera; Wife Told; Dies

SHANGHAI, July 24.—When Mrs. Milton Dee Purdy, wife of Judge Purdy of the United States District court for China, was told that her husband was ill with cholera, she collapsed and died within a few minutes. Judge Purdy's condition tonight was serious. He was not informed of his wife's death. The Purdys came here from Minneapolis, Minn., in 1924.

BACARDI, MAKER OF FAMOUS RUM, DIES OF WOUNDS

SANTIAGO, Cuba, July 24.—Facundo Bacardi, vice president of the Ron [rum] Bacardi Distillery company, who was wounded Sunday night when a policeman's pistol fell and was accidentally discharged, died today. He was buried this afternoon.

Bacardi's grandfather, the late Emilio Bacardi, who died in 1922, and Don Facundo Bacardi, who died in 1926, established the $8,000,000 Santiago rum plant in 1862. Their product was distilled from sugar cane molasses. Emilio Bacardi Sr. was the first mayor of Santiago and Emilio Jr., Facundo's father, was aid de camp to Gen. Antonia Maceo in the Cuban war for independence in 1895.

Facundo Bacardi married Martha Durand, Cuba's "beauty queen," in 1916. She later joined the Ziegfeld "Follies." Facundo divorced her a year later alleging that she forced him to spend $2,000,000 in six months, including a round the world honeymoon voyage. Facundo, a graduate of Cornell university, was prominent in social circles of Cuba, United States and Europe. He invented the cocktail of half Bacardi and half champagne, which he called "Love, Women and Money."

Mrs. Celia Churchill, 79, Oak Park Pioneer, Dies

Mrs. Celia Churchill, 79 years old, pioneer resident of Oak Park, died late Saturday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Florence Reed, in Shreveport, La., where she had made her home in recent years, friends learned yesterday. She was the widow of Andrew Z. Churchill, who died six years ago. They had been married 56 years at the time of his death. Mrs. Churchill was born near Elmhurst, and lived in Oak Park more than 50 years. She was a past worthy matron of the Eastern Star. Surviving besides Mrs. Reed is another daughter, Mrs. Angeline Davison of Wilmette. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow at 523 Lake street, Oak Park. Burial will be at Forest Home cemetery.

Civil War Veteran Is 92; Works in Flower Garden

Edward Scharenberg, 5142 Strong street, celebrated his 92nd birthday yesterday by mowing his lawn and working in his flower garden. Mr. Scharenberg is a veteran of the Civil war. He was a member of the village board of Jefferson Park before that community was annexed to Chicago. For many years he was employed in the county clerk's office.

J. L. DONNELLY'S SON FALLS FROM AUTO; INJURED

James L. Donnelly Jr., 1616 Judson avenue, Evanston, 3 year old son of the executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, was seriously injured late yesterday when he fell out the door of a moving automobile.

The accident occurred in Green Bay road in Highland Park while the Donnelly family, including the parents and two other children, Becky, 5, and Mary, 8, were out for a drive. James, riding in the back seat, accidentally opened a side door and toppled out. At the Highland Park hospital doctors said he had suffered a fracture of the right leg and a possible fracture of the skull.

Two deaths increased the Cook county motor toll to 617 since Jan. The victims:

Denis Nelson, 13 years old, 12814 Irving avenue, Blue Island. Died in the Oak Forest infirmary of a skull fracture received Saturday when his bicycle veered into the side of an auto in Midlothian.

Charles Luchtemeyer, 84 years old, 2343 New street, Blue Island, a retired jeweler. Run down Saturday near his home by a car driven by George H. Whippo, 6416 Justine street. He died in St. Francis hospital, Blue Island.

Gilbert Alexander, 32 years old, 5150 South Racine avenue, was arrested yesterday as the driver of an automobile which killed Joseph Smith, 39, of 5659 South Racine avenue, at 54th street and Racine avenue Saturday night. The accident shattered the auto's windshield. The car did not stop. Alexander denied the accident, but was held when slivers of glass, supposedly from his windshield, were found in his hat.

AUTOS SMACK HIM ONCE, TWICE, AND THRICE; HE LIVES!

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—Robert Benitez, law abiding Mexican citizen, is a hard man to kill. He faced extermination in altercations with three different automobiles last night, but is still living, although in a serious condition.

As Benitez was crossing the street in front of his home a car hit him at a high rate of speed. Close behind the first car sped another and it, too, struck Benitez as he was attempting to regain his feet.

The twice flattened Benitez got a breathing spell while awaiting an ambulance, but his luck was still gone, for during the journey to a hospital another automobile collided with the ambulance, throwing the patient to the road, stretcher and all. Benitez finally reached the hospital without further mishap.

2 DROWNED AS BOAT SINKS IN MICHIGAN RIVER

Algonac, Mich., July 24.—(AP)—Two members of a fishing party drowned and 12 others were saved when their 18 foot cabin cruiser sprank a leak and sank in St. Clair river 200 feet off shore early today.

The dead are Lenore Swarthout, 11, and Mrs. Alice Black, 30, both of Dearborn, Mich.

Most of those on board, members of three Dearborn families, were trapped in the cabin when the boat went down. Carl Chors of Marine City, a co-owner of the craft, saved five of the six children on board by pulling them through a window and hoisting them to the roof of the cabin, which was the only part of the boat not submerged. Then they were taken off by canoeists and by the crew of a launch from the yacht of Mrs. Hugh Dilman, anchored nearby.

Mrs. Black, a Fordson high school teacher, is believed to have drowned while searching for her crippled son, Robert, 13, who was saved.

The party put out from Marine City last night.

John C. Finn Funeral Rites to Be Tomorrow

Funeral services for John C. Finn, a real estate dealer on the far south side, will be held at 9:30 a. m., tomorrow in St. Joachim's church, 702 East 91st street. It was incorrectly stated in Sunday's TRIBUNE that the funeral services would be held today. Mr. Finn, who died Friday in the Billings Memorial hospital, was 66 years old. His widow survives. The family home is at 8433 St. Lawrence avenue. A son, Malcolm, was drowned in 1925.

WEALTHY CUBAN VISITING GOTHAM DEAD OF STROKE

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—Col. José Miguel Tarafa of Havana, sugar planter, landowner, railroad operator and one of the wealthiest men in Cuba, died suddenly Saturday evening of a hemorrhage of the brain in his apartment at the Carleton house on East 47th street. He was in his 63d year.

Col. Tarafa was born in Havana Sept. 12, 1870. He was educated there and at a private school in New York City. He became active in sugar growing at an early age. During the war against Spain he won his military title as an aid on the staff of Gen. Calixto Garcia.

Col. Tarafa was closely associated with American capitalists having big interests in Cuba. He was president of the Central Cuban Sugar company, the Central Santo Domingo Sugar company and of the Cuban Northern railway. He built the road as an individual and, after its completion, incorporated it in its present form.

Baby Given Away by His Father Finds a Home

Buddy Farr, eight month old, whose father made a present of him to a fellow passenger on a bus trip here from St. Louis, will start to his new home tomorrow. Miss Bernardine Healy, social worker at St. Vincent's home, will take the baby to his birthplace, Kansas City, where his mother's two sisters will adopt him.

A 'Little Girl Lost' Fine Book for a Hot Day

Temple Bailey Is Author of Refreshing Tale.

"Little Girl Lost," by Temple Bailey. [Penn.] Published July 22.

IT is something of a problem these days to find ways and means of keeping cool. All your wise friends, including your doctor, tell you to wear light clothes, eat lightly, avoid physical exertion and, it might very well be added, mental, too. In that case find yourself a hammock, or even a comfortable chair, find a breeze, sip a lemonade, and reach for a book. There is plenty of summer reading, all right, for those who take the heat seriously.

TEMPLE BAILEY.

The little girl lost in the book of that title by Temple Bailey is Araminta Williams. She is petite, golden, with a skin as fresh and soft as uncrinkled white satin. She piles her hair high on her head in curls, scorns the use of makeup [why shouldn't she? wild roses bloom in her cheeks and a red raspberry is crushed on her lips], wears billowy gowns of silvery white, palest pink and baby blue, and looks wistfully and gently and helplessly into the eyes of adoring males.

And there is Barney who loves little Minta. He is tall and big and blond, and very, very rich. He wants to protect her. Minta will have none of him because she must see a little of life, her soul must be purged by a little suffering. And mainly because there is Janney, who is tall and handsome and dark. He is in the diplomatic service and he is something of a devil. His intentions are not exactly honorable, but first he wants Araminta to be an actress. So obligingly Minta becomes almost overnight an actress of genius. New York goes wild over her, but Minta, deep in her heart, longs for her colored maid, her kitty, and her good kind friends. Janney, throwing what oats he still has in his hands to the winds, decides that after all purity and beauty and simplicity are what he wants in his wife. He tells Minta about it. The plot has thickened, however. Minta gets sick and Barney brings her back to life and she goes home to think things over.

The little girl lost finds herself in the big strong arms of Barney, who wants to protect her. In the last few pages there is a great act of heroism on the part of little Minta and the reader closes the book with a delicate and scarcely audible sigh.

"Dancing Lady," by James Warner Bellah [Farrar & Rinehart], is about the adventures of Janie Bartlow, who can't keep her feet still. Patch, a vaudeville trouper of the best sort, gives her a chance. She takes a step upward on the ladder of success, only to be thrown down again because of a scandal in which, though she is not involved, she has participated unknowingly.

She struggles along, experiencing the bitter lot of a chorus girl trying to make good while staying good. She meets and almost loves Matt Dulaney, a tabloid reporter, but he marries. Then comes a magnate in the theatrical world who loves her in the right way and who puts her name in lights. She finally marries a lovable millionaire playboy, but her marriage only adds another tragedy to her life.

There is good writing in this book and the dialogue is crisp and amusing, sometimes even brilliant. The characters are for the most part real and convincing. Perhaps the best part of the book is the effective creation of atmosphere, the atmosphere of the stage and its higher and lower levels.

"First Your Penny," by Diana Patrick [Dutton], author of such books as "Heart's Garrison" and "The Time of Gold," studies the life of the lovely Amaryllis Sheridan. "Ryll" [for short] is a spoiled and superficial girl at first, but she has the attributes of youth and beauty and recklessness. She gets what she wants without thinking or believing she will have to pay for it. But Amaryllis discovers what the world really is, and she learns what it is to love and to discover the beauty in the fundamentals of life.

Elinor Glyn has, in "Love's Hour" [Macauley], told the story of Aspasia, who had experienced every passion since the world began. She was waiting, however, for her true mate, whom she didn't find among the men who sat at her feet adoring. Finally she met him in the person of a Hungarian count, who was strong and virile and who could wait until the striking of love's hour. Fate keeps them apart for a long time, but finally, after many trials and tribulations, denials and sacrifices, love claims its own. M. D.

Warners Abolish Right of Film Stars to Pick Their Own Parts

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., July 24.—[Special.]—Jack Warner, heading the merged Warner Bros.-First National studio, today clamped a tight lid on all stars of his companies who like to pick and choose their parts.

Warner says "in the future no star of our companies will be allowed a hand in selection of their stories or roles."

The Warner studio has been closed for five weeks and is to reopen next week. In the interval, with most of the force off salary, the studio has revised some of its past system, but nothing so radical has been done as the shutdown on the stars. Darryl Zanuck, associate producer, explained: "In the future no contract will be written granting any of our stars a right or veto privilege over stories or roles."

Zanuck said the past system proved costly, inefficient, and trouble breeding, because it caused halts in the preparation and production of schedule stories; tie-ups when stars walked out or sulked, and created many bitter wrangles between stars and the studio. Jack Warner's statement, which recalled that Warner's studio was the pioneer in turning the movie industry from a silent to a sound film basis, says:

"We believe that in this day of depression we must cater to the public and not to likes or dislikes of the individual player. Almost without exception our great successes have been those pictures in the choice of which we were guided solely by the demands of the public. We believe the producer knows to a greater extent the wants of the public than the star or player."

"Yukon" is Radio-R. K. O.'s contribution to the summer run of arctic films already well under way with the Van Dyke M. G. M. company in Alaska, Fanck's Universal company in Greenland, and another company en route.

Raul Roullen, Brazilian actor at the Fox lot, went down to San Pedro to greet the incoming Olympic games athletes from his homeland. "I see the flag of Brazil. The band play. People sing. I get homesick so quick I break down and cry like a cow," he said.

Ina Claire's divorce from John Gilbert becomes final here Aug. 8. Gilbert's marriage to Virginia Bruce is tentatively scheduled Aug. 11.

A disagreement between Jackie Cooper's mother, Mrs. Mabel Cooper, and officials of the M. G. M. company threatened for a short time to cause trouble in the Chuck Reisner-Lew Stone—Conrad Nagel-Verree Teasdale company making "Father and Son." Mrs. Cooper demanded an accounting on Jackie's earnings from his recent stage appearance trip, but didn't get it, and for two days Jackie was not at the studio, although his mother was. It was all adjusted. Jackie and mother are both back at the studio every day as usual, and Jackie is doing his stuff again.

899 Teachers in Summer Classes at Loyola University

Even without their salaries paid, hundreds of Chicago school teachers are spending their vacations in study. A report from the registrar of Loyola university stated yesterday that there are 289 in attendance at the summer school there. Of 374 lay students enrolled in the undergraduate school, 212 are public school teachers, while 77 are included in the graduate school enrollment of 187 students. There are also more than 500 women of religious orders, who teach school in Chicago, attending the summer session on the Loyola campus, the report adds. Seventy-three per cent of the complete summer enrollment of 1,228 students, or 899 in all, are teachers in public or private schools.

Demonstration Ban Lifted in Germany for Saengerbundfest

FRANKFURT-ON-THE-MAIN, Germany, July 24.—(AP)—Baron Wilhelm von Gayl, reich minister of the interior, raised the ban on demonstrations today to permit a five hour long parade of the saengerbundfest.

Thousands of singers paraded through flag bedecked streets and the world war dead were impressively remembered when the long procession halted for two minutes and the various bands along the line of march intoned the song, "I Had a Comrade." The spectators and marchers sang the refrain while all the city's church bells were tolled.

The chief musical event of the day was a concert of 10,000 voice.

we suggest that you leave your order today with any bookseller. Faraway will be published Friday. A supply will be in the bookstores. But in the case of The Good Companions, and again with Angel Pavement, the demand was far greater and more immediate than the booksellers anticipated, and many readers were compelled to wait several days until additional copies were procured. Your bookseller tries to gauge accurately the needs of his customers. But Mr. Priestley's meteoric rise in popularity makes it impossible to forecast within 50%, the "day-of-publication" sale of FARAWAY. Well Dressed Neck Is Key to Latest Styles

Designers Neglect Rest of 1932 Silhouette.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

ABOUT the saddest thing that could happen to any wide-awake clothes hound this year would be to wake up some sunshiny morning with a stiff neck! For the people who spend all their time designing our costume accessories have decided to neglect the rest of the 1932 silhouette, with a few but casual necessities, and go into the business of "good necking" with an emphasis that will revolutionize the fashion world.

If you don't think such an emphasis is getting around, just wander into your favorite shops and look at the collections of scarfs, collars and capelets and the tricky little what-nots that are ready for the early shopper's neckline!

Practically everything that is new is designed for the upper section of your anatomy. Waistlines and where they are, and where they should be, is fashion knowledge that doesn't seem to be very important, but what you do for your shoulders and how you decorate your neckline marks you as either a dullard or the crafty, cunning lady of fashion that knows her collars and capes.

For instance, the new Ascot scarf. It is of a fascinating new pebbled, dull mat satin called sharkskin. You can buy them in all white or combined with either black or navy. You can also match this scarf with a tailored flat flower for the buttonhole of the dark suit and a white simple flat envelope purse, all fashioned of this unusual heavy satin.

Another scarf idea is the soft knitted oblongs of incredibly soft cotton. They have a slit for your neck, they are knitted in striped effects with plenty of brilliant color schemes and they win first prize honors for the gal that wears a suit. For you can wear them as a sleeveless blouse, an idea that will warm the ribs and hearts of all. This scarf blouse reaches well below the waistline and the two front corners lap around and snap in back, the two back corners lap snugly oevr the front and snap into place without a hint of a wrinkle.

Those scarfs called ponchos are new, different and ought to be the best sellers! A more square shape, also knitted in mesh effect, uses two colors, a white square in the center surrounded by a colored and contrasting border. A square poncho like this ties under each arm well down to the waistline, a particularly warm affair for the shivery shoulders exposed in one of the smart open top sports frocks.

When the designers do digress from shoulder themes and spend some time and thought on capes and coats they click with brilliant success and present a new coat trick in organdy, a short snug rib hugging affair to wear over evening gowns and afternoon frocks of thin wash materials.

The short sleeves are made of double flutings of organdy and the coat itself closes surplice fashion with two huge pearl buttons at the tight waistline. They are beautifully made with tailored buttonholes and come in some delightfully flattering colors, ice blue, cinnamon brown, deep red, flesh and white.

They should be perfect for all the slim young things who can wear such frivolous fripperies so enchantingly and their price tags will cause many a stunned gasp of surprise and appreciation!

Chinese Bandits and Spies Run Rife in 'Roar of the Dragon'

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This is like "Shanghai Express"—only different.

The action occurs in China. Bandits run rife under the leadership of one terrible Voronsky. They cripple a steamer and force it to lay by for repairs—object being—never mind what. The passengers go to a hotel and there find themselves in a state of siege. Bandits without! Spies within! And also within, a strange and beautiful lady whom Voronsky has marked for his own.

What does the brave Yankee ship captain (Richard Dix) do for the comfort and protection of his charges? Does he fall for the lady? And does she find him seemly to look upon? I think I can answer yea, yea, to the last two questions without giving away too much of the plot.

This picture is moderately exciting action melodrama, adapted from a story by George Kibbe Turner. It is excellently presented by an able cast. Mr. Dix—I wish we'd see him oftener—is likable and virile—though drunken at first—as the captain, Gwill Andre, the Norse newcomer, looks like a Benda illustration and has technique similar to that of Marlene Dietrich. Zasu Pitts as a distraught passenger provides most of the comedy interest. (Louise Closser Hale, you recollect, had a like job in "Shanghai Express.") Arline Judge and Edward Everett Horton draw first smiles, then tears, from the observer. (That is, they do if smiling and weeping come reasonably easy to you.) Anyway, their acting's oke.

There is much shooting and no little shenanigan and, at last, before quite all is lost, the boat is repaired and, methinks, the captain and the Benda lady sail away toward happier days than either have known before.

Photography, direction and sets are commendable, though the last named and the "atmosphere" are in no way comparable to what was achieved in "Shanghai Express."

"The Roar of the Dragon" won't make you faint with excitement, but it'll keep you pretty well stirred up.

Mrs. Armour Plans Models of Old Home

Would Preserve Mellody Farm in Miniature.

BY JUDITH CASS.

HEARING the other day that Mrs. Richardson Dunham is back with the junior Robert J. Dunhams in Lake Forest from a visit to Mrs. J. Ogden Armour at the Timbers, the latter's lovely summer place on Long lake, near Traverse City, Mich., reminded me of an interesting thing I heard recently about the inspiration Mrs. James Ward Thorne's miniature period rooms were to Mrs. Armour.

After seeing those exquisite rooms, which were exhibited for the benefit of the architects' relief fund recently, Mrs. Armour decided to reproduce in miniature some of the rooms of Mellody farm, where she and the late Mr. Armour and their daughter, Lolita, now Mrs. John J. Mitchell, spent so many happy years.

At the time Mrs. Armour sold Mellody farm four years ago to a syndicate of twenty-six wealthy Chicagoans the rooms were dismantled and Mrs. Armour disposed of some of the beautiful furnishings and kept others, so if she does reproduce some of the rooms, she will have to depend upon her memory, although no doubt she has pictures of all the rooms which would be of help in making tiny reproductions of the beautiful things that furnished the Italian villa.

Mellody farm was laid out originally as a sort of fairyland for Lolita and probably many of her happiest childhood and young girlhood memories are of summer and holidays spent on the 846 acre estate. It was there that she became the bride of John J. Mitchell Jr. on June 18, 1921, and no one who was present at that ceremony ever will forget the dignity and simplicity of that wedding which united two such important Chicago families.

Mellody Farm Favorite Residence of Armours.

An intimate friend of Mrs. Armour's tells me that Mellody farm was the favorite residence of Mrs. Armour and her daughter, and if this is so, is it any wonder that Mrs. Armour was inspired by Mrs. Thorne's rooms to reproduce the beauties of the lovely dining room, or the long hall where Lolita's wedding ceremony was read, or the winter garden, or any one of the perfect rooms of Mellody farm, as souvenirs for her daughter? The house is untenanted now, the exclusive, expensive club that the syndicate of men had planned to make of Mellody farm never having materialized.

Mrs. LeRoy W. Fuller had expected to visit Mrs. Armour at the Timbers earlier this month, but illness prevented her leaving home, so she had to forego her usual summer visit to Mrs. Armour. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller are leaving in a few days, however, to spend the rest of the summer with their son, William A. Fuller, in Santa Barbara.

Young Friends Entertaining for Miss Jane Fairbank.

Miss Jane Fairbank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Fairbank of Paris, arrived in Lake Forest last week for a visit with Miss Marjorie Horton, Mrs. Samuel Rinaker's popular daughter. As this is Miss Fairbank's first appearance in her native city since she moved to Europe with her parents several years ago, her presence is occasioning a great deal of entertaining on the part of the young people who knew her in her early school days.

She was to have made her debut in Chicago last fall [plans were made for a joint presentation party for her and Miss Horton], but she decided instead to continue her studies in Munich for another year. Marjorie Horton and Miss Fairbank have been close friends since childhood and were roommates at school in Europe a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairbank may come over in the fall, and if they do there probably will be a debut party for their daughter. Mrs. Fairbank has been studying voice culture since the family moved to France and is, we hear, successfully launched on a concert career.

Alexander Stillman Is Guest of Parents Here.

Alexander Stillman, released from the Gary hospital, where he spent several days last week recuperating from his airplane accident, spent the weekend with his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler McCormick, in their Drake Towers apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Borland will sail next Thursday for Europe with Mr. Borland's mother, Mrs. John Jay Borland, who has been at her summer estate at Camden, Me., for several weeks. Their stay abroad will be a brief one and they will be back in Chicago by Sept. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Andrews will depart the end of this week to spend a month or six weeks with Mr. Andrews' sister, Mrs. Rockwood Gibbs of Baltimore, at her summer estate near Sugar Hill, N. H. Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter and her little daughter, Josephine, will be off this week-end also for a month's holiday on Cape Cod.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Winson Copeland of 1100 Pelham road, Winnetka, are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter last Saturday at the Evanston hospital. Mrs. Copeland was Miss Polly Packard before her marriage.

Mrs. John J. Cummings of the Ambassador East and her children, John Jr., Gregg, and Jane Cummings, are at Elkhorn lodge in Estes Park, Colo., for the balance of the summer. Mrs. Cummings and the boys motored west, and Jane went by train with Mrs. Walter Paepcke, who is at the same lodge with her two children.

Mrs. Otto L. Schmidt will be hostess at a meeting of the Lake Geneva Garden club on Wednesday afternoon. Dr. E. B. Frost will speak on "The Cosmos in the Garden."

I Like You So Much

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Gold Frankiyn calls Dr. Elverton, who has a surgery in a poor district of London, to attend her indolent, dependent, young half brother. The doctor offers to give Barney Pierce, a well to do accident victim, a lift to his destination, and Pierce waits while the doctor makes his call. He catches a glimpse of the pretty creature who summoned the doctor. Both men determine to help the plucky young orphan girl. The doctor is to sail the next week to New York and Havana on a leave, taking the ship doctor's place. Mrs. Doria Hathaway, a widow friend of Pierce's, is to sail on the same boat. She wants a maid-companion for the Atlantic crossing. The doctor sends Gold to see Mrs. Hathaway and she gets the job. Pierce regrets putting Gold under the demoralizing influence of Doria. He decides to sail himself. On the boat Doria meets David Dorrance, who wants to interest Pierce in a business deal. Doria asks Gold to dine with her. They are joined by Pierce and Dorrance. Gold is angered by Pierce's cynicism and distrust of women. Gip Alen, Gold's half brother, stows away on the boat and threatens to disclose his identity unless Gold does as he bids. Pierce, who overhears Gip's threats, unknown to Gold, arranges to get him third class passage on condition he doesn't bother Gold. Dorrance offers Gold a position as his secretary on the Havana trip, which she gladly accepts. Doria invites a good looking youth from steerage to dine with her and give an exhibition tango. The youth is Gip Alen.

INSTALLMENT XXV.

BRAVADO AND BRAVERY.

Barney Pierce had looked swiftly at Gold as his hand found hers under the dinner table—only to be repulsed. But Dorrance, after his first realization of Doria Hathaway's desertion of their company, glanced at Pierce. The red haired widow was a little devil! How would Pierce take this? After a guarded glance, finding no flicker of emotion on the hard face across the table, and thinking to himself: "Women don't know what they're playing with when they play with him," Dorrance remarked.

"Who's the lucky fellow?"

"The boy?"

Pierce gazed across at Gip Alen. It was not a look that could go unfelt. He saw the young man's shoulders move uneasily before he turned in his chair and shot a startled glance around.

His eyes met Barney's for a long moment. He paled, and his lips moved. Withdrawing his eyes, he murmured to Doria, "Who's that?"

"That's Barney Pierce, a man in my party, but not in my party tonight!" She smiled greeting demurely to Pierce, Dorrance and Gold Franklyn.

The men made a motion of rising, bowing. But Gold could not move nor speak, nor look again. Had she looked she would have guessed Doria to be saying, "That girl in scarlet is my traveling companion," and perhaps guessed Gip to be replying, as he did, after the first dismay, "O, really. Nice girl?"

He, like Gold, was in torment, but not for the same reason. She was afraid for him as much as of him; afraid for the results of his silliness, his bravado in coming here. He would have hated to have to own to Doria, "That's my half-sister," for he had told the red haired millionairess—as, optimistically, he now thought her to be—quite another story of himself.

"And now here's the doctor," said Dorrance.

Elverton's arrival broke what had become an uncomfortable tension between the two tables, so near each other and yet separated as by a somehow ominous barrier. The barrier was that intangible one of the angers, hopes, fears, frustrations, and jealousies of the several people concerned, but intangible as it might be, it was none the less most definitely felt.

Gold's eyes fixed hopefully on Elverton, mounting the last steps of the wide curving stairway, almost directly at the top of which their table was placed. Her friend! Her savior! Then he was standing beside them, inquiring of her, "Well, Miss Franklyn, how went the day?"

"Marvelously."

"So glad. That was a goodish bit of boxing you missed," the doctor said to Pierce. "I'm going to reproach Mrs. Hathaway with missing it now." He paused. "I'm shortsighted. Who is the new importation?"

There was another silence at the table, Barney Pierce waiting for Gold to speak, she feeling that the doctor waited for her revelation—for he was not so shortsighted as all that! She was certain that he knew Gip at a glance. The doctor turned slowly from contemplation of Doria's table back to Barney and met a negative look. So Pierce would connive to save the girl's anxiety, and she, all ignorant of his connivance, was thinking, no doubt, that it would be only Elverton himself who saw the situation.

A slight salaam, a smile; he had moved away.

"He's a fine chap," Pierce answered irrelevantly.

Then the girl startled them. "He's the finest man in the world!"

"If you think that, then he's certainly the luckiest," Dorrance replied.

Her eyes were on Elverton's spare figure, very erect, beside Doria Hathaway's table, and she saw that Elverton was looking directly at Gip. Gold knew so well his little boy moods of wickedness and his adolescent, and then his adult moods of wickedness, knew that he was very frightened. What would Elverton do? Her fingers twitched nervously about the stem of her glass.

Pierce noted, aloud, for her, "Elverton is being introduced."

"Is he?" she almost whispered.

Indeed, Doria was saying, "Dr. Elverton, this is Mr. Gip Alen, and I'm going to dance a tango with him presently. We've already primed the band."

But Doria's heart almost missed a beat because of Elverton's look, and on the last words her voice wavered.

"I shall enjoy watching you," he replied.

Another of his slight salaams, his eagle looks, and he had gone, was running down the stairway again to his own neglected table. Behind him Gip was saying, his fingers also twiddling a champagne glass—for Doria, unusually for her, was lavishly spending her own money tonight by way of "showing" Barney Pierce—"Queer fellow, that doctor. Damned unpleasant, I thought."

"I expect he is trying to remember who you really are and thinking I ought not to have invited you here."

Gip was still frightened.

"I'll bet he is. But we'll have our tango?"

"Have our tango? Of course!"

Already Doria wished faintly that she had not done this thing; that she was safely back at the other table.

Failing to attract Barney's look, she applied herself, apparently wholeheartedly, to the task of making dinner table love to Gip; wherein, his assurance growing again, he abetted her. Except for the three at the table Doria had deserted, every one within their radius frequently stared at them.

Even Dorrance, who was fairly clever at reading people's motives, in his ignorance of the truth of the situation could not guess exactly why Barney Pierce wished to cut that dinner short. He only knew that service was accelerated, that somehow none of them lingered, as usual, chatting over coffee, that, without a backward glance at Doria Hathaway and her dinner companion, Barney had the Franklyn girl very soon out of the restaurant. His hands, and not Dorrance's nor the attentive steward's, had lifted her velvet coat to her shoulders, his fingers, lightly touching her elbow, piloted her through the throngs of tables and up to the palm lounge. Dorrance followed.

Pierce saw the darkness under the girl's eyes. Just so had she looked running out hatless into a London night not so long ago; that look had been banished on this ship until she had seen Gip tonight, dining within a dozen yards of her. He spoke more gently than she had ever heard him:

"You are tired tonight?"

She denied it, with a flag of color flicking hectically into each cheek.

"You've had plenty of fresh air today, haven't you?" said Pierce.

"Of course. I've said it had been a marvelous day."

"What's the matter with her?" thought Dorrance. Pierce went on, "I'm glad you are not tired. I should like so much to dance with you, and this fellow here monopolized you last night."

"O, come!" Dorrance protested.

"I want to dance," she said abruptly, the flags flying in her cheeks and her chin high, so that Pierce, to his usual cynical reflection "women are clever," added to himself now, "and women are pretty brave sometimes. She's brave." For he knew, although no one acquainted with him would have said he was so sensitized, the fight she had put up, was putting up now, and the fight she saw before her in the immediate future.

"I'd like to dance till I drop tonight," Gold said.

"And then?" said Pierce quietly.

Leader of 'Girl Guides' in India Chicago Visitor

Asserts Natives Like Their British Rulers.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

"THERE really isn't half the feeling between the British and the native Indians that many persons would like to make out," Miss Patricia Richards, en route from Bombay to London, commented yesterday when she stopped off in Chicago long enough for luncheon and a hurried visit to the north shore.

Miss Richards, who has voluntarily spent the last eleven years directing Girl Guide work in the Indian empire, is crossing the continent from San Francisco to New York after brief stopovers in the orient. This week she will visit Washington, carrying along an introduction to Mrs. Hoover presented to her by Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay Jr. Mrs. Lindsay has been a personal friend of Mrs. Hoover for many years and shares both her and Miss Richard's interest in Girl Scouts and Girl Guides, all one and the same thing.

"This friendly feeling between the English and the Indians is recognized in so many instances," Miss Richards went on to explain. "Just before I left Bombay a native girl told me that her father, a follower of Gandhi, had been sent to jail. But in answer to my queries about his welfare she said he had come to respect and like British rule, that he hadn't been so healthy and happy, so well treated for years."

Miss Richards emphasized particularly the value of Girl Guide work in breaking through the castes and lifting barriers that might otherwise keep Indian girls forever apart. Eight years before she left England to go to India with her father, who was assigned to a judicial post at Allahabad, companies of Girl Guides, part of the world movement known in the United States as the Girl Scouts, were organized in the empire.

"I started in the work at Allahabad. Those were the days when there were only 11,000 Girl Guides in all of India. Now there are 40,000," she continued. "Allahabad is a colorful city—very ancient—for it goes back to the third century before Christ. It is more familiarly known, perhaps, as the city of Allah, or the city of God, for this is where the 'mela' is held, the great festival when the Hindu pilgrims come to have their sins washed away by bathing in the waters of the Ganges and the Jumna. Last year 3,000,000 persons are supposed to have been cleansed."

Girl Guide work in India has been organized primarily through the schools, but this, by its very nature, has made organization a slow process. For education has come slowly. The Brahmans have never been without it, but superstition and the caste system have been serious obstacles in the founding of schools and colleges by the missionaries and the British.

"Nevertheless they have constantly increased in number," Miss Richards went on, "and as they have increased the Girl Guides have kept in step. We start the girls when they're mere babies—call them 'blue birds' rather than 'robins,' as in this country. Their motto is 'Lend a helping hand.'

"I remember so well explaining the meaning of this motto to a group of little tots," she said. "After I finished I asked them for examples. The result was amazing. One little 6 year old told how she cleaned the rice at home, another how she washed it, still another how she made the tea. It is surprising how much they learn about household duties at an early age, but it is still more surprising to find out how little they know about health and child care when they're very mature. For this reason health holds an important place in the Girl Guide creed."

When the India scouts gather for their company meetings—troop meetings they would be called here—they wear the traditional "sari" or dress in dark blue with a little white blouse that resembles a man's golf shirt more than anything else, according to Miss Richards.

An executive council is in charge of India's Girl Guide organization. Its membership is native, with one or two exceptions. These members are English.

"And they seem to be necessary, the English members," Miss Richards said laughing. "For several years Mrs. Stanley Jones, wife of the author, was a member of the council. One hot day she decided not to attend the meeting when a rajah came and specially requested her to be present. Still she refused. After an hour or two he returned again with the same request coupled with the plea, 'And if you don't we will be here for weeks. Did you ever see a council of Indians settle anything?'"

Neighbor Can't Always Judge True Romance

It's Best Not to Meddle in Other's Affairs.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Don't interfere in the management of your neighbor's children. They're said neighbor's responsibility. Though your intentions may be the best in the world, they're not appreciated, your advice not wanted, and you may succeed in doing a great deal of harm.

A certain woman felt the mother of her daughter's chum was not giving her girl the right kind of break with boys. She won the girl's confidence. And you know how it is with girls of 13 and 19. If mother objects to a boy friend the girl concludes that mother is against all boys for her. Mother don't understand, mother is away behind the times, etc.

I hear it all the time: The impatience of youth, the rebelliousness of youth which, left to work itself out in the natural way, usually rights the girl's point of view. This Mrs. Busybody, we'll call her, found out from the girl that she was in love. O, madly and desperately in love.

Her mother objected on the grounds that the man was divorced, was too old for her inexperienced young girl—and with that rock bottom sense sometimes called intuition that women sometimes have, she sensed the man's character was not right.

Mrs. Busybody urged the girl to meet the beau at her home. She urged the girl to use her house to entertain the man. She took up the fight for the girl's rights, as she put it.

Well, the girl eloped with the man. The marriage turned out badly. They are separated already and the girl is not yet 20. The mother and Mrs. Busybody do not speak. And the daughter joins with her mother in condemning Mrs. Busybody's part in her marriage.

So when Jean's mother asks me if she shouldn't go to Elsie's mother and urge her to let Elsie stay out as late as the other girls in the community group I say: "Let Elsie's mother tend her child's own bringing up. It's her business!"

Makes You Lose Unhealthy Fat
Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days, but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat, too."
To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—avoid fatty meats and starches—one bottle that lasts weeks costs but a few cents—get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.
Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely.

There's never any trouble disposing of the first cherries in the spring. Every one is starved for a bubbling, crusty cherry pie, and there's no need and no use thinking up a single other service.

But July is another story. The second crop cherries are coming in now, and many of the fine, fat, dark reds known as "bings" are still being shown in all their rotund goodness. And with a decided falling off in the demand for "cherry pies and nothing but," the kitchen-wise are starting in all over again to concoct things delicious and sweetly tart from cherries.

As one parting salute to fresh pineapples and the sweet, thick meated black cherries which will soon be stepping out until next spring, may I suggest a simple yet simply delightful fruit cup with which to usher in a warm weather dinner?

From a fresh pineapple tear with a sharp fork a quantity of slim "cat tongues," or slender fragments of a convenient size for eating. Arrange about the sides of dainty sherbet cups, leaving open sections in the centers. Sprinkle lightly with granulated sugar, and place one-half teaspoon of sugar in the center. Drop into each cup three or four large, black sweet cherries which have been washed and stemmed. Sprinkle with a little more sugar and add two teaspoons of pineapple, grapefruit, or cherry juice. Chill until cold and serve in little bowls of crushed ice.

FROSTED CHERRIES.

Or, to top off that almost too generous dinner with something piquantly light and icy cold, here are two suggestions for cherry service. Frosted cherries, served with the thinnest butter wafers, will just tickle the right spot. For this choose large, firm meated cherries of the sweet variety. Beat the white of an egg till foamy but not stiff. Dip in the heads of the cherries, holding them by the stems. Roll them in powdered sugar and chill until cold. Serve eight or ten on a plate, arranged in double fan fashion, the heads of the second row lying on the stems of the first. Serve with hot coffee and pass petits fours or other little cookies.

CHERRY SHERBET.

This chilly little dessert is a pleasant relief from the usual frozen repertoire. Stone a quantity of the regular sour cherries and weigh out two pounds of pitted meats. Heat gently until the cherries have developed a considerable amount of juice—about half an hour. Turn into a wet bag and press out the juice. Now place six cups of sugar, a quart of water, and the whites of two eggs in a large kettle. Boil vigorously until a rich sirup is formed. Add the cherry juice, turn into a freezer, and pack with ice or turn into refrigerator trays. Freeze. Two large cherries may be served on each glass of sherbet. For a small family this recipe may be divided into half or thirds.

CHERRY SOUP.

Then, have you tried cherry soup? You'll delight in it served frostily cold as a first course for some dainty summer luncheon. It calls for:

2½ cups pitted cherries.
4 tablespoons lemon juice.
1 level tablespoon tapioca.
2½ cups water.
Sugar to taste.

Bring the water to boiling point and pour over the pitted cherries, lemon juice, and tapioca in a double boiler. Simmer till the cherries are tender and tapioca is clear. Press through a sieve, add sugar and a little salt to taste, and stir till dissolved. Pour into bouillon cups or large sherbet glasses and chill. Just before serving drop into each cup three bright, stemmed cherries.

Or another use for the fat sweet fellows—a salad this time. Secure large ones, wash, stem and stone. Now into the heart of each slip a cashew or other meaty nut. Serve six of these in curls of lettuce and dress with a lemon mayonnaise.

We have an interesting sheet of cherry recipes which has just been made up—ones I think are especially delicious and unusual. It will be sent you promptly on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"I wonder if you can help a widow and her family badly in need of clothing. The husband was killed just a few weeks ago by lightning and he hadn't worked for two years before that. There was no insurance, so he left his family destitute. They are very deserving people, reluctant to ask for charity, but conditions are such now that they have no other alternative. The children are boys aged 14, 12, 8, and 5. The eldest boy wears size 16 or 17, and the mother wears size 38 or 40. Anything you can do to help them will be greatly appreciated. A. B."

This family had always been able to take care of themselves until the father lost his job and was not able to locate another. Their savings didn't last long with such a large family and no income, and now with the father's sudden death the mother is almost frantic. Their need of clothing is urgent, and if you have any in their sizes to give it will be gratefully received.

Bogan Shows 'U' Triumphs of Chicagoans

Public School Graduates Win High Honors.

Despite the depression and reduction in educational opportunities Chicago youths are winning honors in higher institutions of learning, according to William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools. Mr. Bogan announced the result of a survey of Chicago high school students who will go to colleges and universities this year or who attended last year.

W. J. BOGAN.

"Students from our high schools are making fine records in spite of hard times," said Mr. Bogan. "Of the 45 students elected this year to Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Chicago, 24 are graduates of our public high schools." There were 19 former Chicago high school students out of the 26 who won honors at the commencement program at Armour institute this year.

Twenty-three boys and girls from Chicago schools won scholarships out of the 75 students from 131 middle western schools who competed in an examination at the University of Chicago. Chicago led the other cities in the number of scholarships obtained. There were also 52 other Chicago students who were awarded scholarships to other schools.

Six former Chicago high school students were included in the list of honor students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, according to Mr. Bogan. They were Jack Bernstein and Philip Cooper of Hyde Park, Robert Elliott of Parker, Harold Rahmel of Lane, William Withers of Schurz, and Sam Sorken of Tuley.

Benjamin Smith, a graduate of Tilden, spent a year at the University of Illinois, then went to the Massachusetts institute on a scholarship, and this spring was awarded the Brown European traveling scholarship of $2,000.

Four graduates from West Point this year are former Chicago high school students. They are Alexander Graham and James Thompson of Hyde Park, Milton Ogden of Crane, and William Mikkelson of Lane. At Harvard university Leo Grole, formerly of Austin, was awarded a scholarship and represented Harvard on the debating team, while Harry Wissman, also from Austin, was graduated with honors.

Mr. Bogan pointed out that two blind boys who are graduates of the city's schools have made unusual records. One of them, Herbert Geisler, who was president of his class when he was graduated from Marshall High school, went through the University of Chicago on a scholarship and was elected to Order of the Coif, honor law society, while in law school there. He is now practicing law.

100 Boys, Girls to Be Guests of White Sox

Those Most Anxious to Go Will Win Seats.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Weren't you delighter, boys and girls, to learn that our next good time in to be a baseball party and that we're to see none other than the White Sox-New York Yankee game at Comiskey park on Thursday, Aug. 4? I know that I was thrilled when Mr. J. Louis Comiskey invited me to come and to bring one hundred of you. He also told me that we're to have box seats. Isn't that exciting news? It means that we won't miss a play in this thrilling game.

It's quite likely that Babe Ruth will be ready to take up the bat again by that time, for he's feeling so well right now that he's looking forward to returning to the diamond within a week. Perhaps he'll hit one of his famous home runs for us, which we'll enjoy if the White Sox score is sufficient to permit their opponents a run or two.

If you've never seen a major league ball game this would be a thrilling introduction for you, and if you have been to them before you know what fun is in store for you, for we're going to see some mighty fine baseball played by superior teams.

Winning an invitation to this party should be comparatively simple, too, if you're a real fan. Your enthusiasm for the great American sport should enable you to convince me that you'd really like to see this game, and you know that's what you're supposed to do. I shall take the hundred boys and girls who convince me they'd have the best time—those who are most anxious to attend the party. So write me a letter that shows you belong in this group.

One of the things to remember—and one of the things a great many of you don't remember and consequently lose out when the winners are selected—is that each of you must write his or her own letter. Do not ask for an invitation for your brother, your sister, or your best friend.

You have until next Thursday morning to get your letter to me, and in it you must tell your name, address and age. Just address it to Sally Joy Brown, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover have as their week-end guests at their Rapidan camp Secretary Lamont, W. L. Honnold of Los Angeles, an old personal friend, Mr. and Mrs. F. Louis Slade of New York and former Senator Henry J. Allen.

Mrs. Lamont went to New York at the end of last week to visit her daughters. She is not at Wampub Hill at Georgetown, Conn., the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Belknap, and will spend a few days in New York this week with her other daughter, Mrs. Saltzman. She and the latter will then motor back to Washington before going on to Westby farm at Land o' Lakes, Wis., the Lamont summer home, to remain until the secretary and Mr. Saltzman join them.

The secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Hyde left Washington yesterday for their home in Trenton, Mo., to spend ten days or more.

The chief of naval operations and Mrs. William V. Pratt went last week to Newport to remain until the end of this week.

French Indorse Lasting Charm of Utility Frocks

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Certain general utility frocks that come out of Paris each year are more worn than any other ten dress styles of the same season. Women find them so useful and so charming that, like a successful marriage, they go on and on without palling. Lucky is the girl who makes a sartorial match with such a frock, for it wears with grace.

The necessary qualities of the dress that give satisfaction over a long period of time are those of the successful wife, grace, simplicity, and quality. Such a frock is the Molyneux model shown today, and many smart women are wearing it in Paris this summer.

It is made of black crêpe marocain, not one of the flashy novelty silks, but a practical, beautiful, and durable silk in the quality class. It is black, but because of the white touches not a bit somber. These white touches deserve special mention, for they are not banal. Instead of the usual white collar at the neck, Molyneux uses a feathery twist of white crêpe marocain, which gives a Parisian touch, and at the wrists of the bishop sleeves he puts white marocain twists that end in bows. All this white is removable and easily laundered.

The cut of this dress is such that it becomes all figures, which is another necessary quality for such a frock. There is a softly bloused line above the waistline, which is indicated by slight shirring at the seams, and the skirt is flared by box plaits below the hipline.

Combined Negro Choirs Hold Rehearsal Tonight

The combined Negro choirs of Chicago and suburbs will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Metropolitan Community church, Forty-first street and South Park way, for a rehearsal of the spirituals to be sung Saturday night, Aug. 20, at the Chicagoland Music Festival concert in Soldiers' field, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. The following conductors will be in charge: James A. Mundy, J. Wesley Jones, Elmer A. Simpson, Edward H. Boatner, and William Myrick.

Jack and Jill theater who are to give matinee performances of "The Magic Whistle" tomorrow and Wednesday in the outdoor theater on Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw's estate in Lake Forest, and persons who watched the proceedings predict a fine show for children whose mothers have promised to take them. Proceeds will benefit Druce Lake camp.

The Shaw residence, which is being occupied this summer by the John T. McCutcheons while Mrs. Shaw is abroad, is one of the most individual and interesting in Lake Forest. It is on Green Bay road and the gardens are a mass of bloom at this season. A flagstone path between coral phlox and blue delphinium leads to the theater. It is circular in form, and surrounded by evergreens. The raised stage has wings formed from pines, and a dense tree background. Tall white pillars rise at each side of the stage.

Search for Summer Show Is Rewarded Far from City's Loop

BY EDWARD MOORE.

When the loop goes into its summer theatrical doldrums, it is a good plan to tour a bit in the search for shows. The hunt is likely to have its rewards.

Why not, for example, try the Villa Venice? It is out northwest, just where the Milwaukee road meets the Des Plaines river. Here is entertainment for eye and ear. One rolls into spacious reception grounds; one strolls through formal Venetian gardens trim, geometrical, accurately planned and executed; one may gain another illusion of Venice by taking a water trip in a real gondola propelled by a real gondolier. Above and about great trees blaze with lights as though they, too, were having their own illusions about its being the Christmas instead of the summer season.

Inside one dines, one dances, one watches a show on the dance floor which for speed, color and light would get favorable comment if it put itself on a stage and kept the footlights between itself and its audience. Presiding over the whole is the greatly efficient and greatly courteous Albert Bouché. He is host, impresario, and stage director.

Mr. Bouché describes his entertainment as a creation of 1933 and names it "Carnaval Espanol." It is to be seen thrice nightly. In general it is a dancing program, although a soprano and a tenor, both with good voices, give contrast to the choreographic numbers.

The dancing is varied in manner but always fleet and colorful. There are two teams of adagio dancers, a pair from the orient, a man who seeks and finds comedy in his antics with a huge rag doll, a sister team of great litheness, a pair of Spanish dancers whose unfailing vitality helps to make them the life of the party, a shapely chorus group who are in the beginning and the end of the program.

The costumes display a wide variety in color and quantity, nearly all based on the theory that the thermometer runs high during a Chicago summer.

The orchestra, another efficient group, is composed of Negroes. They are active and melodious fellows, ready and willing to give full musical value to anything from a jazz dance number to an operatic excerpt, and alive to their duties as music makers and accompanists.

Church Invites Poor to Worship on 'Cotton Day'

None to Be Embarrassed by "Offering Basket."

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Church going next Sunday will not be a fashion parade at the Acacia Community Presbyterian church, 7800 Berteau avenue. In fact, an announcement sent to his parishioners by the pastor of that church, the Rev. George Cleaver, condemns the idea that only persons garbed in "Sunday-go-to-meeting" attire should go to church.

He has designated next Sunday as "Cotton day" at the Acacia church. Members have been asked to eschew silks, satins, and other soft clothing and to come to divine worship cotton clad.

The Rev. Mr. Cleavers' announcement itself is an example of the simplicity sought for the "Cotton day" services. It is printed on plain manila paper.

The Rev. Mr. Cleaver points out that the Founder of Christianity did not expect his church to be used almost exclusively for the well dressed. The announcement adds, further, that "the apostles and prophets preached against dress for show. Simplicity and humility should characterize the dress of Christians. The church is for all, whether rich or poor."

Barefooted children are included in the invitation and hats may be omitted, both by men and women despite the scriptural injunction that women should not come into services with their heads uncovered.

In order to avoid embarrassment to the destitute, the session of the Acacia church has promised, through the Cotton day announcement, that "the offering basket will not be passed" but there will be an opportunity for making contributions privately.

The Rev. Mr. Cleaver explained that the Acacia church is located in a section that has been especially hard hit by unemployment. He stated that many persons who formerly attended church regularly now are absent because they no longer can make a contribution when the offering is taken and are ashamed to come to church in shabby clothing.

Lutherans from All Parts of U. S. at Walther Convention

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., July 24.—[Special.]—Lutherans from all parts of America heard the Rev. A. R. Kretzman of Chicago deliver the keynote address at the opening of the 40th international convention of the Walther league here today.

Over 3,000 persons, mostly young people, will attend the convention for the next four days.

"You find odd things happening about you in the world today," said the Rev. Kretzman. "You see a gospel of hate being written into the hearts of men discouraging the old and blasting the hopes of the young. This day, however, I am convinced will come to an end and those who have heeded the admonition of the Scriptures will see the wisdom of their toil made manifest and apparent."

Tomorrow Dr. G. C. Barth of Milwaukee will speak on "Youth Faces the Future." The annual oratorical contest also will be held tomorrow.

Gideons and Auxiliary to Meet at Rockford in 1933

TORONTO, Ont., July 24.—(AP)—Mrs. A. L. Forde, Los Angeles, was reelected president of the woman's auxiliary, International Order of Gideons, at the close of its annual sessions here. Mrs. F. A. Fulton, Milwaukee, was elected secretary-treasurer. The auxiliary, along with the Gideons, will meet next year at Rockford, Ill.

Sound Bodies Needed to House Sound Minds

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Several years ago, perhaps it was ten, do you remember the hair raising picture some of the scientists drew for us? The automobile and the telephone, the airplane and other devices and inventions were to make us gradually into creatures with large heads, weak legs, living on tablet foods—with puny bodies and strong brains. Even the most sensible had their misgivings. But at least as far as that prophecy goes they seem to have been spectacularly wrong.

It seems to me that in the last few months nearly all the rather short, rather slight mothers and fathers I've met have had great big husky, rosy sons and daughters towering above them. To be sure, that's only an impression, not a scientific study of the subject. Still, these school children of ours may be the beginning of the race of super children that a doctor said recently would be the fruit of our greater knowledge of feeding and health care in general.

Then along come the physical measurements of the varsity crews of Harvard and Yale. Did you happen to see them?

Harvard's men who outrowed Yale averaged 6 feet 2¼ inches in height and 181½ pounds in weight. The Yale crew averaged the same height and a pound and a half less in weight. They ranged individually from an even 6 feet to 6 feet 6. These two crews will compete in the Olympics.

When the eight universities competed on the Hudson river in June, the crews, which added up to a total of 64 men, might safely be said to represent the whole country from coast to coast. Of them all only two measured under 6 feet.

It doesn't look as if we need worry about our children or our children's children becoming that queer gnome-like race of intellectuals the prophets threatened us with. If anything we've taken a step in the opposite direction.

And according to the latest study of children made public, the mind needs the body—it needs to be well housed physically to do its work well. The children who were underweight, when brought up to normal functioned mentally much better than before, while the same was true of those who were brought down to normal from overweight.

The old fashioned combination of the sound mind and the sound body seems to be a modern scientific ideal, too.

Bronze and Gold Powders Add Gleaming Tones to Coiffures

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Woman's fickle fancy promises to be fickle-er than ever this coming season. I'm speaking of my sex's capacity for changing what's on top of its mind as well. The color of the hair, to be exact.

We shouldn't mention platinum blonde, if you listen to all you can take in. It's just that passé, to hear the hairdressers tell it, even though we do see a lot of it about yet. I just drag it in to indicate that female changeableness voiced in the foregoing paragraph. And again because you can now have your platinum tints and other gladsome shades without any more ado than going to an art store and asking for bronzing powder.

Many hairdressers were fearful of that platinum blonde urge. Their business depends upon repeat visits. And even though a girl decides of her own free will to change the color of her hair, if said coloring proves to have dangerous features to it, it's the hairdresser who gets the blame.

But a Chicago hair stylist takes the credit for discovering the art possibilities of bronzing powder. The powder is harmless and can be washed out with a shampoo. The discovery, this expert reports, came as inspiration for creating a harmless substitute for the bleaching involved in platinumizing hair.

Experimenting with the bronze, he found it could be obtained in almost every color of the rainbow; that two colors could be attractively combined, and that when used with fixatives it made a coiffure as distinctive for evening wear as a fabulously expensive lacquer and feather wig.

There is a system in applying the bronze. The hair is waved, then a coat of brilliantine is applied as foundation for the powder. The colors found most successful by the Chicago hairdresser are silver, dull gold, deep gold, aluminum, which gives a platinum blonde effect, and nugget gold which is an effective substitute for red hair.

Happy Wife Keeps Youth Brushes Away Gray Hair

Now you can really look years younger. Simply brush away those unsightly streaks or patches of gray. It is so easy to do—and at home—with Brownatone. Over 20 years of success recommend this proved method. With an ordinary small brush just tint your hair back to its natural shade—whether blonde, brown or black. Guaranteed harmless. Active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Does not coat the surface. Actually penetrates the hair. Defies detection. No tell-tale, flat "dyed" look. Cannot affect waving of hair.

No need to guess or gamble. Get a bottle of Brownatone today—only 50c. Then cut a lock of hair from your head and apply a little of this famous tint. If Brownatone does not prove it will actually give your dull, streaked, gray or faded hair its natural color, youth and sheen—your money back.

Prevent
... tan evenly without painful burning

GOING to the beach this week-end? Then listen! Don't let Old Man Sun fool you. He does you good—but what harm he can do you, too!

Before you expose yourself protect your skin against torturing sunburn. Apply NOXZEMA, the famous white greaseless cream. It forms a protective film that absorbs the ultra-violet rays of the sun that cause harmful, dangerous burns. Its medicated ingredients permit you to tan evenly without burning.

You know how awful sunburn pain is! Sometimes actually disabling! And the inflamed redness, the peeling, blisters and fevered swelling that go with it. Clothes become unbearable—work and dispositions suffer—restful sleep is impossible.

Don't pay this penalty of pain for your tanning. First rub in NOXZEMA over face, arms, back and legs. Then you can stay in the sunshine as long as you please—safely! Your tan will be painlessly acquired—even and healthy. And, NOXZEMA is greaseless and leaves no ugly, oily shine.

Get a jar of NOXZEMA today. Take it with you wherever you go under the sun. If you forget and do get sunburned, remember that NOXZEMA brings instant cooling relief. It's the sunburn remedy that's been used for years at Beach Hospitals at Coney Island, Long Beach, Asbury Park, Atlantic City, Revere Beach and many other big beaches.

You can get NOXZEMA at any drug or department store.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

The German champion fighters, who had to lick many times their own heft in Italians, Danes, Englishmen, Hungarians, and other Germans to win their places on their country's national boxing team, will fight the Chicago Golden Gloves squad tomorrow evening in the huge arena of Soldiers' field on the lake front.

COACH MANDLAR.

There will be fourteen scraps of three rounds or less, including six preliminaries between members of the Chicago scrub team who failed by more or less narrow margins to qualify for the 'varsity squad of eight after months of fighting and training. All the German fighters are champions in their own country, survivors of eleven regional tournaments and a national final round, who then were required to prove themselves further in a series of fights with the best men of other European countries.

Second International Card.

The program will be the second of the international Golden Gloves series begun last year with the French amateur champions as the guest artists. The Frenchmen were not very well organized for amateur boxing outside Paris and a few other large cities, however, and their squad did not have the distinct championship character of the present German group. They came to Chicago rather expecting to lose the meet and hoping only to win a couple of fights to save their pride. They won three out of eight and went home feeling that they had done better than they could have been expected to.

The Germans, on the contrary, came ashore from the huge German ship Europa in a confident, almost strutting mood, and advanced on Chicago asking no questions as to the men they were going to fight. They think they are the best amateur fighting team in the world and they expect to win.

Bigger Bargain than Dempsey.

This program, selling to the patrons at 55 cents to $3.80 per seat and furbished with patriotic and ceremonial trimmings, will go forward at the spot on which Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey a few years ago offered the customers 30 minutes of exercise, two knockdowns, a controversial count, a series of sinister rumors, and, a masterly exhibition of the strategic advance to the rear for a total subscription of slightly less than three million dollars. If all the amateur fights go the entire distance, tha 42 rounds of fighting will sell to the 55 cent pa-

Name Eight Golden Glovers to Box German Champions

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lake Wawasee, Ind., July 24.—Chicagoland's Golden Gloves team was named this afternoon. The eight boys who earned their positions by their showing at the Wawasee camp here the last two weeks are ready for their international bouts Tuesday night at Soldiers' field against the amateur champions of Germany. All came through the last ring drills without mishap. A capacity crowd watched the windup of training.

In selecting the American squad the coaches considered the advantages certain boys would have against the Germans. In several weight divisions the choice was based on style and experience, as well as on endurance, courage, and aggressiveness. Only three of the 1932 Golden Gloves champions retained their positions for the international fights.

The selection of all eight was so close that it is possible to pick a second eight which would be almost as effective. The indefatigable work of the boys not chosen has been as valuable as that of the fortunate eight. Without them Chicago's team would not be in such splendid condition.

Here's the Lineup.

Here is the team:

JOHNNY BALTZER [flyweight]—Runnerup in the 1932 Golden Gloves tournament; will meet Werner Spannagel, the German flyweight. Baltzer, perhaps, is no better fighter than Lennie Cohen, but his aggressiveness, coupled with an additional claim that he fought against New York, won him his place. He will make weight easily as he now is three pounds under the 112 pound limit. Al Soukop, the flyweight champion, has outgrown the division.

GEORGE GOODMAN [bantamweight]—He meets Hans Ziglarski, one of the stars of the German team. George was a member of the 1931 Golden Gloves team which defeated New York. He was chosen when the coaches decided that Leo Rodak, 1932 bantamweight title holder, should not be permitted to reduce to that weight.

LEO RODAK [featherweight], the team captain, will fight Josef Schleinkofer of Germany. Rodak weighs 124 pounds, two pounds under the limit. He displaces Joe Roman, the Golden Gloves champion, who could not make the training trip.

HENRY ROTHIER [lightweight]—Rothier is the Golden Gloves lightweight champion. He will meet Franz Kartz, the Oberhausen veteran of 200 battles. Although Laddie Tonelli made a great fight for the position, Rothier had a claim because of his championship. Tonelli at times was superior to Rothier, but not enough to deprive Henry of his title. Rothier weighed 136 pounds today, which means he will have no trouble making weight. If he should fail to scale 135 pounds Tuesday afternoon, Tonelli, of course, is ready to step in.

JOHNNY PHAGAN [welterweight]—Phagan, the Golden Gloves champion, will meet Eric Campe, the Berlin policeman. Phagan is ready and after today's work was only one pound over the limit. Phagan won his intercity bout at Madison Square Garden and the Central A. A. U. championship. He has had more than 300 bouts in four years. Fast, possessing a powerful punch, he should defeat Campe.

Sutton Wins Place.

TONY SUTTON [middleweight]—The middleweight division presented a problem. Charley Neigo, the title holder, lacks weight. He is 9 pounds under the 160 permitted in his division. Tony Sutton, a veteran of 1931 Golden Gloves intercity competition, and Bill Connell, a rugged boy from Streator, Ill., also were included on the squad which came to Wawasee two weeks ago. Connell can hit, but he isn't as skilled a boxer as Sutton. For this reason Sutton was chosen to meet Hans Bernioehr, captain of the German team.

ADOLPH WIATER [light heavyweight]—Another champion was displaced in the light heavyweight class. Adolph Wiater of Green Bay, Wis., has been named to meet Hans Berger, the Duisberg locksmith. Wiater, one of the most powerful of the squad, has cut his weight to 176 pounds, only 1 pound over the limit. Endurance was the factor which made Wiater the

PLENTY OF SEATS

There will be room for everybody at the Golden Gloves bouts between the United States and Germany at Soldiers' field tomorrow night.

But if you want to make sure you will have a good seat, get your ticket today. They are on sale at Room 530, Tribune Tower, and The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street.

EQUIPOISE MAY NEVER RUN AGAIN IN A HANDICAP

BY FRENCH LANE.

The race track handicappers—those folks who assign weights to horses in an effort to provide close finishes and satisfy the thrill craving multitudes—may never have another opportunity to annoy Equipoise.

Their fling at loading him down ended, for this year at least, when they made him shoulder 134 pounds in the Arlington handicap Saturday.

They demanded that he concede 23 pounds to Plucky Play, a larger and older horse. For the moment they satisfied thousands of thrill seekers. Only the length of a horse's neck separated Equipoise and Plucky Play as the finish came.

He Always Delivers.

But it was Plucky Play's head and neck that was in front. The 134 pounds did not break Equipoise's heart, but as one wandered behind the turf stage at Arlington yesterday, mingling with the folks who take care of Equipoise for Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, it was easy to discover they no longer want the turf champion tormented by the handicappers.

More disappointed perhaps than Owner Whitney himself over the one defeat Equipoise has suffered this year was his trainer, Fred Hopkins. This youthful horseman has been in charge of Equipoise from the day the stout hearted speedster left the Whitney breeding farm.

No More Handicaps?

"Of course he missed the Derby and the Classic of his 3 year old year, but injuries caused that," Hopkins said. "He's been beaten now and then early in his career in some very close finishes. That can be expected in horse racing. But we always knew he was running to the last ounce of his strength and stamina and he was not taking the worst of it from those he raced against.

"If we continue to run him in handicaps he will take more and more the worst of it until it finally reaches a point where he may suffer physical harm. I'm sure, Mr. Whitney would rather sacrifice the money Equipoise might earn in the handicaps than to have the horse suffer the slightest injury."

So for the time, according to the plans Hopkins mapped out yesterday, Equipoise's activity will be confined to weight for age races. In these events he will not give or take a pound from any horse. There are three such engagements open to him during the remainder of the season, the Saratoga Gold cup, the Hawthorne Gold cup, and the Jockey Club Gold cup at Belmont in New York.

May Go East Soon.

Equipoise probably will take part in all these races. If he does he will be getting away for Saratoga within a few days, as the Saratoga cup comes ahead of the Hadthorne Gold cup late next month.

Hopkins does not believe the weight alone made it possible for Plucky Play to beat Equipoise. He blames the long delay at the post and the way his horse was handled by the assistant starters for its downfall.

Most of the horsemen at Arlington were of the same opinion. So even in defeat Equipoise is still regarded as the great champion of the Arlington season, which comes to a close next Saturday afternoon.

Vines' Victory Beats Germany in Davis Cup Play, 3 to 2

PARIS, July 24.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines Jr., young American champion, again proved himself one of the world's great tennis stars today by carrying the United States single handed into the challenge round for the Davis cup against France next week-end.

Vines, though slightly off form, defeated Baron Gottfried von Cramm, 3-6, 6-3, 9-7, 6-3, while Frank Shields, making an even worse showing than in his first match Friday, lost to Daniel Prenn, 6-1, 6-8, 6-2, to give the Americans victory by the narrow margin of three matches to two over Germany's two man team in the interzone finals.

The Americans, however, received no thanks from France for routing the Germans. Through the three day series the voluble French galleries were decidedly pro-German.

French Nearly Riot.

One demonstration against a line decision in Vines' favor in the critical third set of his match with Von Cramm today threatened to develop into a riot. Many of the 8,000 spectators stood on the seats wildly gesticulating and shouting against what they considered favoritism toward the American.

The decision in question was a typically close baseline point, frequent in any tennis match. The French cheered and whistled encouragement to the Germans, perhaps because they believed a German victory would make France's defense of the cup easier.

As in his opening victory Friday over Prenn, Vines gave American supporters some agonizing moments before he disposed of Von Cramm. There were times when he couldn't get the touch of the ball, and dozens of his shots were netted. Von Cramm was the same faultless stylist who defeated Shields, but the long run he didn't have the power to cope with the tall American.

Vines Starts Well.

Vines started with a burst of speed and jumped into a 3 to 1 lead in the first set, only to suffer a letdown and lose five straight games and the set. He threw off his white linen cap and sweater, and in the third game of the second set he won his first service in eight games. Gaining confidence, he increased his advantage to 4-2 and ran out the set at 6-3.

In the third set Vines took a 4-2 lead, but his tennis was not convincing. Von Cramm kept him away from the net and his flat drives were not working. When the German broke through Vines' service in the twelfth game to bring the count to 6 all, it seemed anybody's match.

It was at this point that the demonstration occurred against the doubtful base line decision. Vines was a worried youth with furrowed brow, and groaned aloud at his inability to control his shots. The German led, 7-6, before Vines, rallying bravely in the crisis, won his service after being 30 behind, broke Von Cramm's service and then won his own again to take the set, 9-7.

After a 10 minute rest Vines came back with his hair combed and his fevered brow cooled. Although he dropped the first game with only one point, he won the next three, broke Von Cramm's service at love to lead, 5-2, and finally won at 6-3.

Shields Looks Bad.

Vines insisted he was in good form and looked bad only in comparison with his opponent's exceptional tennis, but friends revealed he had played throughout the match with a fever of 100 degrees. The young American was wobbly and weak from an attack of indigestion suffered after a repast of pork and cucumbers last night, friends said.

Shields was outclassed by the swarthy Dr. Prenn and lost the first two sets in 10 minutes each. He did better in the third, when Prenn was tired, but after the rest period the German repeated the trouncings of the first sets for victory.

Shields' poor showing caused popular belief that he will be supplanted by Wilmer Allison in the challenge round.

After two hours of wrangling, the French Tennis federation today announced the team of Henri Cochet, Jean Borotra, Jacques Brugnon and Christian Boussus would represent France against the United States next week-end.

Brugnon to the last insisted he was not capable of winning singles match and advised the federation to choose a younger man, but in the end he was drafted. The exact lineup of the team will not be decided until the day of the draw, probably Thursday.

CLEVELAND WINS, 9-7, 9-6, BUT SOX COLLECT 33 HITS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The White Sox submitted to a couple of more defeats yesterday, but not until they had convinced the Cleveland Indians and about 12,000 patrons that they are daily becoming more and more difficult to beat. The Indians won the first game, 9 to 7, and the second, 9 to 6, and during the course of these performances the Sox, who have not been especially potent at bat, assembled the formidable total of 33 hits, getting 17 in the opener and 16 in the second game, as against a combined 25 for the Indians.

None of the starting pitchers was able to complete his labor. In the first game Sam Jones of the Sox was eliminated at the end of six innings while Clint Brown of the Indians, who had hit a homer for himself in the eighth, was blown off the premises in a five run revolution staged by the Sox in the last half of the ninth.

Gaston, Harder Leave Early.

Milt Gaston started the second game, but he went away even as Sam at the end of six innings. Mel Harder, who began the pitching job for Cleveland in the second game, was routed in the middle of the sixth inning, and Sox alumnus No. 87, none other than old George Connally, not only relieved him but opened the next inning with a home run.

The Sox attended to George, however, and he had to leave in the eighth, after Grube and Sullivan had singled. His successor, Reb Russell, had a time setting down the Sox in the ninth, for they came through with two runs, built on doubles by Fothergill and Kress.

FIRST GAME

In accomplishing their 9 to 7 victory in the first game the Indians lost little time applying the hatchet to old Mr. Jones, scoring two runs in the first inning on three consecutive hits. After Porter flied to Appling, Burnett drove one past third good for two bases and was dispatched home by Averill's triple to right. Averill came in on Vosmik's single.

Vosmik opened the Cleveland portion of the fourth with a single to left, advanced on Morgan's sacrifice, and scored on Sewell's hit to center. Cissell moved Sewell to third with the third single of the inning. Sewell scored on Kamm's fly to Kress.

With two out in the fourth Blue singled to center. Kress helped out with a single and the youthful English climaxed the business with a double down the right field line, which scored Blue and sent Kress to third. The latter came home when Grube sent a slow roller to third.

What a Finish, Mates!

Cleveland added another pair of runs in the fifth, in which Porter, the first batter, tripled to center and scored on Seeds' faulty return throw. The other tally followed an error by English, which put Vosmik on first. He went to third on Morgan's single and came home while Blue and Hayes were running down Morgan after an attempted steal.

Frasier relieved Jones at the opening of the seventh and did nicely until the eighth, when Brown smacked a

48,000 Watch Cubs Battle Leaders.

No Errors in 288 Tries

WHEN Earl Grace, Pirate catcher, handled his first chance in the opening game of yesterday's double header, he set a new record for chances accepted by a catcher without an error. It was his 285th consecutive play without a slip. Johnny Bassler established the former mark of 284 in 1926 with the Detroit Tigers. Grace added three more chances in the game to run his total to 288.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs made no headway yesterday except in the treasury department. Some 48,000, the largest crowd ever assembled in Wrigley field, came to see the sights, and the north siders furnished a satisfactory reward by bowling over the top place Pirates by 7 to 2 in the front half of a double header. Then the pursuers of the league leaders set out in quest of another victory, but when well along the route, G Bush blew up under the strain of five run lead and the Buccaneers kept their four and one-half game lead intact by charging into a 7 to 5 triumph.

LON WARNEKE.

The stopping of the bold Pirate outfit after they had slapped down the Cubs seven straight times was entrusted to youthful Lon Warneke, and the Arkansas farmer responded as usual for his eighth win in a row and his fifteenth of the campaign. His mates also responded in his behalf. They showered a series of wallops into the overflow crowd against the pitching of Heinie Meine, but the choicest hit of all was one by Johnny Moore. He hit it not into the crowd, but into the seats for his tenth homer, which completed a rally in the third inning, and made the rest of the journey easy for Warneke.

Suhr Ruins Bush.

Gus Suhr, the Pirate first baseman, broke in dramatically at the wrong time to ruin Bush after a brilliant start in the nightcap. In four innings the Mississippian gave up only two singles. Meanwhile his co-wokers, mainly because of a double with two on and a homer with the bases empty by Rollie Hemsley, had piled up that formidable five run advantage off the pitching of Glenn Spencer.

In the fifth Bush began to show the effects of bearing down. His control went awry, and in his anxiety to get 'em over he made 'em too good. The Pirates plastered the offerings and knocked three runs off the Cubs' advantage before Bush could halt them. Then they got after him again in the sixth, and in the twinkling of an eye had him in arrears on two singles, followed by Suhr's contribution, which was a drive into the right field seats.

And while there was another run registered in the ninth while Bob Smith was serving, it wasn't needed. Bill Harris, successor to Spencer, could have sailed along without it. He proved that by holding the Cubs to one single in the last five innings and making himself doubly effective by fanning three successive batters in the eighth and the first one to appear in the ninth.

FIRST GAME

A trace of the Waner poison was injected into the first inning, and it caused Warneke to surrender a run. Paul singled to left with one out. Vaughan boosted a foul into Hartnett's mitt, but Traynor walked. Barbee clipped a single between short and third to send P. Waner home. A wild pitch let the two remaining runners advance, but Warneke offset this little mistake by fanning Suhr.

The Pirates held that slim advan-

GERMANS READY AND CONFIDENT; FINISH TRAINING

Coach Pronounces Team in Perfect Shape.

BY HEINZ REICHMANN.
[German Sports Writer in Chicago to Cover the International Golden Gloves Bouts.]

"Chicago we are ready for the battle. Bring on your boys."

This was the team cry after the eight German boys finished their final workout yesterday. They will not enter the ring again before tomorrow night at Soldiers' field, as they all have made their weight, and Coach Mandlar does not want to overtrain them during the last two days.

"This was the easiest job I ever had," said Mandlar when I asked him about the chances of the German team. On every trip to foreign countries I always had plenty of headaches. Overweight, sickness, injuries, the boys overtrained, nervous, disharmony among the team. But this Chicago trip was the ideal trip with an ideal team for a coach. During my 10 years' experience in German amateur boxing I don't think I can find another man who was superior and easier to handle than any one of these eight boys I brought over this year. This is really a pleasure trip for me. I was never so confident in all my life that we will win."

Their Spirits High.

Each one of the eight boys is as confident as his coach. And still you don't hear them talking about the fight. Coach Mandlar has influenced them this way. He thinks that too much talk about boxing makes them nervous and outside their workouts they seem to have their minds entirely occupied with other things.

The spirits of the eight boys are especially high.

"This is one of the few fights during my career where I do not have to make weight in the last minute," said Hans Ziglarski, the bantamweight, when he stepped off the scales yesterday morning. "Usually they let me sweat the morning of the battle and frequently I had to lose more than four pounds in 48 hours. Of course this weakens the best fighter."

Joseph Schleinkofer, the Bavarian, and tallest featherweight in Germany, was even gladder than Ziglarski that he made his weight. You will not find an ounce of fat on his body. He is all bones and muscles. But how this boy is watching his weight! During lunch yesterday his heart nearly broke when they served apfelstrudel, a favorite Viennese pastry. But he did not touch it, while Kohlhaas, the heavyweight, ate three portions and took one home as an afternoon meal.

Germans Go to Church.

The boys could not call Sunday a dull day. They went to St. Paul's church at 10 o'clock where the German citizens of Chicago prayed for victory for their countryman. In the afternoon Burger, Mandlar, Ziglarski and Bernloehr got some more broadcasting experience and in the evening they were guests of the German Turnerbund at Lincoln hall where they beat Saturday's record in writing autographs.

For days letters have been pouring in trying to give the boys good advice. An old lady worked out a complete diet for the last four days, which according to her was used by Jim Corbett during his whole boxing career. Another fan warns the boys not to shake hands with strange people. Tunney, Dempsey and Bobby Jones made very bad experiences. But not one gives the German boys any advice on how they can beat the Americans. I guess they have to find that out themselves.

choice over Vernon Miller of Davenport, Ia., the 1932 champion. Miller has been suffering from an infected tooth and in his three round workouts he hasn't had the final drive necessary to carry on to victory.

Dvonch Is the Heavy.

DUFFY DVONCH [heavyweight]—No choice was more difficult than in the heavyweight division. Adam Smith, the Rockford, Ill., boxer, a member of three Golden Gloves teams, finally was eliminated in favor of Duffy Dvonch, the sailor from Great Lakes, Ill. Adam is a good fighter, tough, boring in all the time. He has never been knocked down. But the coaches believed his style makes him an easy target for Henrich Kohlhaas' heavy right hand.

On the other hand, Dvonch is more agile. He can box as well as slug. He shifts his style of fighting to meet his opponent's weaknesses. In close he piled up points with short right and left hand blows which always find a target. Dvonch was eliminated from the Golden Gloves tournament this spring by injury. He broke his hand in the quarter finals and so he could not continue to fight it out with Smith for the title. Last year and again this summer Dvonch outpointed Adam. Versatility and speed were the determining factors in Dvonch's selection.

The Golden Gloves squad, 18 in number, will leave Wawasee Tuesday morning of the bouts. A special car will be attached to the train which leaves here at 11:04 a. m. Arriving at Grand Central station, the boys will be taken directly to the weighing in, after which they will have their dinner and rest until they go to Soldiers' field.

Postpone Two Amateur Boxing Shows Tomorrow

The weekly amateur boxing shows, which are conducted at the Midway arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue, and at the Western stadium, Devon and Western avenues, scheduled for tomorrow night, have been postponed because of the international Golden Gloves bouts. The Western stadium show will be held Friday.

trons at a fraction more than 1 cent a round. The counting over fallen gladiators, if any, will be strictly conventional, and it may be kept in mind that the amateurs, who have no business assets to conserve in the ring, generally advance in a forward, not a backward direction.

There are 46,000 reserved seats in the arena. The 55 cent sections, elevated so as to enable a clear view across the intervening rows, begin at a point only 192 feet from the ring. Tickets will be on sale at THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Public Service Office at 1 South Dearborn street all day today and this evening, and again tomorrow until 6 p. m. Another ticket office is maintained at room 530, Tribune Tower, and will be open for business from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. today and tomorrow. The 55 cent seats, like those of the other classifications, are all reserved.

Aside from the principal object of promoting boxing as an amateur sport, the present production has the purpose of assisting in the financing of the American participation in the Olympic games in Los Angeles. Therefore the entire net profits of the production will be turned over to the Olympic interests. Among other beneficiaries of the show, however, are about 200 workmen, most of them unemployed carpenters, who were given about three weeks' work preparing the plant for the show.

Fifteen carloads of lumber went into the building of the seats and platforms and a new seating plan provides a rise of more than three inches a row as the rows recede from the ringside, to improve the view.

In most outdoor fight arenas, the seats rise only one inch per row, and the customers sometimes have had to hop up onto their pews to draw a bead on the scaffold when spectacular events brought to their feet the patrons in front of them.

Well, Coach Ought to Know.

The Germans claim to know themselves, and their coach and trainer, Leonhard Mandlar, insists that he knew what he was doing when he permitted his athletes to take part in a rather strenuous course of social activities during the week after their landing in New York. They were whirled around New York as a sort of auxiliary to the general German Olympic team on two rushing sight seeing trips, they rushed on to Chicago the next day and were almost overwhelmed by a crowd of more than 10,000 Germans and Americans of German extraction in the Union station.

There followed an exciting round of official greetings, and when these were over the fighters went the next day to a luncheon of the Chicago Rotary club. This was expected to end the social program and the athletes were supposed then to settle down quietly to their training. But Mandlar insisted that they were all in good condition, with no problems of weight to bother them, and the next day found them paddling around, but not swimming, in Lake Michigan for a short time in the morning, after which, despite the withering heat, they went through fifteen minutes of road work. The same day they made an appearance at the Kiwanis club luncheon and attended a ball game at Wrigley field. An outing at the German Turner camp at Algonquin was the next day's attraction, and on Saturday evening the fighters were the guests of honor at a tumultuous reception at the Germania club, where they were acclaimed again by the German element of Chicago.

They're All in Top Condition.

This program required Mandlar's approval, however, and if the Germans and German-Americans prove to have killed them with kindness, the responsibility will not rest with their Golden Gloves hosts. Mandlar, however, is quite satisfied. He has been watching the diet and physical condition of all his fighters and ruling them with the strict discipline of a Prussian top sergeant. He permits, for instance, a few cigarets a day to several of the fighters, but each one is obliged to ask him for special permission for each cigaret. At table the fighters ask him what they may eat and drink and how much of it. They have not tasted the Chicago syndicate beer. Mandlar himself tried it and called it horrible names in German.

The Golden Gloves team all this time has been training and living in restful quiet at Lake Wawasee, Ind., a remarkably cool oasis three hours out of town. The fighters, attended by two trainers, Johnny Behr and Jabber Young, have splashed slightly in the lake, avoiding swimming, however, which is supposed to be bad for fighters in training; they have played baseball in lieu of roadwork, they have ridden surfboards dragged by speedboats and, once a day, they have taken the routine gymnasium exercises, including boxing. Their training course has been the conventional kind and social distractions and bowing from the waist at official ceremonies have played no part in their work.

Survivors of 3,000—

By American standards, they have had the better of the training, but only because the Germans preferred not to concentrate in the grim American fashion which makes all championship sport a pretty solemn business.

The eight fighters who will meet the Germans on Tuesday evening will be the survivors and therefore the eight best of an original squad of more than 3,000, who began fighting toward this event in 20 cities and districts in six states, almost six months ago. After many revisions, eliminations and substitutions, the squad which will meet the Germans will be the best of Chicagoland. These eight and the subvarsity fighters for the preliminary card will not leave Wawasee until tomorrow and will go from the train to the Illinois Athletic club to weigh in. The Germans will weigh at the Germania club.

No fighter on either team will have caught a single glimpse of his opponent until the dramatic moment when both groups file into the ring under the spotlight's glare Tuesday evening to be introduced to the crowd but, afterward, they will get together to break training and bread in a private midnight supper.

More Americans Jobless.

On both sides the fighters are working men and, oddly, there are more Americans than Germans who have no jobs to go to when they disband. Only two of the Americans, Duffy Dvonch of the United States navy, and George Goodman, an automobile mechanic, are attached to pay rolls now. Still, the German kids regard Americans as rich and objects for envy. In view of the fact that when they are at work most members of both teams perform physical tasks, it is not exactly correct to say that they risk no business assets when they fight in the ring.

A badly broken hand or arm is no trivial mishap to a sporting fighter whose living depends on his fitness to work, and in that sense these amateurs will risk business much more important to them than a title to a wealthy heavyweight champion when they take the ring. But nevertheless, the richer the champion and the more he is paid for fighting the more timid he is likely to be, whereas the amateurs are famous for their reckless sporting abandon between bells in the ring.

The officials will be recommended by Gen. John V. Clinnin, the chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission, who promised the Germans on their arrival that he would choose the best men in his jurisdiction and assured them a square deal. The same arrangement sent the Frenchmen home well pleased, notwithstanding their defeat, last year.

Costs $50,000 to Put On.

The production cost of the fights, guaranteed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be about $50,000, including transportation from Chicago to Berlin and return and maintenance for eight fighters, Mandlar the coach, and Friedrich Burger, president of the German Amateur Boxing association. Three of the fighters and the two officials are routed on to California to fight in the Olympic games, but these three will not be selected until after the Golden Gloves bouts and it is possible that arrangements will be made to enlarge the Olympic representation.

Of the German team, Hans Ziglarski, the bantamweight, is regarded as the best all-around fighter. A boxer as well as a puncher, he has won 14 out of 15 international bouts, losing only in the final round of the 1928 Olympics. Franz Kartz, the lightweight, is a pretty well punched up veteran of ten years' amateur experience who has no patience with scientific boxing. Fighting means only punching to him. Hans Bernloehr, the middleweight and captain of the squad, is rated almost on a par with Ziglarski, pound for pound. The heavyweight, Hans Kohlhaas, is a kid of 20, with little experience but huge, strong, game and built in fine proportions. His chin is square and solid and his hands are abnormally large.

Bouts Thursday to Decide Who'll Fight Champion

The winner of the lightweight championship bout between Tony Canzoneri and Billy Petrolle at New York Aug. 8 will defend the title in Chicago in September, Jim Mullen, matchmaker for the West Side Boxing club, announced yesterday. He said both Sammy Goldman, manager of Canzoneri, and Jack Hurley, director of Petrolle, had agreed to a championship match against the best opponent obtainable.

Mullen plans to use the boxer who shows most impressively in the three ten round matches at Sparta stadium Thursday against the champion. Harry Dublinsky and Barney Ross, west side fighters, and Tony Sciolino, Buffalo, N. Y., and Tracey Cox, Indianapolis, Ind., are the favorites in these matches. Dublinsky is paired with Herman Perlick, Ross is to meet Henry Perlick, and Cox is to fight Sciolino.

Eddie Shea, Chicago junior lightweight challenger, will spar with Harry Dublinsky at the Arcade gymnasium this afternoon in preparation for his title bout with Kid Chocolate at the Stadium Aug. 4. He was idle yesterday for the first time in two weeks.

Sammy Levine, former Golden Gloves runnerup, will begin training today at Trafton's gymnasium for pending matches. He is to make his next start in an eight or ten round bout at Sparta stadium next month.

POLICE TO SPEED TRAFFIC TO, FROM SOLDIERS' FIELD

Going to the German-Chicagoland international bouts at Soldiers' field tomorrow night? Well, here's what you will want to know, whether you walk, drive your own car, take a taxi, street car, or bus.

One hundred and fifty south park policemen, all veterans in the traffic division, will handle the traffic outside the Stadium. They will be under the direction of Capt. Timothy J. Howard.

Parking space for private cars will be provided in the Court of Honor, between the stadium and Field museum; in the parking lot east of the stadium and on the drive along the west side of the stadium. South of the stadium cars will be parked from 16th street to 23d street on the drive and in the parking facilities just south of the stadium. These facilities have been reduced by construction work for the World's Fair, but Capt. Howard estimates there will be room for 8,000 private automobiles.

Best Routes to Take.

Motorists coming from the south are advised to approach the stadium from 22d street on the outer drive. Those coming from the north will find it advantageous to go down Michigan boulevard to Monroe street and cross over to the inside drive. West side traffic will be directed over Jackson boulevard to the inner drive and south to the stadium.

Eleventh street east of Michigan will be reserved for pedestrians coming from the surface and elevated lines. All south side "L" trains will stop at Roosevelt road. North Shore trains bringing fans from Milwaukee also will stop at this station.

Taxis will follow the arterial routes from the loop and the south side and will deposit their fares at the south end of the stadium.

Coaches' Transfer Points.

The Chicago Motor Coach company has established transfer stations to make connections in the loop with all its lines. Bus passengers from the north will transfer at Randolph and Michigan until 8 o'clock, after which they will make connections with buses direct to the stadium at Jackson and Michigan.

South side buses will make a transfer connection at Seventh and Michigan, and west side routes will have their transfer points at Van Buren and Michigan from Jackson boulevard buses and Washington and Michigan from the Washington boulevard buses.

The motor coach company will have 15 single deck buses running between Twelfth and Michigan on a minute and a half schedule, starting at 6:45 o'clock, and a minute service, with 40 double deck buses, marked Soldiers' field, from Randolph and Michigan, starting at 6:15 o'clock.

Arrange for Speedy Exit.

Capt. Howard will keep traffic open on the inner and outer drives unless the press becomes too great. In that event, he said, he would stop all cars at Seventh street, Jackson and Michigan, Monroe and Michigan, and at 23d street, permitting only taxis with Soldiers' field fares and private cars with ticket holders to pass.

At the conclusion of the bouts traffic will be routed away from the stadium on the outlets nearest the parking plots from which the cars start. One hundred buses will be parked on the east side of the stadium and will leave from the south and north ends of Soldiers' field as fast as they are filled after the fights.

Eleventh street bridge will be closed to motor traffic during the exodus also, leaving it open to pedestrians.

O'CONNELL BEATS ED LEJECK TO WIN PARKS NET TITLE

George O'Connell, former Illinois and Indiana state champion, defeated Ed Lejeck, the first seeded player in the draw, yesterday to win the Chicago public parks tennis championship in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

O'Connell, playing the best tennis he has shown this year, kept the Big Ten champion running all over the court after a mixture of back court drives and chop shots.

The semi-finals of the doubles division were reached with the four teams expected to battle for the title this Tuesday.

O'Connell will represent Chicago in the national public parks tournament at Louisville the week of Aug. 16.

FLYINGDUTCHMEN WIN IN POLO, 9-7, AT OAK BROOK

Led by Barney Balding, who scored five goals, the Flying Dutchmen defeated the Four Horsemen, 9 to 7, at the Oak Brook Polo club yesterday. Proceeds of the game were turned over to the American Olympic fund.

Fort Sheridan Polo Team Defeats Onwentsia, 9 to 5

The Ft. Sheridan polo team defeated the Onwentsia four, 9 to 5, yesterday on the winner's field. It was Ft. Sheridan's fourth straight victory. Capt. Wilkinson and Capt. Davis both scored three goals for the winners while Charles Glore was high point scorer for Onwentsia with three.

BRAVES DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH GIANTS

Boston Wins Opener, 4-3; Loses Second, 7-3.

Boston, Mass., July 24.—(AP)—The Braves and the Giants split a double header today, Boston taking the first game, 4 to 3, and the Giants the second, 7 to 3.

Singles by Hargrave and Zachary and a base on balls to Maranville filled the bases with one out in the eighth inning of the opener with the score 3 all. Hubbell then relieved Fitzsimmons and Schulmerich, pinch hitting for Leach, clipped a single to center on the first pitch that scored the winning run.

The Giants made four runs off Ed Brandt in the first inning of the second game and then coasted to victory.

CARDS BEAT REDS TWICE.

Cincinnati, O., July 24.—(AP)—St. Louis won a double hader from Cincinnati today, 7 to 3 and 1 to 0, after St Johnson battled four Cardinal pitchers for 13 innings in the second game.

Johnson's error on Blade's roller was largely responsible for the Reds' defeat in the second, as Reese then singled to score the winning run.

DODGERS WHIP PHILS, 5—4.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 24.—(AP)—The Dodgers returned to Ebbets field today and broke a five game losing streak when Dazzy Vance, striking out ten, defeated the Phillies, 5 to 4. Hack Wilson's seventeenth home run of the season, with two on bases, topped off a four run rally in the Brooklyn third and was instrumental in the Dodgers' victory. Hal Lee drove in three of the four Quaker runs with two doubles. Score:

Gomez Holds A's to 7 Hits; Yanks Win, 9-3

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Vernon Gomez outpitched Robert Moses Grove today and, due largely to Joie Sewell's hitting, the Yankees defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 9 to 3.

Gomez shut out the 1931 champions with only four hits up to the eighth inning and then an error helped deprive him of a shutout. The A's collected three hits in this inning. Bing Miller smacked a double with two on to break the Gomez spell and a misplay by Ben Chapman let another run score.

Sewell made five straight hits, including his ninth home run of the season, which came with none on in the third inning. Ben Chapman stole his 26th base of the season in the same inning.

The Yanks led all the way from the second inning and in the seventh batted clear around against Grove, making five hits good for six runs.

Today's game was Gomez's sixth straight victory over the Athletics and his 17th of the season against four defeats. Score:

TIGERS, BROWNS SPLIT.

St. Louis, Mo., July 24.—(AP)—St. Louis and Detroit split the second of their three straight double headers today, the Tigers winning, 6 to 2, and the Browns taking the second, 10 to 7.

In the first game the Tigers gathered four runs in the first inning, and held the lead. Two of the runs were homers by Walker and Rhiel.

The second game developed into a free hitting spree, and although Wally Hebert was taken out after he was hit 13 times in 7 2-3 innings, he was credited with the game. It was his first victory of the year after suffering eight defeats. Scores:

Indians Whip Sox, 9-7; Then Do It Again, 9-6

homer with Cissell, who had walked, on base. Gregory took up the pitching job in the ninth, and was greeted with a run, produced through a pass to Vosmik and a double by Morgan.

SECOND GAME

The Indians continued to operate on the basis of two runs an inning in the second game, producing same in the first on consecutive singles by the first three batters, Porter, Burnett and Averill.

In the Sox half, Funk filed to Porter, but Hayes banged a single off Burnett's chest which rendered the latter prostrate. Appling then sent Hayes to third with a hot drive down the right field line. Fothergill hit one to Morgan, and by the time Eddie got the ball to second, Hayes was home and Appling and Fothergill were safe at second and first, respectively.

The Indians obtained another run in the third when Porter walked, went to second on Burnett's sacrifice, and came home when Vosmik singled.

The Clevelanders scored again in the fourth. With one on, Myatt singled, hastened to third on Cissell's double, and came home while Appling was throwing out Kamm.

The Sox returned with another run in their half of the fourth to make the score 4 to 2. Grube opened with a single and, after Gaston had fanned, went to third on Funk's single and scored on Hayes' fly.

English Makes Good Stop.

The Indians chiseled a run in the sixth. Myatt walked and was held at second by English's nice stop of Cissell's drive, which might have been a double. The Spider had to be content with reaching first. Kamm singled through third, scoring Myatt.

The Sox had the makings of at least two runs in the sixth but got only one. English and Grube began it with singles, but Selph, batting for Gaston, flied to Vosmik. Funk walked, filling the bases, and Connally relieved Harder. Hayes forced Funk, Burnett to Cissell, and English scored.

Connally, first Indian to bat in the seventh, signalized his entrance with a homer to the left field stands gleaned off a throw by Pete Daglia, who had replaced Gaston. The Indians returned in the eighth for their seventh run when Myatt doubled to right, advanced to third when English threw out Cissell, and scored on Kamm's fly.

The Sox cut down the Tribe's advantage in the eighth when they drove Connally to the showers. Grube singled and Sullivan, batting for Daglia, did likewise. This was enough for Connally and Russell took his place. Funk forced Lyons, who had come out to run for Sullivan. Grube scored on a passed ball.

WHEAT OUTLOOK MORE BULLISH; CROP SMALLER

Europe's Figures Boon to Traders.

The grain traders are informed by President Carey and other officials of the Board of Trade that there need be no uneasiness over the decision in the Farmers National Grain case against the Board of Trade. The decision, which is against the Board of Trade, is to be appealed. That is provided for under the grain futures act. Trading will go on in the same manner as though nothing had happened.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bearishness has dominated the wheat trade for about a year. Statistics meanwhile have favored that side. Prices are down to the lowest levels known. There are many traders who predict that still lower prices are likely. There have been many predictions of 40c and less for wheat.

Conditions at the close of the week, however, were more indicative of a change for the better than at any time in months. Foreign wheat statistics suddenly have become quite bullish. Domestic crop news has taken a turn more in favor of holders. The situation generally is more two sided, not only in North America but in Europe.

Crops in many of the European countries have turned out smaller than expected. In all, European production is estimated at 40,000,000 to 48,000,000 bu short of last year. Russian news is uncertain.

Crop Prospects Less Good.

Brilliant prospects for spring wheat in American and Canadian northwest have disappeared, and indications are that about a fair average will result, all depending upon weather in the next few weeks.

Many in the Canadian trade have figured on from 475,000,000 to 500,000,000 bu, while estimates late on Saturday suggested 400,000,000 to 425,000,000 bu for the three provinces, compared with 384,000,000 bu harvested last year.

The Dakotas, Minnesota and Montana are not expected to raise over 275,000,000 to 300,000,000 bu, although there are some men in the trade who believe that the final returns will confirm the latter figure.

World supplies, based on present conditions, suggest a 57,000,000 bu decrease from last year. This is not a heavy reduction, but indicates the trend for the near future is for a gradual decrease and a readjustment of supplies to requirements.

Trading More Lively.

A moderate increase was presented in the volume of trading during the last week, with an increase in the open interest. Export business picked up, largely in Canadian wheat, and the milling demand for winter wheat greatly improved. Flour sales have increased materially during the week, particularly in the southwest. Hedging pressure from that quarter, while liberal at times, was not what the trade expected. However, hedging sales of liberal volume appeared on all bulges and resulted in checking the upward movement, causing sharp reactions.

The wheat trade is in a condition in which a change for the better is needed and cannot come too soon. It must not be forgotten, however, that a sharp advance in prices, while stimulating outside business, might check foreign buying and reduce export clearances, which were never more necessary, as disposition of exportable surpluses in all leading producing countries are highly essential to put the world wheat trade back on a legitimate supply and demand basis. Unless this can be done a big bull market can hardly be expected.

Smaller Receipts Expected.

Expectations are that the after harvest rush of new wheat has reached its peak and that receipts will be moderate from now on.

At the close wheat futures in Chicago were 1⅛@1⅞c above the previous week's, with cash prices materially stronger than for a long time. July wheat closed at 46⅝; September, 48⅜c, and December, 51¼c. Winnipeg was strong, with October 58¼c, a gain of 2⅛c for the week. Liverpool December wheat closed at 59½c, an advance of 2¼c for the week, the market giving evidence of further appreciation. Prices for the week follow:

	July.	Sept.	Dec.
Mon.	44½-44⅝	46⅝-47¼	49⅞-50½
Tues.	44½-45⅝	46⅞-48	50¼-51½

Corn Crop Has Setback.

Hot weather over the corn belt caused uneasiness as to the outcome of the crop and estimates of production have been reduced in some sections, especially in the southwest, where tassels are said to have been burned. The crop is at the critical stage and warm weather and plenty of moisture would do wonders. At any rate it is expected that the corn crop will be a large one, and it is believed that bearish conditions are discounted in present prices. At the close it was said that shorts were all in on their lines and that the crowd is long. Any attempt on the part of holders to sell is likely to bring a reduction in prices, as numerous pit traders viewed it.

Shipments of corn for the week were over 2,000,000 bu, while receipts were only 454,000 bu. A little export business was consummated toward the last and more is expected. Closing trades were ⅜c lower to ⅛c higher.

Assails U. S. Action Closing Grain Pit Here

Kansas City, Mo., July 24.—(AP)—W. B. Lincoln, president of the Kansas City Board of Trade, said tonight the federal closing order issued against the Chicago Board of Trade would be protested by grain dealers and growers, milling industry representatives and banks in this section.

"Responsibility for such a drastic move should be too great for any one man or group of men to assume," Lincoln said.

Markets Are Imperiled.

"Markets have already become imperiled by farm board policies and by the recent imposition of a heavy tax on commodity trades which reflect injury back on the farmer. Farmers in the southwest are now getting little more than 20 cents a bushel for their wheat on the farm.

"With the movement of the new winter wheat crop at hand, the spring wheat movement just starting, with a heavy crop, the secretary of agriculture might well stop and consider the effect on the producer. The closing of the Chicago Board of Trade, the central futures market of the world, would, of course, prove a heavy blow to all other American grain markets necessarily closely linked with the central market.

Disaster for All.

"The effect upon the credit situation would prove extremely unfortunate. Every other market in the country is dependent upon Chicago and closing of the Chicago market would be disastrous to all of them."

Lincoln said that he did not know what the Kansas City Board of Trade would do.

"The situation is so unthinkable that I can make no prophecies," he asserted.

OWENS ILLINOIS EARNS $1.46 SHARE ON ITS COMMON

Toledo, O., July 24.—(AP)—The Owens-Illinois Glass company and its subsidiaries reported today a net profit of $1,830,229 for the 12 months ending June 30, 1932, after all charges including depreciation, federal taxes, debenture interest and extraordinary deductions of $339,768, made to write off possible losses on money held in closed banks and depreciation of bonds by the company.

This is equivalent to $1.46 a common share after payment of $480,000 in preferred dividends during the year.

In the corresponding period of the previous year the company reported net profit of $2,716,839 after all charges equivalent to $2.43 a common share after the payment of preferred dividends.

The report, issued by President William E. Lewis, showed working capital on Dec. 31 was $14,553,569, while on June 30 it had been increased to $16,137,620, including the assets of the recently acquired and wholly owned subsidiary, the Owens-Illinois Pacific Coast company.

On June 30, the company had current assets of $17,856,377 as compared with current liabilities of $1,718,757, or about 10 to 1. Mr. Lewis said that the dividends had been more than earned during the last quarter.

Procter & Gamble Report Net Profit of $9,132,545

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Procter & Gamble today reported earnings for the year ended June 30 of $18,043,034 after all reserves and charges for depreciation and advertising had been deducted, but before certain adjustments in inventory values. Net profit was reported at $9,132,545. Net income for the preceding year was $22,650,818. The volume of sales measured in dollars was 25 per cent less than last year, but tonnage was off only 8 per cent.

Col. William Cooper Procter, chairman of the board, said in a message to stockholders that "our business is on a sound operating basis."

Union Carbide and Carbon Quarter Profit $2,254,997

The Union Carbide and Carbon corporation and subsidiary companies yesterday reported a net income of $2,254,997 for the second quarter of 1932 as compared with $4,506,155 for the same period in 1931. This was at the rate of 24 cents a share on 9,000,743 shares for the June quarter in comparison with 50 cents a share for the June 1931 quarter.

CAPITOL BLDG. DEFAULTS ITS JULY INTEREST

Bondholders Body Is Formed.

BY AL CHASE.

One of Chicago's oldest and for many years the city's most famous skyscraper, the Capitol building, at State and Randolph, for several decades known as the Masonic temple building, has defaulted both interest and principal on the $4,263,000 bonds now outstanding against the property, and also has failed to pay back taxes for four years totaling $500,000, plus penalties. As a result a bondholders' protective committee, headed by Evan Evans, resident vice president of the Lundorf-Bicknell Construction company, has been formed.

Other members of the committee are: Timothy A. Ryan, vice president of the Ryan company, paving and tunnel contractors; S. Charles Iversen, realtor and former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, and L. M. Willis of L. M. Willis & Co., realtors. W. W. Daviess, real estate operator, is secretary. Meyer Morton is attorney.

The group, which will be officially known as the New Bondholders' Protective committee for the State-Randolph Building corporation, was named at the request of interests owning $1,280,000 of the bonds.

Owned By Group of Five.

The land and building are owned by the State-Randolph Building corporation, of which Walter W. Ahlschlager, former Chicago architect, is president and owner of 25% of the stock. Henry Hedberg, Chicago realtor, is secretary and treasurer and owns 25%. Anton Appleton is a director, and owns a quarter interest. Lee Lesser owns 15% and David Schetnitz owns 10%.

In 1927 a $4,500,000 first mortgage bond issue was underwritten by Halsey, Stuart & Co. and Hoagland, Allum & Co. [now Hoagland, Allum & Tunney, Inc.] secured by the fee and building. On this $237,000 has been paid down, leaving $4,263,000 outstanding and in default.

"The Capitol building has an estimated potential rental value of about $600,000 a year, with present operating cost of about $298,000, exclusive of interest charges and taxes," said Mr. Evans. "It'll be the first aim of this committee to see that the revenue from the rental is conserved so as to take care of the taxes and other fixed charges and escrow any surplus for the benefit of the bondholders until some plan for reorganization is decided on and approved by them.

Once Nation's Tallest.

"The Harris Trust and Savings bank has been named as depository for the bonds and it's expected that a large percentage, if not all, will be deposited immediately so as to enable the committee to begin operation and to eliminate as speedily as possible the deficit now existing through the present management of that property. We expect to avoid a foreclosure. Reorganization plans will be announced shortly."

The Capitol building is twenty-two stories and occupies a site 169x118 at the northeast corner of State and Randolph.

CHICAGO TRADE GROUP TO HELP CREDIT AID PLAN

Support of the effort being made by the banking and industrial committee of the Chicago federal reserve district, headed by Sewell L. Avery, to promote the use of trade acceptances in lieu of open commercial book accounts as a means of stimulating business and augmenting the machinery of credit has been voted by the executive committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Two of the reasons advanced by the Chicago Association of Commerce for the greater use of trade acceptances are that they furnish the manufacturer or jobber with immediate cash for payment of labor and materials and that they enable the reputable buyer or seller, prevented by reduced banking facilities from securing banking credit in his own immediate locality, to obtain ready loanable funds in other centers or through the federal reserve system itself.

Officers of the association state that there are almost 1,000 prominent manufacturers and wholesalers in Chicago whose present operations would make them ideal users of the trade acceptance type of commercial paper.

Reports Seen Indicating Upturn in Oil Industry

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Reports of some of the larger oil companies for the first half of the year tend to bear out the claims made in oil quarters some time ago that this industry had "turned the corner." Under the program of restriction of crude production and coöperative action in marketing practices, many of the producing and distributing companies have converted losses into profits.

PROFIT OF GENERAL MILLS SHOWS GAIN; ADVERTISING A HELP

General Mills, Inc., for the fiscal year ended on May 31 reports a net profit of $3,891,200 after depreciation, interest, federal taxes and minority interest, equivalent after preferred dividend requirements to $3.93 a share on the 639,525 no-par common shares outstanding on that date. This compares with $3,869,665, or $3.71 a common share, in the previous fiscal year.

"While the sharp decline in prices of raw materials has necessarily resulted in a reduction in the dollar value of net sales, increasing diversity of operations, economies and greater efficiency, have maintained earnings," James F. Bell, president, told stockholders in his report. "During the year the company has continued its aggressive policy of developing national advertised products through advertising and sales promotional expenditures, all of which have been charged to expense."

The consolidated balance sheet as of May 31 shows cash on hand of $6,144,833 and United States treasury certificates of $3,502,437. Current assets totaled $29,435,300 and current liabilities $4,377,219. Total assets were $54,877,322. Net sales totaled $87,165,627 for the fiscal year.

U. S. TREASURY NOTE OFFERINGS TOTAL 650 MILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—The treasury today offered for subscription two series of notes aggregating 650 million dollars dated Aug. 1 to take care of refinancing requirements and to provide funds for the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

This is the first public offering of treasury notes to meet requirements of the finance corporation since the 2 billion 122 million dollars relief bill became operative.

One series, amounting to 325 million dollars, bearing interest at the rate of 2½ per cent, matures Aug. 1, 1934. The other, in the same amount but bearing 3¼ per cent interest, matures Aug. 1, 1936. The notes will not be subjected to call for redemption prior to maturity. Principal and interest will be payable in gold coin of the present standard of value.

The notes are exempt from taxation both as to principal and interest except estate or inheritance taxes.

Of the 650 million dollars, approximately $227,631,000 will be used to refinance outstanding certificates which mature on Aug. 1. The balance will be used to meet current financial requirements, principally for the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

VARIED EVENTS GIVE HOPE OF BETTER DAYS, NEW YORK BANK SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—The principal developments of the last month have been helpful, according to the Guaranty Survey, published by the Guaranty Trust company. Its analysis follows, in part:

"The net effect of economic developments this month has been unquestionably constructive. The Lausanne conference has reached an agreement virtually bringing reparation payments to an end; congress has adjourned without enacting any of the proposed measures that carried serious threats to business recovery; the outflow of gold has ceased, and there has been some increase in American stocks of the metal; commodity prices have displayed more firmness than has been visible in many months; the bond market has strengthened under the influence of renewed confidence, and some basic industries, notably iron and steel, have reported unexpected increases in output.

"As offsetting factors, there have been further recessions in railway freight car loadings and other indicators of business activity and a reappearance of banking disturbances in some areas. The latter, however, have been localized and now appear to have spent their force without great[l affecting business sentiment throughout the country.

"Partly as a result of these events and partly because panicky conditions inevitably tend to wear away as time goes on, the psychological basis for economic progress in the United States seems stronger at the present moment than it has been for some time.

"An equally encouraging development is the marked strengthening in commodity markets, with higher quotations for numerous products, including live stock, hides, cotton, silk, sugar, corn, coffee, rubber, and tin. In most cases these advances have not yet attained any great magnitude. Nevertheless, they contrast very favorably with the disheartening series of recessions that had been reported alm..st constantly for the last three years."

New York, July 24.—They are dusting off the big bass drum and otherwise getting set for the big prosperity parade down Wall street way. The happy event is not expected for some weeks, probably not before the fall crops and election campaigns begin to move, but it's just as well to have everything shipshape so there won't be any last minute hitch to ball up the program.

The stock market is being groomed, of course, to lead the pageant. Quite a bit of tinkering has been done on it during the last week and the result, while not entirely convincing, is somewhat impressive; especially when viewed in the light of immediate past performances.

The average price of fifty representative stocks figuring in The Tribune "average" table has advanced more than 2 points during the seven day period and the showing of the railroad group and of various individual specialties has been even more striking. Not much to cite as proof of enthusiasm, to be sure, but substantial progress nevertheless.

Shows a Recovery.

At the close of trading on Saturday the market was able to show a recovery of approximately 15 per cent from the extreme bear movement lows recorded around the last of May and early in June. Just how eye

Hopes of the "fall revival" of business and industry now figuring so prominently in Wall street conversation are based primarily on an increasing accumulation of reports from different sources telling of improvement in this or that line of activity, of factories reopening, better earnings, growing pay rolls, and—as in the case of last week—better carloadings figures.

The more hard headed veterans of the community are disposed—naturally enough—to set a great deal of the forthcoming information down as "ballyhoo," put out for psychological effect. Many of them doubt that the market advance can go much further without a sharp reaction or that any worth while improvement can be banked upon until the market has passed through its traditional summer doldrums. But whatever the viewpoint or the reasons assigned, all hands admit that trading sentiment is more cheerful than it has been for months and that if the market really is to show the way back to normalcy it is in a splendid position from which to start the march.

Rails Are Helped.

Progress during the last week was helped to some extent by the interstate commerce commission's approval of the eastern railroad merger plan, the final adjournment of congress without further "relief" legislation and probably to some extent by the German political upset resulting in the establishment of a dictatorship under the party representing law, order, and property.

During the coming week the market will be tested by a series of important dividend meetings headed by that of the United States Steel board to act on the corporation's preferred rate on Tuesday. The Coca Cola directorate will meet tomorrow, Studebaker preferred, on Tuesday; American Tobacco, Delaware and Hudson, Ingersoll Rand, and United Gas Improvement on Wednesday; and Bethlehem Steel [preferred] and National Lead on Thursday. On Wednesday of the following week, Aug. 3, the board of General Motors corporation will meet to take action on the common dividend.

G. W. SPRINGER WILL REPRESENT THE PROVIDENT

George W. Springer has been appointed mortgage loan correspondent in Chicago by the Provident Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia. His office is being established this week in the Field building for the handling of loans on business properties, apartment buildings and residences. He has been active in mortgage loan circles for many years and was vice president of the Chicago Bank of Commerce for the past year and a half. For eighteen years prior to that time was manager of the Chicago mortgage loan office of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company.

GEORGE W. SPRINGER.

He is serving this year as president of the Chicago Mortgage Bankers' association, having held the office of vice president in 1931 and member of the board of directors in 1929 and 1930.

Albin M. Johnson and William H. Hallenbeck, who have been associated with Mr. Springer for a number of years, will be identified with him in the new office.

U. OF C. TEACHER GIVES VIEWS ON SECURITY SALES

S. P. Meech Urges Plan for Bankers.

The investment banking business faces three alternatives at the present time, according to Prof. Stuart P. Meech of the University of Chicago in his article, "The Investment Securities Business and the Future," in the current issue of the Journal of Business of the University of Chicago.

"The old order may remain unchanged," Prof. Meech says, "but this choice satisfies few. The older order may be patched up, but patches are superficial. The machine is left with most of its major defects. It seems desirable to go farther in reorganization."

Prof. Meech's plan for reorganization rests upon the quadruple responsibility of the investment banker.

Financial Adviser.

"He is financial counsel to business seeking funds," Prof. Meech writes. "He is investment counsel to individual and institutional investors. He is responsible to society, at law and in economic policy, for reasonably diligent, accurate, and equitable administration of his dual counsel functions. He is responsible to his associates or stockholders and to his employés for reasonable gross and net returns to the house. Is it not clear that, with such varied and often opposing interests to serve, the investment banker must, first of all, be free from all bias; clear of all entangling alliances that produce unconscious bias; able to act as an independent agent or go-between connecting users of funds and the capital markets?"

With this as the ideal objective, Prof. Meech points out the changes in investment banking policy that may flow from its adoption.

When to Issue Paper.

"As a general rule," he writes, "security issues will be originated only when the interests of the investor will in the long run be well served; only when it is reasonably clear that funds are to flow in the direction productive in the long run to economic society at large.

"Security issues will be sold as one aspect of the investment banker's function of investment counsel. With improved origination better securities can be offered, it is true, but nevertheless, salesmen will be investment advisers first and salesmen afterward.

"Advertising, publicity, and counselor work will be tremendous forces in the education, rather than the propagandizing, of the investing public. Investors will be taught that safety in the absolute sense does not exist; that risk is uncertainty paid for by interest and profit; that investment mortality is thus and so for each kind or type of security and for each kind of industry.

"The capacity of the securities market to absorb new issues will be carefully judged. Attempts to avoid overloading will necessitate coöperation within the industry, presumably through the Investment Bankers' Association of America.

Asks for More Research.

"These policies call for emphasis upon investment research rather than as now, upon new business and sales. Research will presumably be less superficial, much more fundamental, than now; it will concern itself with price making forces and processes; it will have an international scope and point of view."

MORE CHEERFUL ATTITUDE NOTED IN CHICAGO AREA

More optimistic news and a noticeably improved sentiment, corresponding with the encouraging business and financial developments which took place at many different points throughout the nation, characterized the general trade situation in Chicago during the last week. Commodity prices in certain lines showed some tendency to rise and overcome former price weakness, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

At wholesale and retail there was the usual seasonal movement of merchandise. Many out of town buyers were reported in the market with indications of fair purchases. Wholesalers, to a great extent, were centering their attention upon preparations for a series of trade exhibits to be held coincident with the semi-annual meeting of the Interstate Merchants' council, sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce, early in August.

HALF OF HOLDERS OF BRITISH WAR LOAN TO CONVERT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 24.—With five days to go if the cash bonus of 1 per cent is to be collected, half the holders of the 10 billion 500 million dollar [at par] British 5 per cent war loan had applied up to Saturday for conversion of their bonds to the new 3½ per cent issue, estimated to save the exchequer 115 million dollars in interest charges annually.

The operation has carried out another appeal to British patriotism, the second the country has had in less than a year. The national government imposed cuts of 10 per cent on the unemployed dole; army, navy and civil service salaries, and slapped on a staggering boost in the income tax, raising the standard rate to 25 per cent at the time of the national crisis last fall.

SIGNS OF BETTER BUSINESS AHEAD BEGIN TO SHOW

Car Loadings, Textile Plants Affected.

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Slight, scattered signs of increasing business activity, together with continued stability of commodity prices and firmness of security markets, carried hopes of business recovery in the autumn up a few notches during the last week.

Industry generally remained in the grip of midsummer stagnation, but with executives on the alert for any advance indications of a seasonal upturn in the autumn such good news as made its appearance attracted attention. While a number of small manufacturing plants here and there, notably textiles, have recalled workers to start output of autumn and winter merchandise, statistical barometers failed to indicate any real break in the dead level of general activity.

More Cars Are Loaded.

Freight car loadings as reported for the week ended July 16 showed the sharp gain of 87,144 cars over the previous week, and this more than made up for the loss of 72,317 cars in the week ended July 9, which reflected the Independence day holiday. In that respect, it was susceptible to favorable interpretation, but electric power production showed a drop of 13.9 per cent from the like week of last year, the sharpest comparative decline thus far, and the power index is regarded as about as important a barometer as the freight movement.

Automobile production, on the whole, has declined, but has failed to slump as emphatically as some observers predicted. Production for the week ended July 16 was estimated at about 5,000 cars under the 50,958 total reported for the week preceding the curtailed Fourth of July period. Steel continues stagnant, with operations still around 16 per cent of capacity, but sentiment in the industry has improved somewhat, on the theory that current output is so far below what may be regarded as adequate to meet essential needs that a pickup in the autumn is almost certain.

Oil Trade Better.

The restoration of the petroleum business to a moderately profitable level, with the improvement in crude and refined prices of the last several months, has led to hopes that the steel mills will soon get some business from the oil companies, which severely curtailed their equipment expenditures in the preceding period of deficits. The action of the association of railway executives, in pledging themselves to effect all economies possible through avoidance of wasteful competition, together with the commerce commission's approval of the eastern consolidation plan, led to hopes of gradual improvement in the position of the carriers, but when they will again be in the market for equipment remained problematical.

FARMERS AGREE TO HOLD WHEAT TILL PRICE IS $1

Sixth of U. S. Crop Is Involved.

Minot, N. D., July 24.—(AP)—The hold for dollar wheat movement in North Dakota was spreading today.

Declaring they cannot make expenses at present prices for the grain, farmers of the state have organized to boost the amount of the return they receive for their product.

And with federal estimates that North Dakota's wheat crop in 1932 may be 124,000,000 bushels, or one-sixth of the nation's total, an increase of one-third or more in the price will mean considerable.

First came the demand of one group that wheat be held for $1 a bushel. Then followed a resolution at another gathering here urging an embargo on shipment of wheat from North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana until wheat has reached $1.20 for No. 1 dark northern at Minneapolis. It now is 61 cents.

No Official Embargo.

Indications today were that there would be no official embargo in the three states as requested by the Minot meeting, at which 1,200 persons, mostly farmers from eleven counties, attended on Friday.

Gov. G. F. Shafer of North Dakota and Gov. W. E. Green, South Dakota, said they had no authority to take such action, and A. H. Stafford, Montana commissioner of argriculture, asserted he would advise Gov. J. E. Erickson of that state that the proposal is unnecessary.

Another resolution adopted at the Minot meeting asked the federal government to advance $1 per acre to help harvest crops in northwestern North Dakota, which was affected by last year's drought. From 80 to 90 per cent of the farmers in that section were reported unable to purchase harvesting supplies.

Hyde Promises Aid.

Aid along this line was promised yesterday at Washington where Secretary Hyde announced a ruling permitting use of four cents a bushel from the sale of wheat and rye and two cents a bushel from oats and barley to help pay harvesting expenses for those who have had seed loans from the government.

The first movement for higher wheat, started recently by Dell Willis, Tolna farmer, has spread into several hundred townships, with the producers signing pledges to keep their grain until the dollar level is reached at Winnipeg for the best grades. The holding of wheat would start Aug. 1, and Willis said it would be kept until there is a demand for it at the $1 minimum.

Chicago Bank Depository for Provident State Bonds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—The bondholders' protective committee for approximately $7,000,000 of defaulted real estate bonds, underwritten and sold by the Provident State Securities company on eighteen apartment buildings and hotels in St. Louis, Kansas City, Louisville, and Chicago, announced today that the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company had been appointed depository for the committee. The committee said the bank, to coöperate with this group, deviated from its policy of not acting as a depository for protective committees of real estate bonds.

Consolidated Gas Utilities.

Kindly give me some information about Consolidated Gas Utilities first 6s, due 1943. Is it a sound investment?—Mrs. M. K.

Consolidated Gas Utilities company produces, transports and sells natural gas to more than 50 communities with a population of about 400,000 in northern Oklahoma and in Kansas.

Net before interest and depreciation for the twelve months to April 30, 1932, was $1,174,000. Interest on the first mortgage bonds was $616,000, and on the debentures, $268,000.

Interest charges, before depreciation, were earned 1.37 times in 1931, against 1.87 times in 1930.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $645,000 and current liabilities were $742,000. Notes payable were $263,000 and cash was $136,000. On May 21, 1932, the company had $434,000 cash and no bank loans.

Subsidiaries have $1,615,000 of bonds outstanding. The company itself has outstanding $8,284,000 first collateral 6s, series A, due 1943, and $3,925,000 6½ per cent convertible debentures, due 1943.

The first 6s, due 1943, are secured by a first mortgage on all property and by pledge of the stock and first mortgage bonds of Midwest Gas corporation, pledge of $500,000 debentures and 98 per cent of common stock of Larutan Gas corporation, and certain leases, contracts, etc.

The first 6s are speculative. The 6½ per cent debentures are more a speculation than an investment.

New York Life Insurance.

Will you please give me information on New York Life Insurance company? I have some money to invest. —H. D.

New York Life Insurance company, one of the largest in the world, had total admitted assets of one billion 890 million dollars at the close of 1931. Insurance in force totaled seven billion 657 million dollars.

The company has been in business since 1841. It is purely mutual.

Darwin P. Kingsley, chairman of the board, has been associated with the company since 1893, and President Thomas Buckner has been with the company since 1880.

Total income in 1931 was $429,440,000, and total disbursements, including $71,469,000 dividends to policy holders, were $316,048,000.

On Dec. 31, 1931, mortgage loans constituted 30 per cent of total assets, bonds [where amortizable, at amortized value; otherwise at market] 40 per cent; policy loans 20 per cent and stock [market value] 3 per cent.

Growth has been fairly rapid, and expenses are very low. Mortality rate is favorable.

} BONDHOLDERS' COMMITTEE

We have received a communication signed by holders of Bonds underwritten by The Bond & Mortgage Co., from which we quote:

"We, being owners of bonds underwritten by THE BOND & MORTGAGE COMPANY, hereby request that you form a Bondholders' Committee for our protection as well as other bondholders.

"We feel that an impartial and disinterested Committee is absolutely necessary under the special circumstances of this situation and request that you, as representative members of the real estate profession, undertake the organization of same."

In response to this communication, we have consented to act as members of a Bondholders' Protective Committee and have designated CHICAGO TITLE & TRUST COMPANY as a depositary for said Committee.
